News Clips 12-19-2019

From [redacted]

To [redacted], [redacted], [redacted],

Mr. Ebbers, now 78, steered WorldCom through a series of acquisitions that took it from a small telephone company in Mississippi to a juggernaut competing with AT&T and other national long-distance carriers. But the company's apparent success, which drove its stock price to Olympian heights and contributed to a bubble in telecommunications stocks, was a fantasy.

Former WorldCom employees said Mr. Ebbers told them to rearrange the company's expenses to make it look like WorldCom was making far more money than it really was.

WorldCom eventually went bankrupt, wiping out billions of dollars in value from the stock market and calling into question the system Wall Street analysts and investment bankers used to evaluate public companies and try to raise money for them. A jury convicted Mr. Ebbers of securities fraud, conspiracy and filing false reports in 2005. His prison sentence, which he began serving in 2006, was among the stiffest handed out to a corporate executive.

Mr. Ebbers started out in federal prison in Louisiana but was later transferred to Texas. Over time, his health began to fail, his lawyers said in court filings.

Earlier this year, Mr. Ebbers's lawyers began asking for a reduction in his sentence, citing his frailty. In a court filing in late October, his daughter Joy Ebbers Bourne said her father was "experiencing full-blown dementia."

"In my recent phone calls and visits, he is unable to carry on a conversation," she wrote.

DAG/USAO Tour

Subject: DAG/USAO Tour

Attachments: TEXT.htm, U.S.Attorney, et al.tour.8.15.pdf

Good afternoon,

Per the attached, representatives of the DAG's Office and the USAO SDNY will be touring SHU, Inmate Epstein's cell (to the extent it does not contaminate the crime scene), and the suicide watch area on 2. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thank you,

What is the future of the government workforce?

The future of the government workforce goes beyond technology. Human-machine pairing isn't about the machine – it's about the human.

Government agencies can integrate the abilities of humans and machines, using humans' leadership, teamwork, creativity, and social skills to complement machines' speed, scalability, endurance, and quantitative capabilities.

To get the most from humans and machines working together, organizations can focus on designing effective interfaces between the two.

Ex-State Dept. Official Gets 40 Months in Prison for Spying // Charles S. Clark

House to Consider Blocking OPM Merger, Other Workforce Proposals Through Defense Policy Bill // Erich Wagner

Proposed amendments to the annual must-pass Defense authorization bill include measures to safeguard federal workers' insurance during shutdowns, ban the box in federal hiring and protect whistleblowers.

More Than Two-Thirds of Agriculture Research Office Reject

Good morning Bruce,

I have referred the below concerns to the appropriate departments to address. Please continue to let me know if these issues persist. I understand Facilities staff are looking into the plumbing concerns and should have them corrected very soon. I have asked staff to permit him to switch out the books in his cell for some fresh books from his property, including new ones. I notified Safety staff of the rodent allegation, but please also let me know if he has any safety concerns from his cellmate to ensure it was not deliberately placed there. I also asked staff to check on the issue with his lights in his cell.

I notified medical and mental health staff of his mental health/medication request and asked that he be seen. I will let you know as soon as I hear back from them.

Please be advised that, while the sanctions described in your email are possible and permissible under policy, they are not likely to be as extensive as listed below. The decision will be made by the DHO after a hearing and will be consistent with sanctions for other inmates with similar offenses.
Please let me know if you have any further questions or concerns.

Thank you,

Good morning,

I was able to see Nick last night. Thank you for arranging a room for him. He reports that he has not had his hearing yet and the conditions in his cell remain the same. He was told by a guard that he is going to be denied visits, phone calls and commissary for a year, in addition to being held in SHU for 90 days. Water is constantly leaking into the cell, which he now shares with another inmate. He still has not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has received them). He does not have the paper discovery he had prior to being placed in SHU. Recently, he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in the cell are frequently off during the day and on at night. Nick has asked to be given medication to treat his increased depression and anxiety. His mental health is diminishing rapidly.

I understand that the cell phone justifies some sanction, but the troubling conditions in the cell should be rectified. Lastly, I hope the guard who told Nick about his punishment is mistaken.

Bruce,

My apologies for the delay yesterday. The institution was short-staffed, and they were actively finding personnel to process you in the lobby and to oversee the attorney conference room area. If you experience any delays on the weekends, please ask to speak to the Duty Officer and/or the Operations Lieutenant as they were aware of the visit and could have expedited your admission to the facility. They also could have called me at home to resolve any issues. Likewise, if you are visiting during the week and we have made arrangements to expedite your visits, please contact [redacted] and me if there are any delays so we can facilitate matters immediately. Please also let us know when you meet in an attorney conference room that has a non-working computer so that we can have Computer Services fix it expeditiously. We continue to work to address Mr. Tartaglione's complaints, so please let us know if there are outstanding issues that have not yet been appropriately addressed.

Thank you,

[redacted],

While I do appreciate your effort, for reasons that arenâ€™t entirely clear to me, the personal seem unable to allow Nick reasonable access to his lawyers.

Today, I arrived at the faculty at 7:56. I was told â€œnot until 8:00â€ by the guard in the booth. At 8:00 I was told â€œwe will let you know. We are waiting for relief.â€ I waited outside for 35 minutes.
(I am lucky to be healthy, as I was forced to stand because the waiting area was inexplicably locked). I finally got to see Nick just after 9:00, less than 30 minutes before the cut off to leave before the count.

Unfortunately, this is not a recent problem. Long delays, unexpected closures of the facility and lockdowns have all occurred frequently since Mr. Tartaglione was first arrested, over 3 years ago and have significantly hampered our ability to communicate with our client, who is facing the death penalty.

Because the BOP has chosen to monitor emails and phone calls between Lawyers and their clients, we are forced to meet with Nick to discuss every aspect of the case, even relatively benign things that typically could be handled with a quick call or a short email.

As you know, I have been writing about these problems, speaking to you and bringing the issues to the attention of Judge Karas over the course of the years of Nickâ€™s Pretrial detention.

On a personal note, this was a particularly frustrating day because I again took time away from my family on a Sunday to drive into NYC with anticipation that would be able to leave at 9:30. Todayâ€™s trip, as you know, was necessary because Ms. Leisenring and I arrived on Thursday at 7:55 but were not permitted to see our client until 9:30.

These obstacles to meeting with our client are systemic and do not appear to be correctable without significant changes in how the BOP operates the faculty. The rooms for visiting have computers that are frequently broken, there are not enough rooms to accommodate the number of lawyers attempting to see their clients (several hours of delays are routine for any lawyer who doesnâ€™t arrive before 8:00), the staff frequently delays the opening of legal visiting but never extends the closing time, once in a room, a lawyer can expect to wait for their client to be produced from 10-15 minutes to hours and of course at times the facility simply closes and refuses visits all together.

The USAâ€™s office has advised that the Marshalâ€™s have refused our request to transfer Mr. Tartaglione to Nassau County and despite my inquiry about other options, have not offered any alternative.

The conditions under which Mr. Tartaglione Are being held continue to be problematic, to say the least. There is again water in his cell and the other issues, which I have written about a number of times but wonâ€™t detail again here, persist.

I donâ€™t think anyone understands what it is like to be locked in a windowless box all day, everyday with limited human contact and virtually no contact with family or friends. People canâ€™t survive like that for very long. Cell phone or not, the conditions in SHU are deplorable. Discussing the issues surrounding his complex death penalty case has become nearly impossible. Whether intentional or accidental, the MCC is breaking Mr. Tartaglioneâ€™s ability to defend the charges and prepare for trial.

I am open to any solution

> The SHU Lieutenant is meeting with Mr. Tartaglione today to discuss his personal property, including but not limited to his books and legal work, as well as recreation and law library access. Policy ordinarily limits inmates to having only 5 books in their possession, in both general population and in SHU. The SHU Lieutenant reviewed his books and advised he can maintain five in his cell and seventeen in reserve in his stored personal property, but that the other one hundred and fifty-one books would have to be mailed home. Mr. Tartaglione will be informed of this and given the opportunity to choose which books to keep. The SHU Lieutenant reports that Mr. Tartaglione was provided his legal work other than the hard drives that are currently in the Education Department, which will be brought to SHU to be maintained there for his review while housed there. If there is any legal work still missing, please advise so it can be located.

Regarding recreation, I am told he has not responded in the affirmative when recreation is offered in the morning, but the SHU Lieutenant will remind him of those procedures. Likewise, the SHU Lieutenant will go over law library request procedures which involve him submitted written requests to use the SHU law library.

I will update you as soon as I get more information.

Thank you,

Good morning,

First, thank you for the time you have devoted to both speaking to us about these issues and the work you have put in trying to alleviate the problems. Unfortunately, despite your efforts the problems with the conditions Nick endures and the difficulty in visiting him persist.

Aida and I met with Nick yesterday, for only about 20-30 minutes. Although we arrived at the facility at 7:55 and although [redacted] was kind enough to set up a room for us, Nick was not brought down until almost 9:30. We were allowed upstairs at about 8:15, just when the guard for the room had just arrived . This is a frequent problem. It seems that room is often not staffed on time. So, when lawyers arrive at 8:00 they get a room, but have to wait until that guard arrives. This is particularly troubling on the weekends when there is a 10:00 count and you have to either stay until 11:00 or get out by 9:30. Yesterday the officer in the room told us it would â€œbe a whileâ€ before inmates from SHU would be brought down. Indeed it was â€œa whileâ€ as we sat for over an hour. We left just before 10:00 and were both late for our next appointment, mine a hearing in state court. We were not able to cover the ground we needed to with Nick and now have to return in the next few days when I fear the process will repeat itself.

This week several members of the defense team have waited hours to see Nick. On Monday our investigator waited 2 hours and on Tuesday one of our mitigations specialists also waited 2 hours. Aida and I were Lucky in that we only waited about 75 minutes. We simply cannot effectively represent our client with these kind of delays.

I believe we delivered a hard drive to the USAâ€™s office over a week ago. Nick tells us that he has not yet received it. Further, when he was moved to cell without water on the floor, the little discovery he did have, was â€œlost.â€ He has never been given the document I previously mentioned, work product created by our office on which he made notes. It was out on his bed when he the cell phone was seized.

Nick still hasnâ€™t been given any of the books he had nor has he received the books recently mailed to him and received by the facility. He now has a cell mate, someone to talk to, which has improved his emotional state, but he should have reading material and access to his discovery and legal work.

I understand that other than visits, Nick has been locked in his cell 24 hours a day without time for recreation or to go to the library. If this is part of his punishment, it seems harsh.

Again, I know that Nick is in SHU because of the cell phone, but he is still entitled to humane conditions, reading material and reasonable access to his legal team.

Thanks for the prompt response reply. No concerns about his cellmate—they seem to be getting along well.

Good morning Bruce,

I have referred the below concerns to the appropriate departments to address. Please continue to let me know if these issues persist. I understand Facilities staff are looking into the plumbing concerns and should have them corrected very soon. I have asked staff to permit him to switch out the books in his cell for some fresh books from his property, including new ones. I notified Safety staff of the rodent allegation, but please also let me know if he has any safety concerns from his cellmate to ensure it was not deliberately placed there. I also asked staff to check on the issue with his lights in his cell.

I notified medical and mental health staff of his mental health/medication request and asked that he be seen. I will let you know as soon as I hear back from them.

Please be advised that, while the sanctions described in your email are possible and permissible under policy, they are not likely to be as extensive as listed below. The decision will be made by the DHO after a hearing and will be consistent with sanctions for other inmates with similar offenses.
Please let me know if you have any further questions or concerns.

Good morning,

I was able to see Nick last night. Thank you for arranging a room for him. He reports that he has not had his hearing yet and the conditions in his cell remain the same. He was told by a guard that he is going to be denied visits, phone calls and commissary for a year, in addition to being held in SHU for 90 days. Water is constantly leaking into the cell, which he now shares with another inmate. He still has not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has received them). He does not have the paper discovery he had prior to being placed in SHU. Recently, he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in the cell are frequently off during the day and on at night. Nick has asked to be given medication to treat his increased depression and anxiety. His mental health is diminishing rapidly.

I understand that the cell phone justifies some sanction, but the troubling conditions in the cell should be rectified. Lastly, I hope the guard who told Nick about his punishment is mistaken.

Bruce,

My apologies for the delay yesterday. The institution was short-staffed, and they were actively finding personnel to process you in the lobby and to oversee the attorney conference room area. If you experience any delays on the weekends, please ask to speak to the Duty Officer and/or the Operations Lieutenant as they were aware of the visit and could have expedited your admission to the facility. They also could have called me at home to resolve any issues. Likewise, if you are visiting during the week and we have made arrangements to expedite your visits, please contact [redacted] and me if there are any delays so we can facilitate matters immediately. Please also let us know when you meet in an attorney conference room that has a non-working computer so that we can have Computer Services fix it expeditiously. We continue to work to address Mr. Tartaglione's complaints, so please let us know if there are outstanding issues that have not yet been appropriately addressed.

Thank you,

While I do appreciate your effort, for reasons that aren't entirely clear to me, the personal seem unable to allow Nick reasonable access to his lawyers.

Today, I arrived at the faculty at 7:56. I was told "not until 8:00" by the guard in the booth. At 8:00 I was told "we will let you know. We are waiting for relief." I waited outside for 35 minutes.
(I am lucky to be healthy, as I was forced to stand because the waiting area was inexplicably locked). I finally got to see Nick just after 9:00, less than 30 minutes before the cut off to leave before the count.

Unfortunately, this is not a recent problem. Long delays, unexpected closures of the facility and lockdowns have all occurred frequently since Mr. Tartaglione was first arrested, over 3 years ago and have significantly hampered our ability to communicate with our client, who is facing the death penalty.

Because the BOP has chosen to monitor emails and phone calls between Lawyers and their clients, we are forced to meet with Nick to discuss every aspect of the case, even relatively benign things that typically could be handled with a quick call or a short email.

As you know, I have been writing about these problems, speaking to you and bringing the issues to the attention of Judge Karas over the course of the years of Nick's Pretrial detention.

On a personal note, this was a particularly frustrating day because I again took time away from my family on a Sunday to drive into NYC with anticipation that would be able to leave at 9:30. Today's trip, as you know, was necessary because Ms. Leisenring and I arrived on Thursday at 7:55 but were not permitted to see our client until 9:30.

These obstacles to meeting with our client are systemic and do not appear to be correctable without significant changes in how the BOP operates the faculty. The rooms for visiting have computers that are frequently broken, there are not enough rooms to accommodate the number of lawyers attempting to see their clients (several hours of delays are routine for any lawyer who doesn't arrive before 8:00), the staff frequently delays the opening of legal visiting but never extends the closing time, once in a room, a lawyer can expect to wait for their client to be produced from 10-15 minutes to hours and of course at times the facility simply closes and refuses visits all together.

The USA's office has advised that the Marshal's have refused our request to transfer Mr. Tartaglione to Nassau County and despite my inquiry about other options, have not offered any alternative.

The conditions under which Mr. Tartaglione Are being held continue to be problematic, to say the least. There is again water in his cell and the other issues, which I have written about a number of times but won't detail again here, persist.

I don't think anyone understands what it is like to be locked in a windowless box all day, everyday with limited human contact and virtually no contact with family or friends. People can't survive like that for very long. Cell phone or not, the conditions in SHU are deplorable. Discussing the issues surrounding his complex death penalty case has become nearly impossible. Whether intentional or accidental, the MCC is breaking Mr. Tartaglione's ability to defend the charges and prepare for trial.

I am open to any solution

Good afternoon Bruce,

We apologize for the delays you experienced yesterday. We have spoken to the SHU Lieutenant and have received assurances he will have staff bring him to attorney conference in advance of your future meetings to allow him to review discovery until you get there. He will extend the same courtesy to the other members of your defense team with appropriate advance notice.

The SHU Lieutenant is meeting with Mr. Tartaglione today to discuss his personal property, including but not limited to his books and legal work, as well as recreation and law library access. Policy ordinarily limits inmates to having only 5 books in their possession, in both general population and in SHU. The SHU Lieutenant reviewed his books and advised he can maintain five in his cell and seventeen in reserve in his stored personal property, but that the other one hundred and fifty-one books would have to be mailed home. Mr. Tartaglione will be informed of this and given the opportunity to choose which books to keep. The SHU Lieutenant reports that Mr. Tartaglione was provided his legal work other than the hard drives that are currently in the Education Department, which will be brought to SHU to be maintained there for his review while housed there. If there is any legal work still missing, please advise so it can be located.

Regarding recreation, I am told he has not responded in the affirmative when recreation is offered in the morning, but the SHU Lieutenant will remind him of those procedures. Likewise, the SHU Lieutenant will go over law library request procedures which involve him submitted written requests to use the SHU law library.

I will update you as soon as I get more information.

Thank you,

Good morning,

First, thank you for the time you have devoted to both speaking to us about these issues and the work you have put in trying to alleviate the problems. Unfortunately, despite your efforts the problems with the conditions Nick endures and the difficulty in visiting him persist.

Aida and I met with Nick yesterday, for only about 20-30 minutes. Although we arrived at the facility at 7:55 and although [redacted] was kind enough to set up a room for us, Nick was not brought down until almost 9:30. We were allowed upstairs at about 8:15, just when the guard for the room had just arrived . This is a frequent problem. It seems that room is often not staffed on time. So, when lawyers arrive at 8:00 they get a room, but have to wait until that guard arrives. This is particularly troubling on the weekends when there is a 10:00 count and you have to either stay until 11:00 or get out by 9:30. Yesterday the officer in the room told us it would "be a while" before inmates from SHU would be brought down. Indeed it was "a while" as we sat for over an hour. We left just before 10:00 and were both late for our next appointment, mine a hearing in state court. We were not able to cover the ground we needed to with Nick and now have to return in the next few days when I fear the process will repeat itself.
This week several members of the defense team have waited hours to see Nick. On Monday our investigator waited 2 hours and on Tuesday one of our mitigations specialists also waited 2 hours. Aida and I were Lucky in that we only waited about 75 minutes. We simply cannot effectively represent our client with these kind of delays.

I believe we delivered a hard drive to the USA's office over a week ago. Nick tells us that he has not yet received it. Further, when he was moved to cell without water on the floor, the little discovery he did have, was "lost." He has never been given the document I previously mentioned, work product created by our office on which he made notes. It was out on his bed when he the cell phone was seized.

Nick still hasn't been given any of the books he had nor has he received the books recently mailed to him and received by the facility. He now has a cell mate, someone to talk to, which has improved his emotional state, but he should have reading material and access to his discovery and legal work.

I understand that other than visits, Nick has been locked in his cell 24 hours a day without time for recreation or to go to the library. If this is part of his punishment, it seems harsh.

Again, I know that Nick is in SHU because of the cell phone, but he is still entitled to humane conditions, reading material and reasonable access to his legal team.

Good morning all,

Per the below list of complaints please look into the following:

Facilities - can you look into the alleged leak in his cell, no. Z01-106?

Safety - can you let me know the last time 9 South had pest control?

SIS - can you follow up with FBI on his incident report? Can you also look into whether the alleged rodent on his bed might have been his cellmate accusing him of being an snitch?

SHU - can you swap out his books? Can you check on the lights in his cell? Was his paper discovery located? Is he claiming he is still missing any?

Thanks all,

Good morning all,

Per the below list of complaints please look into the following:

Facilities - can you look into the alleged leak in his cell, no. Z01-106?

Safety - can you let me know the last time 9 South had pest control?

SIS - can you follow up with FBI on his incident report? Can you also look into whether the alleged rodent on his bed might have been his cellmate accusing him of being an snitch?

SHU - can you swap out his books? Can you check on the lights in his cell? Was his paper discovery located? Is he claiming he is still missing any?

Thanks all,

Good morning,

I was able to see Nick last night. Thank you for arranging a room for him. He reports that he has not had his hearing yet and the conditions in his cell remain the same. He was told by a guard that he is going to be denied visits, phone calls and commissary for a year, in addition to being held in SHU for 90 days. Water is constantly leaking into the cell, which he now shares with another inmate. He still has not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has received them). He does not have the paper discovery he had prior to being placed in SHU. Recently, he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in the cell are frequently off during the day and on at night. Nick has asked to be given medication to treat his increased depression and anxiety. His mental health is diminishing rapidly.

I understand that the cell phone justifies some sanction, but the troubling conditions in the cell should be rectified. Lastly, I hope the guard who told Nick about his punishment is mistaken.

Bruce,

My apologies for the delay yesterday. The institution was short-staffed, and they were actively finding personnel to process you in the lobby and to oversee the attorney conference room area. If you experience any delays on the weekends, please ask to speak to the Duty Officer and/or the Operations Lieutenant as they were aware of the visit and could have expedited your admission to the facility. They also could have called me at home to resolve any issues. Likewise, if you are visiting during the week and we have made arrangements to expedite your visits, please contact [redacted] and me if there are any delays so we can facilitate matters immediately. Please also let us know when you meet in an attorney conference room that has a non-working computer so that we can have Computer Services fix it expeditiously. We continue to work to address Mr. Tartaglione's complaints, so please let us know if there are outstanding issues that have not yet been appropriately addressed.

Thank you,
[redacted]

[redacted],

While I do appreciate your effort, for reasons that aren't entirely clear to me, the personal seem unable to allow Nick reasonable access to his lawyers.

Today, I arrived at the faculty at 7:56. I was told "not until 8:00" by the guard in the booth. At 8:00 I was told "we will let you know. We are waiting for relief." I waited outside for 35 minutes.

(I am lucky to be healthy, as I was forced to stand because the waiting area was inexplicably locked). I finally got to see Nick just after 9:00, less than 30 minutes before the cut off to leave before the count.

Unfortunately, this is not a recent problem. Long delays, unexpected closures of the facility and lockdowns have all occurred frequently since Mr. Tartaglione was first arrested, over 3 years ago and have significantly hampered our ability to communicate with our client, who is facing the death penalty.

Because the BOP has chosen to monitor emails and phone calls between Lawyers and their clients, we are forced to meet with Nick to discuss every aspect of the case, even relatively benign things that typically could be handled with a quick call or a short email.

As you know, I have been writing about these problems, speaking to you and bringing the issues to the attention of Judge Karas over the course of the years of Nick's Pretrial detention.

On a personal note, this was a particularly frustrating day because I again took time away from my family on a Sunday to drive into NYC with anticipation that would be able to leave at 9:30. Today's trip, as you know, was necessary because Ms. Leisenring and I arrived on Thursday at 7:55 but were not permitted to see our client until 9:30.

These obstacles to meeting with our client are systemic and do not appear to be correctable without significant changes in how the BOP operates the faculty. The rooms for visiting have computers that are frequently broken, there are not enough rooms to accommodate the number of lawyers attempting to see their clients (several hours of delays are routine for any lawyer who doesn't arrive before 8:00), the staff frequently delays the opening of legal visiting but never extends the closing time, once in a room, a lawyer can expect to wait for their client to be produced from 10-15 minutes to hours and of course at times the facility simply closes and refuses visits all together.

The USA's office has advised that the Marshal's have refused our request to transfer Mr. Tartaglione to Nassau County and despite my inquiry about other options, have not offered any alternative.

The conditions under which Mr. Tartaglione Are being held continue to be problematic, to say the least. There is again water in his cell and the other issues, which I have written about a number of times but won't detail again here, persist.

I don't think anyone understands what it is like to be locked in a windowless box all day, everyday with limited human contact and virtually no contact with family or friends. People can't survive like that for very long. Cell phone or not, the conditions in SHU are deplorable. Discussing the issues surrounding his complex death penalty case has become nearly impossible. Whether intentional or accidental, the MCC is breaking Mr. Tartaglione's ability to defend the charges and prepare for trial.

I am open to any solution

Subject: Re: Tartaglione conditions/visits

Good afternoon Bruce,

We apologize for the delays you experienced yesterday. We have spoken to the SHU Lieutenant and have received assurances he will have staff bring him to attorney conference in advance of your future meetings to allow him to review discovery until you get there. He will extend the same courtesy to the other members of your defense team with appropriate advance notice.

The SHU Lieutenant is meeting with Mr. Tartaglione today to discuss his personal property, including but not limited to his books and legal work, as well as recreation and law library access. Policy ordinarily limits inmates to having only 5 books in their possession, in both general population and in SHU. The SHU Lieutenant reviewed his books and advised he can maintain five in his cell and seventeen in reserve in his stored personal property, but that the other one hundred and fifty-one books would have to be mailed home. Mr. Tartaglione will be informed of this and given the opportunity to choose which books to keep. The SHU Lieutenant reports that Mr. Tartaglione was provided his legal work other than the hard drives that are currently in the Education Department, which will be brought to SHU to be maintained there for his review while housed there. If there is any legal work still missing, please advise so it can be located.

Regarding recreation, I am told he has not responded in the affirmative when recreation is offered in the morning, but the SHU Lieutenant will remind him of those procedures. Likewise, the SHU Lieutenant will go over law library request procedures which involve him submitted written requests to use the SHU law library.

I will update you as soon as I get more information.

Thank you,

Good morning,

First, thank you for the time you have devoted to both speaking to us about these issues and the work you have put in trying to alleviate the problems. Unfortunately, despite your efforts the problems with the conditions Nick endures and the difficulty in visiting him persist.

Aida and I met with Nick yesterday, for only about 20-30 minutes. Although we arrived at the facility at 7:55 and although [redacted] was kind enough to set up a room for us, Nick was not brought down until almost 9:30. We were allowed upstairs at about 8:15, just when the guard for the room had just arrived . This is a frequent problem. It seems that room is often not staffed on time. So, when lawyers arrive at 8:00 they get a room, but have to wait until that guard arrives. This is particularly troubling on the weekends when there is a 10:00 count and you have to either stay until 11:00 or get out by 9:30. Yesterday the officer in the room told us it would "be a while" before inmates from SHU would be brought down. Indeed it was "a while" as we sat for over an hour. We left just before 10:00 and were both late for our next appointment, mine a hearing in state court. We were not able to cover the ground we needed to with Nick and now have to return in the next few days when I fear the process will repeat itself.

This week several members of the defense team have waited hours to see Nick. On Monday our investigator waited 2 hours and on Tuesday one of our mitigations specialists also waited 2 hours. Aida and I were Lucky in that we only waited about 75 minutes. We simply cannot effectively represent our client with these kind of delays.

I believe we delivered a hard drive to the USA's office over a week ago. Nick tells us that he has not yet received it. Further, when he was moved to cell without water on the floor, the little discovery he did have, was "lost." He has never been given the document I previously mentioned, work product created by our office on which he made notes. It was out on his bed when he the cell phone was seized.

Nick still hasn't been given any of the books he had nor has he received the books recently mailed to him and received by the facility. He now has a cell mate, someone to talk to, which has improved his emotional state, but he should have reading material and access to his discovery and legal work.

I understand that other than visits, Nick has been locked in his cell 24 hours a day without time for recreation or to go to the library. If this is part of his punishment, it seems harsh.

Again, I know that Nick is in SHU because of the cell phone, but he is still entitled to humane conditions, reading material and reasonable access to his legal team.

Good morning all,

Per the below list of complaints please look into the following:

Facilities - can you look into the alleged leak in his cell, no. Z01-106?

Safety - can you let me know the last time 9 South had pest control?

SIS - can you follow up with FBI on his incident report? Can you also look into whether the alleged rodent on his bed might have been his cellmate accusing him of being an snitch?

SHU - can you swap out his books? Can you check on the lights in his cell? Was his paper discovery located? Is he claiming he is still missing any?

Thanks all,

Good morning,

I was able to see Nick last night. Thank you for arranging a room for him. He reports that he has not had his hearing yet and the conditions in his cell remain the same. He was told by a guard that he is going to be denied visits, phone calls and commissary for a year, in addition to being held in SHU for 90 days. Water is constantly leaking into the cell, which he now shares with another inmate. He still has not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has received them). He does not have the paper discovery he had prior to being placed in SHU. Recently, he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in the cell are frequently off during the day and on at night. Nick has asked to be given medication to treat his increased depression and anxiety. His mental health is diminishing rapidly.

I understand that the cell phone justifies some sanction, but the troubling conditions in the cell should be rectified. Lastly, I hope the guard who told Nick about his punishment is mistaken.

Bruce,

My apologies for the delay yesterday. The institution was short-staffed, and they were actively finding personnel to process you in the lobby and to oversee the attorney conference room area. If you experience any delays on the weekends, please ask to speak to the Duty Officer and/or the Operations Lieutenant as they were aware of the visit and could have expedited your admission to the facility. They also could have called me at home to resolve any issues. Likewise, if you are visiting during the week and we have made arrangements to expedite your visits, please contact [redacted] and me if there are any delays so we can facilitate matters immediately. Please also let us know when you meet in an attorney conference room that has a non-working computer so that we can have Computer Services fix it expeditiously. We continue to work to address Mr. Tartaglione's complaints, so please let us know if there are outstanding issues that have not yet been appropriately addressed.

Thank you,
[redacted]

[redacted],

While I do appreciate your effort, for reasons that aren't entirely clear to me, the personal seem unable to allow Nick reasonable access to his lawyers.

Today, I arrived at the faculty at 7:56. I was told "not until 8:00" by the guard in the booth. At 8:00 I was told "we will let you know. We are waiting for relief." I waited outside for 35 minutes.
(I am lucky to be healthy, as I was forced to stand because the waiting area was inexplicably locked). I finally got to see Nick just after 9:00, less than 30 minutes before the cut off to leave before the count.

Unfortunately, this is not a recent problem. Long delays, unexpected closures of the facility and lockdowns have all occurred frequently since Mr. Tartaglione was first arrested, over 3 years ago and have significantly hampered our ability to communicate with our client, who is facing the death penalty.

Because the BOP has chosen to monitor emails and phone calls between Lawyers and their clients, we are forced to meet with Nick to discuss every aspect of the case, even relatively benign things that typically could be handled with a quick call or a short email.

As you know, I have been writing about these problems, speaking to you and bringing the issues to the attention of Judge Karas over the course of the years of Nick's Pretrial detention.

On a personal note, this was a particularly frustrating day because I again took time away from my family on a Sunday to drive into NYC with anticipation that would be able to leave at 9:30. Today's trip, as you know, was necessary because Ms. Leisenring and I arrived on Thursday at 7:55 but were not permitted to see our client until 9:30.

These obstacles to meeting with our client are systemic and do not appear to be correctable without significant changes in how the BOP operates the faculty. The rooms for visiting have computers that are frequently broken, there are not enough rooms to accommodate the number of lawyers attempting to see their clients (several hours of delays are routine for any lawyer who doesn't arrive before 8:00), the staff frequently delays the opening of legal visiting but never extends the closing time, once in a room, a lawyer can expect to wait for their client to be produced from 10-15 minutes to hours and of course at times the facility simply closes and refuses visits all together.

The USA's office has advised that the Marshal's have refused our request to transfer Mr. Tartaglione to Nassau County and despite my inquiry about other options, have not offered any alternative.

The conditions under which Mr. Tartaglione Are being held continue to be problematic, to say the least. There is again water in his cell and the other issues, which I have written about a number of times but won't detail again here, persist.

I don't think anyone understands what it is like to be locked in a windowless box all day, everyday with limited human contact and virtually no contact with family or friends. People can't survive like that for very long. Cell phone or not, the conditions in SHU are deplorable. Discussing the issues surrounding his complex death penalty case has become nearly impossible. Whether intentional or accidental, the MCC is breaking Mr. Tartaglione's ability to defend the charges and prepare for trial.

I am open to any solution

Subject: Re: Tartaglione conditions/visits

Good afternoon Bruce,

We apologize for the delays you experienced yesterday. We have spoken to the SHU Lieutenant and have received assurances he will have staff bring him to attorney conference in advance of your future meetings to allow him to review discovery until you get there. He will extend the same courtesy to the other members of your defense team with appropriate advance notice.

The SHU Lieutenant is meeting with Mr. Tartaglione today to discuss his personal property, including but not limited to his books and legal work, as well as recreation and law library access. Policy ordinarily limits inmates to having only 5 books in their possession, in both general population and in SHU. The SHU Lieutenant reviewed his books and advised he can maintain five in his cell and seventeen in reserve in his stored personal property, but that the other one hundred and fifty-one books would have to be mailed home. Mr. Tartaglione will be informed of this and given the opportunity to choose which books to keep. The SHU Lieutenant reports that Mr. Tartaglione was provided his legal work other than the hard drives that are currently in the Education Department, which will be brought to SHU to be maintained there for his review while housed there. If there is any legal work still missing, please advise so it can be located.

Regarding recreation, I am told he has not responded in the affirmative when recreation is offered in the morning, but the SHU Lieutenant will remind him of those procedures. Likewise, the SHU Lieutenant will go over law library request procedures which involve him submitted written requests to use the SHU law library.

I will update you as soon as I get more information.

Thank you,

Good morning,

First, thank you for the time you have devoted to both speaking to us about these issues and the work you have put in trying to alleviate the problems.

Unfortunately, despite your efforts the problems with the conditions Nick endures and the difficulty in visiting him persist.

Aida and I met with Nick yesterday, for only about 20-30 minutes. Although we arrived at the facility at 7:55 and although [redacted] was kind enough to set up a room for us, Nick was not brought down until almost 9:30. We were allowed upstairs at about 8:15, just when the guard for the room had just arrived . This is a frequent problem. It seems that room is often not staffed on time. So, when lawyers arrive at 8:00 they get a room, but have to wait until that guard arrives. This is particularly troubling on the weekends when there is a 10:00 count and you have to either stay until 11:00 or get out by 9:30. Yesterday the officer in the room told us it would "be a while" before inmates from SHU would be brought down. Indeed it was "a while" as we sat for over an hour. We left just before 10:00 and were both late for our next appointment, mine a hearing in state court. We were not able to cover the ground we needed to with Nick and now have to return in the next few days when I fear the process will repeat itself.

This week several members of the defense team have waited hours to see Nick. On Monday our investigator waited 2 hours and on Tuesday one of our mitigations specialists also waited 2 hours. Aida and I were Lucky in that we only waited about 75 minutes. We simply cannot effectively represent our client with these kind of delays.

I believe we delivered a hard drive to the USA's office over a week ago. Nick tells us that he has not yet received it. Further, when he was moved to cell without water on the floor, the little discovery he did have, was "lost." He has never been given the document I previously mentioned, work product created by our office on which he made notes. It was out on his bed when he the cell phone was seized.

Nick still hasn't been given any of the books he had nor has he received the books recently mailed to him and received by the facility. He now has a cell mate, someone to talk to, which has improved his emotional state, but he should have reading material and access to his discovery and legal work.

I understand that other than visits, Nick has been locked in his cell 24 hours a day without time for recreation or to go to the library. If this is part of his punishment, it seems harsh.

Again, I know that Nick is in SHU because of the cell phone, but he is still entitled to humane conditions, reading material and reasonable access to his legal team.

Good morning all,

Per the below list of complaints please look into the following:

Facilities - can you look into the alleged leak in his cell, no. Z01-106?

Safety - can you let me know the last time 9 South had pest control?

SIS - can you follow up with FBI on his incident report? Can you also look into whether the alleged rodent on his bed might have been his cellmate accusing him of being an snitch?

SHU - can you swap out his books? Can you check on the lights in his cell? Was his paper discovery located? Is he claiming he is still missing any?

Thanks all,

Good morning,

I was able to see Nick last night. Thank you for arranging a room for him. He reports that he has not had his hearing yet and the conditions in his cell remain the same. He was told by a guard that he is going to be denied visits, phone calls and commissary for a year, in addition to being held in SHU for 90 days. Water is constantly leaking into the cell, which he now shares with another inmate. He still has not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has received them). He does not have the paper discovery he had prior to being placed in SHU. Recently, he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in the cell are frequently off during the day and on at night. Nick has asked to be given medication to treat his increased depression and anxiety. His mental health is diminishing rapidly.

I understand that the cell phone justifies some sanction, but the troubling conditions in the cell should be rectified. Lastly, I hope the guard who told Nick about his punishment is mistaken.

Bruce,

My apologies for the delay yesterday. The institution was short-staffed, and they were actively finding personnel to process you in the lobby and to oversee the attorney conference room area. If you experience any delays on the weekends, please ask to speak to the Duty Officer and/or the Operations Lieutenant as they were aware of the visit and could have expedited your admission to the facility. They also could have called me at home to resolve any issues. Likewise, if you are visiting during the week and we have made arrangements to expedite your visits, please contact [redacted] and me if there are any delays so we can facilitate matters immediately. Please also let us know when you meet in an attorney conference room that has a non-working computer so that we can have Computer Services fix it expeditiously. We continue to work to address Mr. Tartaglione's complaints, so please let us know if there are outstanding issues that have not yet been appropriately addressed.

Thank you,
[redacted]

[redacted],

While I do appreciate your effort, for reasons that aren't entirely clear to me, the personal seem unable to allow Nick reasonable access to his lawyers.

Today, I arrived at the faculty at 7:56. I was told "not until 8:00" by the guard in the booth. At 8:00 I was told "we will let you know. We are waiting for relief." I waited outside for 35 minutes.

(I am lucky to be healthy, as I was forced to stand because the waiting area was inexplicably locked). I finally got to see Nick just after 9:00, less than 30 minutes before the cut off to leave before the count.

Unfortunately, this is not a recent problem. Long delays, unexpected closures of the facility and lockdowns have all occurred frequently since Mr. Tartaglione was first arrested, over 3 years ago and have significantly hampered our ability to communicate with our client, who is facing the death penalty.

Because the BOP has chosen to monitor emails and phone calls between Lawyers and their clients, we are forced to meet with Nick to discuss every aspect of the case, even relatively benign things that typically could be handled with a quick call or a short email.

As you know, I have been writing about these problems, speaking to you and bringing the issues to the attention of Judge Karas over the course of the years of Nick's Pretrial detention.

On a personal note, this was a particularly frustrating day because I again took time away from my family on a Sunday to drive into NYC with anticipation that would be able to leave at 9:30. Today's trip, as you know, was necessary because Ms. Leisenring and I arrived on Thursday at 7:55 but were not permitted to see our client until 9:30.

These obstacles to meeting with our client are systemic and do not appear to be correctable without significant changes in how the BOP operates the faculty. The rooms for visiting have computers that are frequently broken, there are not enough rooms to accommodate the number of lawyers attempting to see their clients (several hours of delays are routine for any lawyer who doesn't arrive before 8:00), the staff frequently delays the opening of legal visiting but never extends the closing time, once in a room, a lawyer can expect to wait for their client to be produced from 10-15 minutes to hours and of course at times the facility simply closes and refuses visits all together.

The USA's office has advised that the Marshal's have refused our request to transfer Mr. Tartaglione to Nassau County and despite my inquiry about other options, have not offered any alternative.

The conditions under which Mr. Tartaglione Are being held continue to be problematic, to say the least. There is again water in his cell and the other issues, which I have written about a number of times but won't detail again here, persist.

I don't think anyone understands what it is like to be locked in a windowless box all day, everyday with limited human contact and virtually no contact with family or friends. People can't survive like that for very long. Cell phone or not, the conditions in SHU are deplorable. Discussing the issues surrounding his complex death penalty case has become nearly impossible. Whether intentional or accidental, the MCC is breaking Mr. Tartaglione's ability to defend the charges and prepare for trial.

I am open to any solution

Subject: Re: Tartaglione conditions/visits

Good afternoon Bruce,

We apologize for the delays you experienced yesterday. We have spoken to the SHU Lieutenant and have received assurances he will have staff bring him to attorney conference in advance of your future meetings to allow him to review discovery until you get there. He will extend the same courtesy to the other members of your defense team with appropriate advance notice.

The SHU Lieutenant is meeting with Mr. Tartaglione today to discuss his personal property, including but not limited to his books and legal work, as well as recreation and law library access. Policy ordinarily limits inmates to having only 5 books in their possession, in both general population and in SHU. The SHU Lieutenant reviewed his books and advised he can maintain five in his cell and seventeen in reserve in his stored personal property, but that the other one hundred and fifty-one books would have to be mailed home. Mr. Tartaglione will be informed of this and given the opportunity to choose which books to keep. The SHU Lieutenant reports that Mr. Tartaglione was provided his legal work other than the hard drives that are currently in the Education Department, which will be brought to SHU to be maintained there for his review while housed there. If there is any legal work still missing, please advise so it can be located.

Regarding recreation, I am told he has not responded in the affirmative when recreation is offered in the morning, but the SHU Lieutenant will remind him of those procedures. Likewise, the SHU Lieutenant will go over law library request procedures which involve him submitted written requests to use the SHU law library.

I will update you as soon as I get more information.

Thank you,

Good morning,

First, thank you for the time you have devoted to both speaking to us about these issues and the work you have put in trying to alleviate the problems. Unfortunately, despite your efforts the problems with the conditions Nick endures and the difficulty in visiting him persist.

Aida and I met with Nick yesterday, for only about 20-30 minutes. Although we arrived at the facility at 7:55 and although [redacted] was kind enough to set up a room for us, Nick was not brought down until almost 9:30. We were allowed upstairs at about 8:15, just when the guard for the room had just arrived . This is a frequent problem. It seems that room is often not staffed on time. So, when lawyers arrive at 8:00 they get a room, but have to wait until that guard arrives. This is particularly troubling on the weekends when there is a 10:00 count and you have to either stay until 11:00 or get out by 9:30. Yesterday the officer in the room told us it would "be a while" before inmates from SHU would be brought down. Indeed it was "a while" as we sat for over an hour. We left just before 10:00 and were both late for our next appointment, mine a hearing in state court. We were not able to cover the ground we needed to with Nick and now have to return in the next few days when I fear the process will repeat itself.

This week several members of the defense team have waited hours to see Nick. On Monday our investigator waited 2 hours and on Tuesday one of our mitigations specialists also waited 2 hours. Aida and I were Lucky in that we only waited about 75 minutes. We simply cannot effectively represent our client with these kind of delays.

Good morning,

I was able to see Nick last night. Thank you for arranging a room for him. He reports that he has not had his hearing yet and the conditions in his cell remain the same. He was told by a guard that he is going to be denied visits, phone calls and commissary for a year, in addition to being held in SHU for 90 days. Water is constantly leaking into the cell, which he now shares with another inmate. He still has not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has received them). He does not have the paper discovery he had prior to being placed in SHU. Recently, he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in the cell are frequently off during the day and on at night. Nick has asked to be given medication to treat his increased depression and anxiety. His mental health is diminishing rapidly.

I understand that the cell phone justifies some sanction, but the troubling conditions in the cell should be rectified. Lastly, I hope the guard who told Nick about his punishment is mistaken.

Bruce,

My apologies for the delay yesterday. The institution was short-staffed, and they were actively finding personnel to process you in the lobby and to oversee the attorney conference room area. If you experience any delays on the weekends, please ask to speak to the Duty Officer and/or the Operations Lieutenant as they were aware of the visit and could have expedited your admission to the facility. They also could have called me at home to resolve any issues. Likewise, if you are visiting during the week and we have made arrangements to expedite your visits, please contact [redacted] and me if there are any delays so we can facilitate matters immediately. Please also let us know when you meet in an attorney conference room that has a non-working computer so that we can have Computer Services fix it expeditiously. We continue to work to address Mr. Tartaglione's complaints, so please let us know if there are outstanding issues that have not yet been appropriately addressed.

Thank you,

[redacted],

While I do appreciate your effort, for reasons that aren't entirely clear to me, the personal seem unable to allow Nick reasonable access to his lawyers.

Today, I arrived at the faculty at 7:56. I was told "not until 8:00" by the guard in the booth. At 8:00 I was told "we will let you know. We are waiting for relief." I waited outside for 35 minutes.
(I am lucky to be healthy, as I was forced to stand because the waiting area was inexplicably locked). I finally got to see Nick just after 9:00, less than 30 minutes before the cut off to leave before the count.

Unfortunately, this is not a recent problem. Long delays, unexpected closures of the facility and lockdowns have all occurred frequently since Mr. Tartaglione was first arrested, over 3 years ago and have significantly hampered our ability to communicate with our client, who is facing the death penalty.

Because the BOP has chosen to monitor emails and phone calls between Lawyers and their clients, we are forced to meet with Nick to discuss every aspect of the case, even relatively benign things that typically could be handled with a quick call or a short email.

As you know, I have been writing about these problems, speaking to you and bringing the issues to the attention of Judge Karas over the course of the years of Nick's Pretrial detention.

On a personal note, this was a particularly frustrating day because I again took time away from my family on a Sunday to drive into NYC with anticipation that would be able to leave at 9:30. Today's trip, as you know, was necessary because Ms. Leisenring and I arrived on Thursday at 7:55 but were not permitted to see our client until 9:30.

These obstacles to meeting with our client are systemic and do not appear to be correctable without significant changes in how the BOP operates the faculty. The rooms for visiting have computers that are frequently broken, there are not enough rooms to accommodate the number of lawyers attempting to see their clients (several hours of delays are routine for any lawyer who doesn't arrive before 8:00), the staff frequently delays the opening of legal visiting but never extends the closing time, once in a room, a lawyer can expect to wait for their client to be produced from 10-15 minutes to hours and of course at times the facility simply closes and refuses visits all together.

The USA's office has advised that the Marshal's have refused our request to transfer Mr. Tartaglione to Nassau County and despite my inquiry about other options, have not offered any alternative.

The conditions under which Mr. Tartaglione Are being held continue to be problematic, to say the least. There is again water in his cell and the other issues, which I have written about a number of times but won't detail again here, persist.

I don't think anyone understands what it is like to be locked in a windowless box all day, everyday with limited human contact and virtually no contact with family or friends. People can't survive like that for very long. Cell phone or not, the conditions in SHU are deplorable. Discussing the issues surrounding his complex death penalty case has become nearly impossible. Whether intentional or accidental, the MCC is breaking Mr. Tartaglione's ability to defend the charges and prepare for trial.

I am open to any solution

Subject: Re: Tartaglione conditions/visits

Good afternoon Bruce,

We apologize for the delays you experienced yesterday. We have spoken to the SHU Lieutenant and have received assurances he will have staff bring him to attorney conference in advance of your future meetings to allow him to review discovery until you get there. He will extend the same courtesy to the other members of your defense team with appropriate advance notice.

The SHU Lieutenant is meeting with Mr. Tartaglione today to discuss his personal property, including but not limited to his books and legal work, as well as recreation and law library access. Policy ordinarily limits inmates to having only 5 books in their possession, in both general population and in SHU. The SHU Lieutenant reviewed his books and advised he can maintain five in his cell and seventeen in reserve in his stored personal property, but that the other one hundred and fifty-one books would have to be mailed home. Mr. Tartaglione will be informed of this and given the opportunity to choose which books to keep. The SHU Lieutenant reports that Mr. Tartaglione was provided his legal work other than the hard drives that are currently in the Education Department, which will be brought to SHU to be maintained there for his review while housed there. If there is any legal work still missing, please advise so it can be located.

Regarding recreation, I am told he has not responded in the affirmative when recreation is offered in the morning, but the SHU Lieutenant will remind him of those procedures. Likewise, the SHU Lieutenant will go over law library request procedures which involve him submitted written requests to use the SHU law library.

I will update you as soon as I get more information.

Thank you,

Good morning,

First, thank you for the time you have devoted to both speaking to us about these issues and the work you have put in trying to alleviate the problems. Unfortunately, despite your efforts the problems with the conditions Nick endures and the difficulty in visiting him persist.

Aida and I met with Nick yesterday, for only about 20-30 minutes. Although we arrived at the facility at 7:55 and although [redacted] was kind enough to set up a room for us, Nick was not brought down until almost 9:30. We were allowed upstairs at about 8:15, just when the guard for the room had just arrived . This is a frequent problem. It seems that room is often not staffed on time. So, when lawyers arrive at 8:00 they get a room, but have to wait until that guard arrives. This is particularly troubling on the weekends when there is a 10:00 count and you have to either stay until 11:00 or get out by 9:30. Yesterday the officer in the room told us it would "be a while" before inmates from SHU would be brought down. Indeed it was "a while" as we sat for over an hour. We left just before 10:00 and were both late for our next appointment, mine a hearing in state court. We were not able to cover the ground we needed to with Nick and now have to return in the next few days when I fear the process will repeat itself.

This week several members of the defense team have waited hours to see Nick. On Monday our investigator waited 2 hours and on Tuesday one of our mitigations specialists also waited 2 hours. Aida and I were Lucky in that we only waited about 75 minutes. We simply cannot effectively represent our client with these kind of delays.

I believe we delivered a hard drive to the USA's office over a week ago. Nick tells us that he has not yet received it. Further, when he was moved to cell without water on the floor, the little discovery he did have, was "lost." He has never been given the document I previously mentioned, work product created by our office on which he made notes. It was out on his bed when he the cell phone was seized.

Nick still hasn't been given any of the books he had nor has he received the books recently mailed to him and received by the facility. He now has a cell mate, someone to talk to, which has improved his emotional state, but he should have reading material and access to his discovery and legal work.

I understand that other than visits, Nick has been locked in his cell 24 hours a day without time for recreation or to go to the library. If this is part of his punishment, it seems harsh.

Again, I know that Nick is in SHU because of the cell phone, but he is still entitled to humane conditions, reading material and reasonable access to his legal team.

Good afternoon Bruce,

We apologize for the delays you experienced yesterday. We have spoken to the SHU Lieutenant and have received assurances he will have staff bring him to attorney conference in advance of your future meetings to allow him to review discovery until you get there. He will extend the same courtesy to the other members of your defense team with appropriate advance notice.

The SHU Lieutenant is meeting with Mr. Tartaglione today to discuss his personal property, including but not limited to his books and legal work, as well as recreation and law library access. Policy ordinarily limits inmates to having only 5 books in their possession, in both general population and in SHU. The SHU Lieutenant reviewed his books and advised he can maintain five in his cell and seventeen in reserve in his stored personal property, but that the other one hundred and fifty-one books would have to be mailed home. Mr. Tartaglione will be informed of this and given the opportunity to choose which books to keep. The SHU Lieutenant reports that Mr. Tartaglione was provided his legal work other than the hard drives that are currently in the Education Department, which will be brought to SHU to be maintained there for his review while housed there. If there is any legal work still missing, please advise so it can be located.

Regarding recreation, I am told he has not responded in the affirmative when recreation is offered in the morning, but the SHU Lieutenant will remind him of those procedures. Likewise, the SHU Lieutenant will go over law library request procedures which involve him submitted written requests to use the SHU law library.

I will update you as soon as I get more information.

Thank you,

Good morning,

First, thank you for the time you have devoted to both speaking to us about these issues and the work you have put in trying to alleviate the problems. Unfortunately, despite your efforts the problems with the conditions Nick endures and the difficulty in visiting him persist.

Aida and I met with Nick yesterday, for only about 20-30 minutes. Although we arrived at the facility at 7:55 and although [redacted] was kind enough to set up a room for us, Nick was not brought down until almost 9:30. We were allowed upstairs at about 8:15, just when the guard for the room had just arrived . This is a frequent problem. It seems that room is often not staffed on time. So, when lawyers arrive at 8:00 they get a room, but have to wait until that guard arrives. This is particularly troubling on the weekends when there is a 10:00 count and you have to either stay until 11:00 or get out by 9:30. Yesterday the officer in the room told us it would "be a while" before inmates from SHU would be brought down. Indeed it was "a while" as we sat for over an hour. We left just before 10:00 and were both late for our next appointment, mine a hearing in state court. We were not able to cover the ground we needed to with Nick and now have to return in the next few days when I fear the process will repeat itself.

This week several members of the defense team have waited hours to see Nick. On Monday our investigator waited 2 hours and on Tuesday one of our mitigations specialists also waited 2 hours. Aida and I were Lucky in that we only waited about 75 minutes. We simply cannot effectively represent our client with these kind of delays.

I believe we delivered a hard drive to the USA's office over a week ago. Nick tells us that he has not yet received it. Further, when he was moved to cell without water on the floor, the little discovery he did have, was "lost." He has never been given the document I previously mentioned, work product created by our office on which he made notes. It was out on his bed when he the cell phone was seized.

Nick still hasn't been given any of the books he had nor has he received the books recently mailed to him and received by the facility. He now has a cell mate, someone to talk to, which has improved his emotional state, but he should have reading material and access to his discovery and legal work.

I understand that other than visits, Nick has been locked in his cell 24 hours a day without time for recreation or to go to the library. If this is part of his punishment, it seems harsh.

Again, I know that Nick is in SHU because of the cell phone, but he is still entitled to humane conditions, reading material and reasonable access to his legal team.

Good morning,

I was able to see Nick last night. Thank you for arranging a room for him. He reports that he has not had his hearing yet and the conditions in his cell remain the same. He was told by a guard that he is going to be denied visits, phone calls and commissary for a year, in addition to being held in SHU for 90 days. Water is constantly leaking into the cell, which he now shares with another inmate. He still has not received the updated discovery hard drive. He has only been given three short books which he read several times, despite having new books sent to him (we have the receipts indicating that MCC has received them). He does not have the paper discovery he had prior to being placed in SHU. Recently, he found a dead rodent in his bed. Apparently he accidently smothered it while sleeping. The lights in the cell are frequently off during the day and on at night. Nick has asked to be given medication to treat his increased depression and anxiety. His mental health is diminishing rapidly.

I understand that the cell phone justifies some sanction, but the troubling conditions in the cell should be rectified. Lastly, I hope the guard who told Nick about his punishment is mistaken.

Bruce,

My apologies for the delay yesterday. The institution was short-staffed, and they were actively finding personnel to process you in the lobby and to oversee the attorney conference room area. If you experience any delays on the weekends, please ask to speak to the Duty Officer and/or the Operations Lieutenant as they were aware of the visit and could have expedited your admission to the facility. They also could have called me at home to resolve any issues. Likewise, if you are visiting during the week and we have made arrangements to expedite your visits, please contact [redacted] and me if there are any delays so we can facilitate matters immediately. Please also let us know when you meet in an attorney conference room that has a non-working computer so that we can have Computer Services fix it expeditiously. We continue to work to address Mr. Tartaglione's complaints, so please let us know if there are outstanding issues that have not yet been appropriately addressed.

Thank you,
[redacted]

[redacted],

While I do appreciate your effort, for reasons that aren't entirely clear to me, the personal seem unable to allow Nick reasonable access to his lawyers.

Today, I arrived at the faculty at 7:56. I was told "not until 8:00" by the guard in the booth. At 8:00 I was told "we will let you know. We are waiting for relief." I waited outside for 35 minutes.
(I am lucky to be healthy, as I was forced to stand because the waiting area was inexplicably locked). I finally got to see Nick just after 9:00, less than 30 minutes before the cut off to leave before the count.

Unfortunately, this is not a recent problem. Long delays, unexpected closures of the facility and lockdowns have all occurred frequently since Mr. Tartaglione was first arrested, over 3 years ago and have significantly hampered our ability to communicate with our client, who is facing the death penalty.

Because the BOP has chosen to monitor emails and phone calls between Lawyers and their clients, we are forced to meet with Nick to discuss every aspect of the case, even relatively benign things that typically could be handled with a quick call or a short email.

As you know, I have been writing about these problems, speaking to you and bringing the issues to the attention of Judge Karas over the course of the years of Nick's Pretrial detention.

On a personal note, this was a particularly frustrating day because I again took time away from my family on a Sunday to drive into NYC with anticipation that would be able to leave at 9:30. Today's trip, as you know, was necessary because Ms. Leisenring and I arrived on Thursday at 7:55 but were not permitted to see our client until 9:30.

These obstacles to meeting with our client are systemic and do not appear to be correctable without significant changes in how the BOP operates the faculty. The rooms for visiting have computers that are frequently broken, there are not enough rooms to accommodate the number of lawyers attempting to see their clients (several hours of delays are routine for any lawyer who doesn't arrive before 8:00), the staff frequently delays the opening of legal visiting but never extends the closing time, once in a room, a lawyer can expect to wait for their client to be produced from 10-15 minutes to hours and of course at times the facility simply closes and refuses visits all together.

The USA's office has advised that the Marshal's have refused our request to transfer Mr. Tartaglione to Nassau County and despite my inquiry about other options, have not offered any alternative.

The conditions under which Mr. Tartaglione Are being held continue to be problematic, to say the least. There is again water in his cell and the other issues, which I have written about a number of times but won't detail again here, persist.

I don't think anyone understands what it is like to be locked in a windowless box all day, everyday with limited human contact and virtually no contact with family or friends. People can't survive like that for very long. Cell phone or not, the conditions in SHU are deplorable. Discussing the issues surrounding his complex death penalty case has become nearly impossible. Whether intentional or accidental, the MCC is breaking Mr. Tartaglione's ability to defend the charges and prepare for trial.

I am open to any solution

New polls identify fault lines inside the GOP over Trump's immigration agenda and treatment of asylum seekers

with Mariana Alfaro

THE BIG IDEA: President Trump is building his reelection campaign around the same brand of nativism that energized tens of millions of aggrieved whites and got him elected in 2016. Because of the verities of the electoral college, there is a body of evidence that suggests doubling down on an agenda of exclusion will that suggests doubling down on an agenda of exclusion will work in 2020. But three new polls also pinpoint fault lines within the GOP on the immigration issue that the president's opponents might capitalize on – if they're able to figure out how to swim against the leftward rip current that threatens to drown the eventual Democratic nominee.

-- A Gallup poll released this morning shows growing support for allowing refugees from Central America into the United States. In December, 51 percent of Americans approved of accepting refugees from the countries in the Northern Triangle, which refers to Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador. Now it's 57 percent. Democrats remain overwhelmingly supportive – more than 8 in 10 say America's doors should be open – but the number of Republicans who say they want to take in Central American refugees has risen from 14 percent to 24 percent. Approval among independents also increased from 52 percent in December to 58 percent today.

"Support for allowing Central American refugees entry is now higher than Gallup has found for most refugee cases it has polled on historically, including Syrian refugees in 2015 as well as stretching back to refugees from the German Holocaust in the 1930s and 40s," said Gallup analyst Justin McCarthy. "If support for Central American refugee entry continues to increase, this could jeopardize Trump's immigration-related initiatives."

While 52 percent of Republicans surveyed by Gallup say that what's happening at our southern border is a "crisis" –

Trump's preferred word – another 36 percent say it's more appropriate to characterize what's going on as "a major problem."

-- A Pew Research Center poll published yesterday afternoon shows that, while there is overwhelming support on the right for reducing the total number of people coming into the United States from Central America, 37 percent of Republicans want to make it easier for those who are seeking asylum from those countries to be granted legal status. As a reminder, asylum seekers are legal immigrants who are seeking to enter the United States on the grounds that their lives are in danger if they stay in their native land.

A sizable 44 percent minority of Republicans said that the Trump administration is doing a bad job at dealing with the increased number of asylum seekers at the border. The majority, 55 percent, said the government is doing a good job. As a point of comparison, 84 percent of Democrats agree that the government is doing a bad job. (Across the board, Trump's immigration policies continue to be overwhelmingly, sometimes close to unanimously, unpopular among Democrats.)

A girl rests her head on a bench yesterday in the Border Patrol processing center in McAllen. Some of the minors held at the center are unaccompanied and others crossed with their families, but after a certain age, they are held in a separate area within the same building as their parents. (Carolyn Van Houten/The Washington Post)

-- Quinnipiac University's most recent national poll found that 42 percent of Republicans believe that the conditions in immigration detention centers at the southern border are a serious problem, while 43 percent do not think so. Another 14 percent are not sure. Overall, 68 percent of respondents in the poll – released the week before last – said the conditions are a serious problem and 23 percent said they are not. The Q-poll found that 49 percent of Republicans believe immigration is good for the country while 32 percent say it's bad. Overall, 70 percent of Americans think immigration is a net positive while 17 percent – mostly Republicans – think it's bad.

-- In other notable dividing lines, the Pew poll found that a 51 percent majority of Republicans want the federal government to provide more assistance to the countries in Central America where most of the asylum seekers are coming from. This could help alleviate some of the underlying problems that are prompting so many people to embark on the dangerous journey north. But Trump has pushed relentlessly to cut this aid. Experts warn that this may exacerbate the already terrible conditions on the ground and thereby make the U.S. an even stronger magnet for the folks he wants to deter.

-- On three questions posed by the Pew poll, Republicans were split on their views of undocumented immigrants as people: They are almost evenly divided on the question of whether undocumented immigrants are more likely to commit serious crimes than

U.S. citizens, with 49 percent saying they are and 46 percent saying they're not. Trump has peddled the false narrative that immigrants writ large are more violent, and the prime-time hosts on Fox News have abetted him in this, but several studies have shown that's not the case.

While 42 percent of Republicans say that undocumented immigrants are not as honest and hard-working as U.S. citizens, 54 percent say they are just as honest and hard-working – if not more so.

While 64 percent of Republicans say undocumented immigrants mostly fill jobs that U.S. citizens don't want to do, 32 percent say they're taking away jobs that U.S. citizens would be willing to do if they had the chance.

Recently detained migrants, many of them families, await processing on Monday at the Border Patrol Central Processing Center in McAllen, Tex. (Carolyn Van Houten/The Washington Post)

-- Bigger picture, the Pew poll found that 40 percent of Americans say they agree with the Democratic Party's approach to "illegal immigration" and 39 percent say they agree with the Republican Party's. The rest – 1 in 5 U.S. adults – say they disagree with both parties. Three in 4 Republicans say they generally agree with their party's approach to "illegal immigration," the term used by the pollsters, but stark differences emerged when the pollsters drilled into details and asked about specifics.

Republican partisans have moved Trump's direction somewhat in their general attitudes toward immigration, a reflection of the power of any president's bully pulpit and the potency of this president's anti-immigration fixation. In March 2017, soon after Trump took office, Pew found 61 percent of Republicans believed there should be a way for undocumented immigrants to stay in the country legally if certain requirements are met. That's slipped to 54 percent in the poll released yesterday. Now, 45 percent of Republicans say undocumented immigrants should not be allowed to stay here. Democratic views are unchanged: About 9 in 10 of them supported a path to citizenship then and still do now.

"In a follow-up question, most of those who are against a path to legal status for undocumented immigrants say they would support a national law enforcement effort to deport all immigrants who are now living in the U.S. illegally," Pew's pollsters write in a note accompanying their data. "Overall, 23% of the public opposes legal status for undocumented immigrants and supports a national effort to deport all immigrants living in the country illegally. Among Republicans and Republican leaners, 42% – including nearly half (49%) of conservative Republicans -- would support an effort to deport all undocumented immigrants in the U.S."

-- To be sure, there is an undeniable constituency inside the GOP for treating migrants with some degree of cruelty, but they are in the minority. For example, just over a quarter of Republicans in the Pew poll do not think it is important for the federal government to provide safe and sanitary conditions for asylum seekers. Another 41 percent of Republicans say it's "somewhat" important that people get safe and sanitary conditions while in U.S. government custody, and 32 percent say it's very important. For context, more than 90 percent of Democrats say it's important that asylum seekers receive access to safe and sanitary conditions.

The federal government is required under a consent decree to provide "safe and sanitary" conditions to migrant children. But a Justice Department lawyer argued during a June court hearing, which went viral, that the federal government is not legally required to provide toothbrushes, soap or towels to fulfill that requirement because those amenities were not explicitly mentioned in the 1997 agreement.

Trump administration to penalize legal migrants who use public benefits

MORE FROM THE FRONT LINES ON THE IMMIGRATION WARS:

-- Immigrants who live legally in the United States and use public benefits — such as Medicaid, food stamps or housing assistance — could find it harder to get a green card under a policy change unveiled yesterday by the Trump administration. Abigail Hauslohner, Nick Miroff, Maria Sacchetti and Tracy Jan report: "The new criteria for 'Inadmissibility on Public Charge Grounds,' due to take effect Oct. 15, will set stricter standards for applicants seeking legal permanent residency in the United States, criteria that will skew the process in favor of the highly skilled, high-income immigrants Trump covets. … 'Through the public charge rule, President Trump's administration is reinforcing the ideals of self-sufficiency and personal responsibility, ensuring that immigrants are able to support themselves and become successful here in America,' said acting director of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services Ken Cuccinelli. …

"Analysts say the public charge change could dramatically reduce family-based legal immigration to the United States, particularly from Latin America and Africa, where incomes are generally lower than the rest of the world. It also could lead to an increase in deportations, as those present with some form of provisional or temporary immigration status in the United States are denied legal residency. … Advocates for immigrants say the new rule could narrow the pool of people who are eligible for green cards, which are necessary to get on the path to U.S. citizenship, effectively blocking immigrants who live in poverty from having a chance at naturalization. … Cuccinelli said the change would benefit U.S. taxpayers by selecting better candidates for U.S. citizenship."

-- "Trump's claim that he supports legal immigration turns out to be a lie," Eugene Robinson writes in his column: "Long advocated by White House adviser Stephen Miller, the Torquemada of the immigration inquisition, the new policy is a major step in Trump's crusade to Make America White Again. If it survives court challenges, the new rule could dramatically reduce legal — I repeat, legal — immigration from low-income countries. Not just coincidentally, I am sure, this means fewer black and brown people would be granted resident status. Trump's message to the world: Keep your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free. As he memorably and disgracefully put it: 'Our Country is FULL!'"

-- Our Arelis Hernández got a glimpse inside the Central Processing Center, the Border Patrol's largest holding facility, where nearly 1,300 migrants wait to be released, deported or transferred: "Unaccompanied children are separated by gender and kept in distinct pens, where they have access to crackers, juice and chips. A television runs programming for all hours except mealtimes, and they can choose to don provided sweatpants, T-shirts and shoes. 'Children are held on average about 26 hours in custody,' said Oscar Escamilla, acting deputy Border Patrol agent-in-charge, who led a brief tour through the center … During the tour, journalists were not permitted to talk to the migrants in custody, and most shied away from the cameras. Many retreated deeper within their pens and turned away. …

"Parents with children are held in separate enclosures, where dozens of men and women sat on metal benches or laid across gym mats on the concrete floor. … Tired men bounced little boys on their knees, children munched on apples and others hid beneath blankets in the cell adjacent to a play area with a plastic playpen and a few toys … Inside each section of cells, a guard monitors camera footage and keeps watch from a small tower elevated about eight feet from the ground. … Between each holding area is a sanitation station containing about a dozen portable toilets and sinks that are cleaned twice a day. There was no escaping the foul stench of days of accumulated dirt, sweat and waste."

New Trump rule targets legal immigrants

-- That U.S. Border Patrol agent who intentionally rammed his truck into a Guatemalan migrant in 2017, and referred in text messages to migrants as "subhuman" and "mindless murdering savages," got a plea deal that allowed him to accept guilt for a single misdemeanor charge. From the New York Times: "The agent, Matthew Bowen, who was stationed in Nogales, will face up to one year in prison and could be fined $100,000 when he is sentenced on Oct. 15 for deprivation of rights under color of law, according to the plea agreement. Mr. Bowen also said in the plea agreement that he would resign from the Border Patrol. He was suspended in June 2018."

- "I intentionally struck him with an unreasonable amount of force," Bowen writes in his plea agreement that was filed with the court, adding that his actions were "not justified" and violated the rights of the migrant.
- Read more on his texts. I cited this case as one of

- Read more on his texts. I cited this case as one of several examples of the Border Patrol's broader cultural problems in a Big Idea last month.

-- Guatemala's new president-elect, Alejandro Giammattei, could stir up trouble for Trump on the immigration front. From CNN: "Giammattei has been outspoken in his opposition to a migration deal that his predecessor, Jimmy Morales, signed with the United States last month. … When does this deal come into force? Signed hastily by the outgoing administration, it has already been opposed by the Guatemalan Constitutional Court, who ruled its Congress has to decide on any safe third country agreements. But it is scheduled to come into effect in mid-August -- unless of course Giammattei sticks to his word and blocks it. But there's a catch: Guatemala's elite. They also have an outsized view, likely heard in the country's corridors of power. The prospect of Trump's wrath -- he has already cut aid to the economically troubled nation, and flatly threatened destructive tariffs if the deal isn't put into force -- will trouble them."

-- The migrant crisis is moving south, to Mexican border towns, as a result of Trump's "Remain in Mexico" policy. From NPR: "A month ago, if you came to the sun-blasted plaza in Matamoros, Mexico, at the foot of the International Bridge, it would have been full of asylum-seekers waiting to be let into America. They were haggard, but there was hope in their faces. Today they're still here, lying about dejectedly, seeking shade from the brutal summer heat, and they're gloomy about their fate."

summer heat, and they're gloomy about their fate.

-- But others keep coming: One person is missing after U.S. officials rescued 14 people from the Rio Grande. Three other people were taken to the hospital with non-life-threatening injuries, and the other 11 members of the group remain in custody. (CNN)

-- Numerous women accuse opera legend Plácido Domingo of pressuring them into sexual relationships and punishing them professionally when they refused his advances. From the AP: "Eight singers and a dancer have told the AP that they were sexually harassed by the long-married, Spanish-born superstar in encounters that took place over three decades beginning in the late 1980s, at venues that included opera companies where he held top managerial positions. One accuser said Domingo stuck his hand down her skirt and three others said he forced wet kisses on their lips — in a dressing room, a hotel room and at a lunch meeting. … The AP also spoke to almost three dozen other singers, dancers, orchestra musicians, members of backstage staff, voice teachers and an administrator who said they witnessed inappropriate sexually tinged behavior by Domingo and that he pursued younger women with impunity. ...

"Two of the women said they briefly gave in to Domingo's advances, feeling they couldn't risk jeopardizing their careers by saying no to the most powerful man in their profession. One of them said she had sex with him twice, including at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles. When Domingo left for a performance, the woman said, he put $10 on the dresser, saying, 'I don't want you to feel like a prostitute, but I also don't want you to have to pay to park.' … She said the superstar mentioned his 'superstition that he had to be with a woman before a show' to help him relax and calm his nerves. … She cut off physical contact after the second encounter, a move she is convinced derailed her career at LA Opera. ... Seven of the nine accusers told the AP they feel their careers were adversely impacted after rejecting Domingo's advances. ...

"Domingo did not respond to detailed questions from the AP about specific incidents, but issued a statement saying: 'The allegations from these unnamed individuals dating back as many as thirty years are deeply troubling, and as presented, inaccurate. Still, it is painful to hear that I may have upset anyone or made them feel uncomfortable — no matter how long ago and despite my best intentions.'"

6 animals saved by the Endangered Species Act

THE DOMESTIC AGENDA:

-- The Trump administration took its final step to weaken the Endangered Species Act of 1973, a bedrock law that brought the bald eagle, the American alligator, the California condor, the humpback whale and the grizzly bear back from the brink of extinction. Darryl Fears reports: "New rules will allow the administration to reduce the amount of habitat set aside for wildlife and remove tools that officials use to predict future harm to species as a result of climate change. It would also reveal for the first time in the law's 45-year history the financial costs of protecting them. The long-anticipated changes, jointly announced by the Interior and Commerce departments, were undertaken as part of President Trump's mandate to scale back government regulations on corporations, including the oil and gas industry, that want to drill on protected land.

"Within hours of Monday's announcement, the state attorneys general of California and Massachusetts joined a conservation group, Defenders of Wildlife, in declaring the changes illegal and vowing to challenge them in court. In May, a U.N. report on world biodiversity found that 1 million plant and animal species are on the verge of extinction, with alarming implications for human survival. The report, written by seven experts from universities around the world, directly linked the loss of species to human activity and showed how those losses are undermining food and water security, along with human health. More plants and animals are threatened with extinction now than at any other period in human history, the report said.

"Under the administration's new rules, it would have been nearly impossible to designate the polar bear as threatened in 2010 because of the loss of sea ice in the Arctic, one of the fastest-warming areas in the world. Nearly 200,000 square miles of barrier islands in Alaska were listed as critical habitat. Officials relied on climate models to predict how warming would impact polar bear habitat more than 80 years into the future. The new rules called such predictions into doubt and said officials can now only determine impacts in what it described, vaguely, as the 'foreseeable future.' … In responses to comments submitted to the proposed rule changes, administration officials argued that they were not discounting climate science, only asserting that climate projections were uncertain.

"The new rules would also limit the area of land that can be protected to help species recover and survive. Currently, land that plants and animals occupy is set aside for their protection, in addition to areas that they once occupied or might need in the future. Now, critical habitat that is not occupied might not be protected, opening it up for oil and gas exploration or other forms of development." Don't kid yourself: That's the whole point of this. It's all about extraction.

-- Extreme climate change has arrived in America. Steven Mufson, Chris Mooney, Juliet Eilperin and John Muyskens report from Lake Hopatcong, N.J.: "Before climate change thawed the winters of New Jersey, this lake hosted boisterous wintertime carnivals. As many as 15,000 skaters took part, and automobile owners would drive onto the thick ice. … In those days before widespread refrigeration, workers flocked here to harvest ice. They would carve blocks as much as two feet thick, float them to giant ice houses, sprinkle them with sawdust and load them onto rail cars bound for ice boxes in New York City and beyond. 'These winters do not exist anymore,' says Marty Kane, a lawyer and head of the Lake Hopatcong Foundation. That's because a century of climbing temperatures has changed the character of the Garden State. The massive ice industry and skate sailing association are but black-and-white photographs at the local museum. … New Jersey may seem an unlikely place to measure climate change, but it is one of the fastest-warming states in the nation. Its average temperature has climbed by close to 2 degrees Celsius since 1895 — double the average for the Lower 48 states. …

"Over the past two decades, the 2 degrees Celsius number has emerged as a critical threshold for global warming. … A Washington Post analysis of more than a century of National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration temperature data across the Lower 48 states and 3,107 counties has found that major areas are nearing or have already crossed the 2-degree Celsius mark. … To find the world's 2C hot spots, its fastest-warming places, The Post analyzed temperature databases, including those kept by NASA and NOAA; peer-reviewed scientific studies; and reports by local climatologists. The global data sets draw upon thousands of land-based weather stations and other measurements, such as ocean buoys armed with sensors and ship logs dating as far back as 1850. In any one geographic location, 2 degrees Celsius may not represent global cataclysmic change, but it can threaten ecosystems, change landscapes and upend livelihoods and cultures."

Federal charges against Dayton shooter's friend filed

-- A friend of the Dayton shooter bought him body armor and helped him assemble his weapon, the FBI said. Mark Berman reports: "Those details were included in a criminal complaint charging the friend — Ethan Kollie, 24 — with two counts related to his purchase and possession of firearms. Neither count relates to the shooting itself. Benjamin C. Glassman, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Ohio, stressed that while the charges emerged from the investigation into the Dayton shooting, they included no suggestion that Kollie knowingly played a role in plotting the attack. 'Mr. Kollie does not stand accused of intentionally participating in the planning of that shooting,' Glassman said at a news briefing. 'We have no evidence of that. There's no allegation of that.' … Jail records showed that Kollie was arrested Friday evening, the same day the criminal complaint was filed. Kollie was charged with possessing a firearm while being an unlawful user of a controlled substance and making a false statement regarding firearms."

-- A fourth member of the National Rifle Association's board resigned amid upheaval. Tom Hamburger reports: "Professional sport shooter Julie Golob, a regular on shooting shows who has won multiple competitions and is an advocate for women's use of firearms, did not state a reason for her departure in a note posted on her website. 'I am proud to have had the opportunity to represent the members of the NRA but I can no longer commit to fulfilling the duties of a director,' she wrote. … The NRA has a 76-member board of directors, most of whom continue to defend the current NRA leadership, which has been under siege in recent months."

Barr believes there were 'Irregularities' at jail where Epstein died

-- Attorney General Bill Barr lashed out against the "failure" of federal prison officials to keep Jeffrey Epstein alive. Matt Zapotosky, Devlin Barrett and Rachel Weiner report: "Barr's comments underscored the Weiner report." Barr's comments underscored the increasing scrutiny on the Federal Bureau of Prisons and the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, where Epstein, 66, was found hanging in his cell on Saturday. … Barr made clear, too, that federal prosecutors' investigation of those who might have facilitated Epstein's alleged sex abuse of minors will continue, even if Epstein can no longer be prosecuted. Epstein was in jail awaiting a trial on new federal sex trafficking charges. … Speaking to law enforcement officials in New Orleans, the country's top law enforcement official said he 'was appalled . . . and, frankly, angry' to learn of the Metropolitan Correctional Center's 'failure to adequately secure' Epstein."

-- "The Day Jeffrey Epstein Told Me He Had Dirt on Powerful People," from the Times's James Stewart: "Almost exactly a year ago, on Aug. 16, 2018, I visited Jeffrey Epstein at his cavernous Manhattan mansion. The overriding impression I took away from our roughly 90-minute conversation was that Mr. Epstein knew an astonishing number of rich, famous and powerful people, and had photos to prove it. He also claimed to know a great deal about these people, some of it potentially damaging or embarrassing, including details about their supposed sexual proclivities and recreational drug use. So one of my first thoughts on hearing of Mr. Epstein's suicide was that many prominent men and at least a few women must be breathing sighs of relief that whatever Mr. Epstein knew, he has taken it with him."

Booneville Discount Drugs in Kentucky sold a huge volume of opioid pills. Former pharmacy owner James Carrico was arrested and had to pay a settlement at one point. (Michael S. Williamson/The Washington Post)

-- Nearly 35 billion opioids — half of the pills distributed in the country — were handled by just 15 percent of pharmacies. Jenn Abelson, Andrew Ba Tran, Beth Reinhard and Aaron C. Davis report: "With the release and analysis of a federal database tracking every pain pill sold in the United States at the height of the opioid crisis, one Clinton County pharmacy has come into sharp focus: Shearer Drug [in Albany, Ky.] … The family-run pharmacy purchased nearly 6.8 million pills that contained hydrocodone and oxycodone from 2006 through 2012 — enough to give 96 pills each year to every person in the county of roughly 10,000 residents. During this period, Shearer Drug procured more opioid pills on a per capita basis per county than any other retail pharmacy in the United States … Shearer Drug is among thousands of small, independent pharmacies — from Smith County Drug Center in Carthage, Tenn., to Zion Pharmacy in Kanab, Utah — that handled large volumes of hydrocodone and oxycodone from 2006 through 2012 and until now have largely avoided publicity for their roles in the epidemic. … Some of the pharmacies reviewed by The Post have had trouble with regulators or law enforcement, but for others there is no public record of any scrutiny by authorities."

-- If you want to know how many pain pills went to your pharmacy, a team of Post reporters and designers created a searchable database that you can find here.

-- In an op-ed for the Times, former Senate majority leader Harry Reid (D-Nev.) called on the Senate to abolish the filibuster in all its forms, saying it is "suffocating" the will of the American people: "If a Democratic president wants to tackle the most important issues facing our country, then he or she must have the ability to do so — and that means curtailing Republicans' ability to stifle the will of the American people. It's time to allow a simple majority vote instead of the 60-vote threshold now required for legislation. When the American people demand change and elect a new Senate, a new majority leader must be able to respond to that call and pass legislation. The list of issues stalled by the Senate filibuster is enormous — and still growing."

-- The U.S. budget deficit is up 27 percent — another $119.7 billion — meaning it is inching closer to hitting $1 trillion. From CNBC: "That brings the fiscal year deficit through July to $866.8 billion, a little over a year and a half after the Trump administration ushered through a $1.5 trillion tax cut that the White House has vowed would pay for itself. At this point last year, the deficit was $684 billion."

Demonstrators in Hong Kong belt out 'Do You Hear the People Sing?' from 'Les Miserables'

THE NEW WORLD ORDER:

-- Protesters reoccupied the Hong Kong airport today.

Protesters reoccupied the Hong Kong airport today, disrupting flights for a second day of demonstrations. Gerry Shih and Timothy McLaughlin report: "After mass cancellations the previous evening, flights had been gradually returning to normal throughout Tuesday, though still with disruptions, as thousands of black-clad demonstrators sat in the terminal with placards denouncing police brutality and calling for freedom for Hong Kong. But by early evening, with protesters using luggage carts as barricades and blocking departing passengers, airport authorities said they were 'temporarily suspending' check-in at both terminals. Arguments erupted between passengers and protesters, with some passengers crying and saying they just wanted to get home. …

"Carrie Lam, Hong Kong's leader, said the city risked being 'pushed into an abyss.' As the summer of unrest rolls on, the situation is becoming increasingly tense. Statements from Chinese government officials and state media have grown steadily more shrill, accusing protesters of 'terrorism' and warning of an impending crackdown in the semiautonomous financial center."

-- The Post's Editorial Board calls on Chinese President Xi Jinping to open serious negotiations with the protesters on their demands, which it calls quite reasonable: "Cinching the noose ever tighter, as the Chinese government has done in recent weeks, is the pathway to a dead end that could harm both Hong Kong and mainland China economically as well as politically. A cliff looms, and China's leaders should turn back before it is too late."

-- Big brands are apologizing to China for identifying the semiautonomous territory — and other Chinese-claimed lands as independent countries. Jennifer Hassan and Anna Fifield report: "From Versace to Givenchy, brands have swiftly offered apologies to China over their references to Hong Kong, Taiwan and Macao on their websites and on items of clothing. The online backlash and calls to boycott the brands come at a highly sensitive time for China, with Hong Kong rocked by protests — which kicked off in June — over concerns that Beijing is encroaching on the territory's autonomy."

-- Stocks dipped on fears that Trump's trade war could hasten a looming global recession. From [redacted] Heath: "'The escalating trade tensions, combined with low volume and traditionally weaker-than-average price returns in August and September, are contributing to a re-test of last week's low for the S&P 500,' said Sam Stovall of CFRA Research. … Several factors have contributed to the market turbulence in recent sessions, including China's threat to devalue its currency, massive protests in Hong Kong that could prompt a response from the Chinese government, an escalation of the U.S.-China trade war and a flight to bonds. Goldman Sachs chief economist Jan Hatzius said he does not expect a U.S.-China trade deal before the 2020 election in a note he released over the weekend. … Monday's decline follows a turbulent start to August, which is historically one of the worst months of the year for stocks. But the trade war with China is casting a pall over the global economy, threatening a decade-long U.S. boom that had pushed stocks to all-time highs."

-- Bank of America sees a greater than 30 percent chance that the economy will fall into a recession in the next year, partly as a result of the trade war and a global economic slowdown. (CNBC)

-- Such a recession could undermine Trump's reelection, writes Aaron Blake: "His approval rating already languishes in the low to mid-40s, even with a strong economy and an unemployment rate at 3.7 percent. … We're so polarized that a slight downturn in the economy might not cost him a huge amount of support — especially if he can persuade his supporters to blame the Federal Reserve or that the trade war is worth the momentary economic pain — but he simply can't afford to lose much support, period."

-- Farmers support Trump's tariff fight, even though they don't think it helps them. From NBC News: "For months, analysts have been wondering if the economic hits farmers are taking might come back to bite the White House. Up to now, anecdotal reporting has shown little erosion of support for Trump and a survey from academics at Iowa State University of 700 farmers in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota seems to back that reporting. The survey, led by ISU Professor Wendong Zhang, found that 57 percent of those farmers somewhat or strongly supported the U.S.

tariffs on Chinese goods that brought retaliatory tariffs from the Chinese government. Another 14 percent had neutral feelings about them. Only 30 percent somewhat or strongly opposed the tariffs … [But] only 14 percent of the farmers surveyed said, a year from now, 'My farm operation will be better off financially because of this trade disruption.' And only 20 percent said that, in a year, 'U.S. agriculture will be better off compared to now because of this trade disruption.' Meanwhile, more than three quarters said, 'American farmers will bear the brunt of the tariffs imposed by the Chinese government.'"

A health worker fills a syringe with the Ebola vaccine before injecting it into a patient in Congo last week. (Baz Ratner/Reuters)

-- Here's some good news: Scientists say Ebola is no longer "incurable" after the discovery of two highly effective drugs. Claire Parker reports: "The drugs, tested in a nearly nine-month clinical trial, have performed so well that health professionals will now administer them to every patient in Congo. … Jean-Jacques Muyembe Tamfum, a Congolese doctor who has spent his career researching Ebola treatments and oversaw the trial on the ground, said in a conference call Monday that he 'could not have imagined' that such a day would come. 'From now on, we will no longer say that Ebola is incurable,' he said. But in a place where suspicion of health workers and violent conflict are widespread, finding effective medical therapies is only half the battle, experts say."

-- Russia held funerals for five of the nuclear workers who died while testing a new missile that some international observers believe could've been a new nuclear weapon. Will Englund reports: "Russian officials said they will try to determine what went wrong and how to avoid another such accident in the future. … Also Monday, Valentin Kostyukov, director of the center in Sarov, said on local television that researchers from the institute had been working at the northern test site for a year. Rosatom's chief, Alexei Likhachev, said work on the new weapon would continue, without specifying what that weapon is."

-- A 65-year-old former Pakistani military officer has been credited with stopping a gunman from attacking a mosque in Norway. Rick Noack reports: "Mohammad Rafiq said he threw the gunman to the ground after the man entered the al-Noor Islamic Center in Baerum near the Norwegian capital of Oslo on Saturday, before the two other men inside the mosque rushed to help him pin down the gunman. … The attempted attack on the al-Noor center happened a day before Muslims around the world celebrate Eid al-Adha, one of the most important holidays on the Islamic calendar marking the end of the Hajj pilgrimage. Rafiq and the two others had been at the al-Noor mosque preparing for the festivities."

-- India continues silencing those who oppose its crackdown on Kashmir. From Nina Masih and Joanna Slater: "Ever since India announced a move to strip Kashmir of its autonomy one week ago, residents of this disputed region have been unable to make phone calls, access the Internet or move freely. They also have heard nothing from local political leaders, because many of them have been detained and held incommunicado, part of an unprecedented clampdown that has muffled the public response to India's decision. … To maintain control, India has sent thousands of additional troops to Kashmir and detained hundreds of local politicians and party workers."

Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.) gets a corn dog at the Iowa State Fair. (Salwan Georges/The Washington Post)

2020 WATCH:

-- "These candidates are not polling well. But at the Iowa State Fair, they're stars," Holly Bailey reports from Des Moines: "Amy Klobuchar stood over the searing heat of a smoking grill to flip pork chops. … By the time the senator from Minnesota left the fair Saturday night, she had spent nearly eight hours on the ground, smiling and shaking hands and doing all the things that White House aspirants do when they make their quadrennial pilgrimage to this playground of fried food and presidential politics. … For Klobuchar and other Democrats stuck near the bottom of the polls in a historically large field, the Iowa State Fair offered one of the brightest spotlights of the election contest so far, outside of the debates. These hopefuls addressed some of the largest crowds of their campaigns at the soapbox and attracted outsize media attention from the nearly 800 reporters and photographers credentialed for this year's fair, far more than in any other year."

Several candidates walking around the fair this weekend, including Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand (D-N.Y.), former housing and urban development secretary Julián Castro and New York Mayor Bill de Blasio haven't qualified for next month's primary debate, so their time there was precious: "On Friday, Castro walked the fairgrounds with his family, trailed by a large media contingent that captured every little moment — including when the candidate stepped in cow manure while visiting one of the livestock barns. Castro simply walked on. … On Saturday, Gillibrand spent hours at the fair, walking the grounds with her husband and two young sons. …
She devoted most of her speech [at the fair's political soapbox] to making the case for her struggling candidacy and asking voters to donate to keep her 2020 aspirations going."

-- Bernie Sanders is making health care his defining issue, but will it work? Sean Sullivan reports: "'You talk like 'universal health care,' 'health care for all,' what does it mean?' Sanders told reporters on a muggy Sunday afternoon at the Iowa State Fair, referencing phrases other White House hopefuls have used. Reprising a line he used in a recent debate, he said, 'As some of you may know, I wrote the damn bill. All right? I know a little bit about it.' But it's not clear if the emboldened approach will help Sanders or compound his troubles. Critics have raised concerns or compound his troubles. Critics have raised concerns about ending private insurance and raising taxes to pay for the proposal. … And voters are showing more uncertainty about Medicare-for-all at Democratic events. Another challenge, some Democrats say, is that Sanders is no longer the only major candidate supporting Medicare-for-all, potentially making him a victim of his own success."

-- Sanders also launched a baseless attack against The Washington Post, accusing the publication of biased coverage because of his criticism of Amazon. Felicia Sonmez reports: "The Post is owned by [redacted] Bezos, the founder and chief executive of Amazon, and operates independently of Amazon. At his town hall Monday in Wolfeboro, N.H., Sanders asked the audience, 'Anybody here know how much Amazon paid in taxes last year?' 'Nothing!' some in the crowd replied. 'See, I talk about that all of the time,' Sanders replied. 'And then I wonder why The Washington Post — which is owned by [redacted] Bezos, who owns Amazon — doesn't write particularly good articles about me. I don't know why. But I guess maybe there's a connection. Maybe we helped raise the minimum wage at Amazon to 15 bucks an hour as well.'"

-- Rep. Tulsi Gabbard (D-Hawaii) will take a two-week leave of absence from her presidential campaign to report for active duty with the Hawaiian Army National Guard in Indonesia. "I love our country. I love being able to serve our country in so many ways including as a soldier," she said. "And so while some people are telling me, like she said. "And so while some people are telling me, like gosh this is a terrible time to leave the campaign, can't you find a way out of it? You know that's not what this is about." (CBS News)

-- The fear of being called "racist" is the new "cultural anxiety" for Trump supporters. Eugene Scott explains: "Fear of being accused of backing a white supremacist worldview caused many Trump fans to remain silent about their support for the real estate developer or to publicly express support for someone else while privately backing Trump. Today, on the second anniversary of the Charlottesville violence that led the president to call neo-Nazis 'very good people,' and as the president's overall approval ratings remain relatively low, many of those who brought him to the dance appear to be dancing more closely than ever. And they are blaming their critics for their faithfulness to a man whom writer Ta-Nehisi [redacted] called 'America's first white president.' … Many Trump supporters express indignation at being labeled racist, but the worldview they admittedly embrace demonstrates a hostility to diversity."

-- Politicizing the judicial branch and further eroding the legitimacy of the Supreme Court, the reelection campaigns for Trump and Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) are selling "Back-to-Back Supreme Court Champs" T-shirts that include references to Neil Gorsuch and Brett Kavanaugh. From Felicia Sonmez: "The black T-shirt features the silhouettes of Trump and McConnell on the front and the names of Gorsuch and McConnell on the front and the names of Gorsuch and Kavanaugh on its sleeves. It is available to supporters who make a donation of $35 or more through a joint fundraising site set up by both campaigns."

-- Stacey Abrams is taking her voting rights crusade national by launching a voter protection program in battleground states ahead of the presidential election. Vanessa Williams reports: "The initiative, called 'Fair Fight 2020,' takes its name from the organization that the Georgia Democrat founded last year after narrowly losing her bid to become the nation's first black female governor. Abrams is set to announce the program Tuesday during a speech at the convention of the International Union of Painters and Allied Trades in Las Vegas."

New polls identify fault lines inside the GOP over Trump's immigration agenda and treatment of asylum seekers

with Mariana Alfaro

THE BIG IDEA: President Trump is building his reelection campaign around the same brand of nativism that energized tens of millions of aggrieved whites and got him elected in 2016. Because of the verities of the electoral college, there is a body of evidence that suggests doubling down on an agenda of exclusion will work in 2020. But three new polls also pinpoint fault lines within the GOP on the immigration issue that the president's opponents might capitalize on – if they're able to figure out how to swim against the leftward rip current that threatens to drown the eventual Democratic nominee.

-- A Gallup poll released this morning shows growing support for allowing refugees from Central America into the United States. In December, 51 percent of Americans approved of accepting refugees from the countries in the Northern Triangle, which refers to Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador. Now it's 57 percent. Democrats remain overwhelmingly supportive – more than 8 in 10 say America's doors should be open – but the number of Republicans who say they want to take in Central American refugees has risen from 14 percent to 24 percent. Approval among independents also increased from 52 percent in December to 58 percent today.

"Support for allowing Central American refugees entry is now higher than Gallup has found for most refugee cases it has polled on historically, including Syrian refugees in 2015 as well as stretching back to refugees from the German Holocaust in the 1930s and 40s," said Gallup analyst Justin McCarthy. "If support for Central American refugee entry continues to increase, this could jeopardize Trump's immigration-related initiatives."

While 52 percent of Republicans surveyed by Gallup say that what's happening at our southern border is a "crisis" – Trump's preferred word – another 36 percent say it's more appropriate to characterize what's going on as "a major problem."

-- A Pew Research Center poll published yesterday afternoon shows that, while there is overwhelming support on the right for reducing the total number of people coming into the United States from Central America, 37 percent of Republicans want to make it easier for those who are seeking asylum from those countries to be granted legal status. As a reminder, asylum seekers are legal immigrants who are seeking to enter the United States on the grounds that their lives are in danger if they stay in their native land.

A sizable 44 percent minority of Republicans said that the Trump administration is doing a bad job at dealing with the increased number of asylum seekers at the border. The majority, 55 percent, said the government is doing a good job. As a point of comparison, 84 percent of Democrats agree that the government is doing a bad job. (Across the board, Trump's immigration policies continue to be overwhelmingly, sometimes close to unanimously, unpopular among Democrats.)

A girl rests her head on a bench yesterday in the Border Patrol processing center in McAllen. Some of the minors held at the center are unaccompanied and others crossed with their families, but after a certain age, they are held in a separate area within the same building as their parents. (Carolyn Van Houten/The Washington Post)

-- Quinnipiac University's most recent national poll found that 42 percent of Republicans believe that the conditions in immigration detention centers at the southern border are a serious problem, while 43 percent do not think so. Another 14 percent are not sure. Overall, 68 percent of respondents in the poll – released the week before last – said the conditions are a serious problem and 23 percent said they are not. The Q-poll found that 49 percent of Republicans believe immigration is good for the country while 32 percent say it's bad. Overall, 70 percent of Americans think immigration is a net positive while 17 percent – mostly Republicans – think it's bad.

-- In other notable dividing lines, the Pew poll found that a 51 percent majority of Republicans want the federal government to provide more assistance to the countries in Central America where most of the asylum seekers are coming from. This could help alleviate some of the underlying problems that are prompting so many people to embark on the dangerous journey north. But Trump has pushed relentlessly to cut this aid. Experts warn that this may exacerbate the already terrible conditions on the ground and thereby make the U.S. an even stronger magnet for the folks he wants to deter.

-- On three questions posed by the Pew poll, Republicans were split on their views of undocumented immigrants as people: They are almost evenly divided on the question of whether undocumented immigrants are more likely to commit serious crimes than U.S. citizens, with 49 percent saying they are and 46 percent saying they're not. Trump has peddled the false narrative that immigrants writ large are more violent, and the prime-time hosts on Fox News have abetted him in this, but several studies have shown that's not the case.

While 42 percent of Republicans say that undocumented immigrants are not as honest and hard-working as U.S. citizens, 54 percent say they are just as honest and hard-working – if not more so.

While 64 percent of Republicans say undocumented immigrants mostly fill jobs that U.S. citizens don't want to do, 32 percent say they're taking away jobs that U.S. citizens would be willing to do if they had the chance.

Recently detained migrants, many of them families, await processing on Monday at the Border Patrol Central Processing Center in McAllen, Tex. (Carolyn Van Houten/The Washington Post)

-- Bigger picture, the Pew poll found that 40 percent of Americans say they agree with the Democratic Party's approach to "illegal immigration" and 39 percent say they agree with the Republican Party's. The rest – 1 in 5 U.S. adults – say they disagree with both parties. Three in 4 Republicans say they generally agree with their party's approach to "illegal immigration," the term used by the pollsters, but stark differences emerged when the pollsters drilled into details and asked about specifics.

Republican partisans have moved Trump's direction somewhat in their general attitudes toward immigration, a reflection of the power of any president's bully pulpit and the potency of this president's anti-immigration fixation. In March 2017, soon after

Trump took office, Pew found 61 percent of Republicans believed there should be a way for undocumented immigrants to stay in the country legally if certain requirements are met. That's slipped to 54 percent in the poll released yesterday. Now, 45 percent of Republicans say undocumented immigrants should not be allowed to stay here. Democratic views are unchanged: About 9 in 10 of them supported a path to citizenship then and still do now.

"In a follow-up question, most of those who are against a path to legal status for undocumented immigrants say they would support a national law enforcement effort to deport all immigrants who are now living in the U.S. illegally," Pew's pollsters write in a note accompanying their data. "Overall, 23% of the public opposes legal status for undocumented immigrants and supports a national effort to deport all immigrants living in the country illegally. Among Republicans and Republican leaners, 42% – including nearly half (49%) of conservative Republicans -- would support an effort to deport all undocumented immigrants in the U.S."

-- To be sure, there is an undeniable constituency inside the GOP for treating migrants with some degree of cruelty, but they are in the minority. For example, just over a quarter of Republicans in the Pew poll do not think it is important for the federal government to provide safe and sanitary conditions for asylum seekers. Another 41 percent of Republicans say it's "somewhat" important that people get safe and sanitary conditions while in U.S. government custody, and 32 percent say it's very important. For context, more than 90 percent of Democrats say it's important that asylum seekers receive access to safe and sanitary conditions.

The federal government is required under a consent decree to provide "safe and sanitary" conditions to migrant children. But a Justice Department lawyer argued during a June court hearing, which went viral, that the federal government is not legally required to provide toothbrushes, soap or towels to fulfill that requirement because those amenities were not explicitly mentioned in the 1997 agreement.

Trump administration to penalize legal migrants who use public benefits

MORE FROM THE FRONT LINES ON THE IMMIGRATION WARS:

-- Immigrants who live legally in the United States and use public benefits — such as Medicaid, food stamps or housing assistance — could find it harder to get a green card under a policy change unveiled yesterday by the Trump administration. Abigail Hauslohner, Nick Miroff, Maria Sacchetti and Tracy Jan report: "The new criteria for 'Inadmissibility on Public Charge Grounds,' due to take effect Oct. 15, will set stricter standards for applicants seeking legal permanent residency in the United States, criteria that will skew the process in favor of the highly skilled, high-income immigrants Trump covets. … 'Through the public charge rule, President Trump's administration is reinforcing the ideals of self-sufficiency and personal responsibility, ensuring that immigrants are able to support themselves and become successful here in America,' said acting director of U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services Ken Cuccinelli. …

"Analysts say the public charge change could dramatically reduce family-based legal immigration to the United States, particularly from Latin America and Africa, where incomes are generally lower than the rest of the world. It also could lead to an increase in deportations, as those present with some form of provisional or temporary immigration status in the United States are denied legal residency. … Advocates for immigrants say the new rule could narrow the pool of people who are eligible for green cards, which are necessary to get on the path to U.S. citizenship, effectively blocking immigrants who live in poverty from having a chance at naturalization. … Cuccinelli said the change would benefit U.S. taxpayers by selecting better candidates for U.S. citizenship."

-- "Trump's claim that he supports legal immigration turns out to be a lie," Eugene Robinson writes in his column: "Long advocated by White House adviser Stephen Miller, the Torquemada of the immigration inquisition, the new policy is a major step in Trump's crusade to Make America White Again. If it survives court challenges, the new rule could dramatically reduce legal — I repeat, legal — immigration from low-income countries. Not just coincidentally, I am sure, this means fewer black and brown people would be granted resident status. Trump's message to the world: Keep your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free. As he memorably and disgracefully put it: 'Our Country is FULL!'"

-- Our Arelis Hernández got a glimpse inside the Central Processing Center, the Border Patrol's largest holding facility, where nearly 1,300 migrants wait to be released, deported or transferred: "Unaccompanied children are separated by gender and kept in distinct pens, where they have access to crackers, juice and chips. A television runs programming for all hours except mealtimes, and they can choose to don provided sweatpants, T-shirts and shoes. 'Children are held on average about 26 hours in custody,' said Oscar Escamilla, acting deputy Border Patrol agent-in-charge, who led a brief tour through the center … During the tour, journalists were not permitted to talk to the migrants in custody, and most shied away from the cameras. Many retreated deeper within their pens and turned away. …

"Parents with children are held in separate enclosures, where dozens of men and women sat on metal benches or laid across gym mats on the concrete floor. … Tired men bounced little boys on their knees, children munched on apples and others hid beneath blankets in the cell adjacent to a play area with a plastic playpen and a few toys … Inside each section of cells, a guard monitors camera footage and keeps watch from a small tower elevated about eight feet from the ground. … Between each holding area is a sanitation station containing about a dozen portable toilets and sinks that are cleaned twice a day. There was no escaping the foul stench of days of accumulated dirt, sweat and waste."

New Trump rule targets legal immigrants

-- That U.S. Border Patrol agent who intentionally rammed his truck into a Guatemalan migrant in 2017, and referred in text messages to migrants as "subhuman" and "mindless murdering savages," got a plea deal that allowed him to accept guilt for a single misdemeanor charge. From the New York Times: "The agent, Matthew Bowen, who was stationed in Nogales, will face up to one year in prison and could be fined $100,000 when he is sentenced on Oct. 15 for deprivation of rights under color of law, according to the plea agreement. Mr. Bowen also said in the plea agreement that he would resign from the Border Patrol. He was suspended in June 2018."

- "I intentionally struck him with an unreasonable amount of force," Bowen writes in his plea agreement that was filed with the court, adding that his actions were "not justified" and violated the rights of the migrant.
- Read more on his texts. I cited this case as one of several examples of the Border Patrol's broader cultural problems in a Big Idea last month.

-- Guatemala's new president-elect, Alejandro Giammattei, could stir up trouble for Trump on the immigration front. From CNN:

“Giammattei has been outspoken in his opposition to a migration deal that his predecessor, Jimmy Morales, signed with the United States last month. … When does this deal come into force? Signed hastily by the outgoing administration, it has already been opposed by the Guatemalan Constitutional Court, who ruled its Congress has to decide on any safe third country agreements. But it is scheduled to come into effect in mid-August -- unless of course Giammattei sticks to his word and blocks it. But there's a catch: Guatemala's elite. They also have an outsized view, likely heard in the country's corridors of power. The prospect of Trump's wrath -- he has already cut aid to the economically troubled nation, and flatly threatened destructive tariffs if the deal isn't put into force -- will trouble them.”

-- The migrant crisis is moving south, to Mexican border towns, as a result of Trump’s “Remain in Mexico” policy. From NPR: “A month ago, if you came to the sun-blasted plaza in Matamoros, Mexico, at the foot of the International Bridge, it would have been full of asylum-seekers waiting to be let into America. They were haggard, but there was hope in their faces. Today they're still here, lying about dejectedly, seeking shade from the brutal summer heat, and they're gloomy about their fate.”

-- But others keep coming: One person is missing after U.S. officials rescued 14 people from the Rio Grande. Three other people were taken to the hospital with non-life-threatening injuries, and the other 11 members of the group remain in custody. (CNN)

WHILE YOU WERE SLEEPING:

Sonya Yoncheva and Plácido Domingo sing in a performance last year of Verdi's "Luisa Miller" at the Metropolitan Opera. (Chris [redacted]/Metropolitan Opera/AP)

-- Numerous women accuse opera legend Plácido Domingo of pressuring them into sexual relationships and punishing them professionally when they refused his advances. From the AP: "Eight singers and a dancer have told the AP that they were sexually harassed by the long-married, Spanish-born superstar in encounters that took place over three decades beginning in the late 1980s, at venues that included opera companies where he held top managerial positions. One accuser said Domingo stuck his hand down her skirt and three others said he forced wet kisses on their lips — in a dressing room, a hotel room and at a lunch meeting. … The AP also spoke to almost three dozen other singers, dancers, orchestra musicians, members of backstage staff, voice teachers and an administrator who said they witnessed inappropriate sexually tinged behavior by Domingo and that he pursued younger women with impunity. ...

"Two of the women said they briefly gave in to Domingo's advances, feeling they couldn't risk jeopardizing their careers by saying no to the most powerful man in their profession. One of them said she had sex with him twice, including at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles. When Domingo left for a performance, the woman said, he put $10 on the dresser, saying, 'I don't want you to feel like a prostitute, but I also don't want you to have to pay to park.' … She said the superstar mentioned his 'superstition that he had to be with a woman before a show' to help him relax and calm his nerves. … She cut off physical contact after the second encounter, a move she is convinced derailed her career at LA Opera. ... Seven of the nine accusers told the AP they feel their careers were adversely impacted after rejecting Domingo's advances. ...

"Domingo did not respond to detailed questions from the AP about specific incidents, but issued a statement saying: 'The allegations from these unnamed individuals dating back as many as thirty years are deeply troubling, and as presented, inaccurate. Still, it is painful to hear that I may have upset anyone or made them feel uncomfortable — no matter how long ago and despite my best intentions.'"

6 animals saved by the Endangered Species Act

THE DOMESTIC AGENDA:

-- The Trump administration took its final step to weaken the Endangered Species Act of 1973, a bedrock law that brought the bald eagle, the American alligator, the California condor, the humpback whale and the grizzly bear back from the brink of extinction. Darryl Fears reports: "New rules will allow the administration to reduce the amount of habitat set aside for wildlife and remove tools that officials use to predict future harm to species as a result of climate change. It would also reveal for the first time in the law's 45-year history the financial costs of protecting them. The long-anticipated changes, jointly announced by the Interior and Commerce departments, were undertaken as part of President Trump's mandate to scale back government regulations on corporations, including the oil and gas industry, that want to drill on protected land.

"Within hours of Monday's announcement, the state attorneys general of California and Massachusetts joined a conservation group, Defenders of Wildlife, in declaring the changes illegal and vowing to challenge them in court. In May, a U.N. report on world biodiversity found that 1 million plant and animal species are on the verge of extinction, with alarming implications for human survival. The report, written by seven experts from universities around the world, directly linked the loss of species to human activity and showed how those losses are undermining food and water security, along with human health. More plants and animals are threatened with extinction now than at any other period in human history, the report said.

"Under the administration's new rules, it would have been nearly impossible to designate the polar bear as threatened in 2010 because of the loss of sea ice in the Arctic, one of the fastest-warming areas in the world. Nearly 200,000 square miles of barrier islands in Alaska were listed as critical habitat. Officials relied on climate models to predict how warming would impact polar bear habitat more than 80 years into the future. The new rules called such predictions into doubt and said officials can now only determine impacts in what it described, vaguely, as the 'foreseeable future.' … In responses to comments submitted to the proposed rule changes, administration officials argued that they were not discounting climate science, only asserting that climate projections were uncertain.

"The new rules would also limit the area of land that can be protected to help species recover and survive. Currently, land that plants and animals occupy is set aside for their protection, in addition to areas that they once occupied or might need in the future. Now, critical habitat that is not occupied might not be protected, opening it up for oil and gas exploration or other forms of development." Don't kid yourself: That's the whole point of this. It's all about extraction.

-- Extreme climate change has arrived in America. Steven Mufson, Chris Mooney, Juliet Eilperin and John Muyskens report from Lake

Hopatcong, N.J.: “Before climate change thawed the winters of New Jersey, this lake hosted boisterous wintertime carnivals. As many as 15,000 skaters took part, and automobile owners would drive onto the thick ice. … In those days before widespread refrigeration, workers flocked here to harvest ice. They would carve blocks as much as two feet thick, float them to giant ice houses, sprinkle them with sawdust and load them onto rail cars bound for ice boxes in New York City and beyond. ‘These winters do not exist anymore,’ says Marty Kane, a lawyer and head of the Lake Hopatcong Foundation. That’s because a century of climbing temperatures has changed the character of the Garden State. The massive ice industry and skate sailing association are but black-and-white photographs at the local museum. … New Jersey may seem an unlikely place to measure climate change, but it is one of the fastest-warming states in the nation. Its average temperature has climbed by close to 2 degrees Celsius since 1895 — double the average for the Lower 48 states. …

“Over the past two decades, the 2 degrees Celsius number has emerged as a critical threshold for global warming. … A Washington Post analysis of more than a century of National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration temperature data across the Lower 48 states and 3,107 counties has found that major areas are nearing or have already crossed the 2-degree Celsius mark. … To find the world’s 2C hot spots, its fastest-warming places, The Post analyzed temperature databases, including those kept by NASA and NOAA; peer-reviewed scientific studies; and reports by local climatologists. The global data sets draw upon thousands of land-based weather stations and other measurements, such as ocean buoys armed with sensors and ship logs dating as far back as 1850. In any one geographic location, 2 degrees Celsius may not represent global cataclysmic change, but it can threaten ecosystems, change landscapes and upend livelihoods and cultures.”

-- A friend of the Dayton shooter bought him body armor and helped him assemble his weapon, the FBI said. Mark Berman reports: "Those details were included in a criminal complaint charging the friend — Ethan Kollie, 24 — with two counts related to his purchase and possession of firearms. Neither count relates to the shooting itself. Benjamin C. Glassman, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Ohio, stressed that while the charges emerged from the investigation into the Dayton shooting, they included no suggestion that Kollie knowingly played a role in plotting the attack. 'Mr. Kollie does not stand accused of intentionally participating in the planning of that shooting,' Glassman said at a news briefing. 'We have no evidence of that. There's no allegation of that.' … Jail records showed that Kollie was arrested Friday evening, the same day the criminal complaint was filed. Kollie was charged with possessing a firearm while being an unlawful user of a controlled substance and making a false statement regarding firearms."

-- A fourth member of the National Rifle Association's board resigned amid upheaval. Tom Hamburger reports: "Professional sport shooter Julie Golob, a regular on shooting shows who has won multiple competitions and is an advocate for women's use of firearms, did not state a reason for her departure in a note posted on her website. 'I am proud to have had the opportunity to represent the members of the NRA but I can no longer commit to fulfilling the duties of a director,' she wrote. … The NRA has a 76-member board of directors, most of whom continue to defend the current NRA leadership, which has been under siege in recent months."

Barr believes there were 'Irregularities' at jail where Epstein died

-- Attorney General Bill Barr lashed out against the "failure" of federal prison officials to keep Jeffrey Epstein alive. Matt Zapotosky, Devlin Barrett and Rachel Weiner report: "Barr's comments underscored the increasing scrutiny on the Federal Bureau of Prisons and the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, where Epstein, 66, was found hanging in his cell on Saturday. … Barr made clear, too, that federal prosecutors' investigation of those who might have facilitated Epstein's alleged sex abuse of minors will continue, even if Epstein can no longer be prosecuted. Epstein was in jail awaiting a trial on new federal sex trafficking charges. … Speaking to law enforcement officials in New Orleans, the country's top law enforcement official said he 'was appalled . . . and, frankly, angry' to learn of the Metropolitan Correctional Center's 'failure to adequately secure' Epstein."

-- "The Day Jeffrey Epstein Told Me He Had Dirt on Powerful People," from the Times's James Stewart: "Almost exactly a year ago, on Aug. 16, 2018, I visited Jeffrey Epstein at his cavernous Manhattan mansion. The overriding impression I took away from our roughly 90-minute conversation was that Mr. Epstein knew an astonishing number of rich, famous and powerful people, and had photos to prove it. He also claimed to know a great deal about these people, some of it potentially damaging or embarrassing, including details about their supposed sexual proclivities and recreational drug use. So one of my first thoughts on hearing of Mr. Epstein's suicide was that many prominent men and at least a few women must be breathing sighs of relief that whatever Mr. Epstein knew, he has taken it with him."

Carrico was arrested and had to pay a settlement at one point. (Michael S. Williamson/The Washington Post)

-- Nearly 35 billion opioids — half of the pills distributed in the country — were handled by just 15 percent of pharmacies. Jenn Abelson, Andrew Ba Tran, Beth Reinhard and Aaron C. Davis report: "With the release and analysis of a federal database tracking every pain pill sold in the United States at the height of the opioid crisis, one Clinton County pharmacy has come into sharp focus: Shearer Drug [in Albany, Ky.] … The family-run pharmacy purchased nearly 6.8 million pills that contained hydrocodone and oxycodone from 2006 through 2012 — enough to give 96 pills each year to every person in the county of roughly 10,000 residents. During this period, Shearer Drug procured more opioid pills on a per capita basis per county than any other retail pharmacy in the United States … Shearer Drug is among thousands of small, independent pharmacies — from Smith County Drug Center in Carthage, Tenn., to Zion Pharmacy in Kanab, Utah — that handled large volumes of hydrocodone and oxycodone from 2006 through 2012 and until now have largely avoided publicity for their roles in the epidemic. … Some of the pharmacies reviewed by The Post have had trouble with regulators or law enforcement, but for others there is no public record of any scrutiny by authorities."

-- If you want to know how many pain pills went to your pharmacy, a team of Post reporters and designers created a searchable database that you can find here.

-- In an op-ed for the Times, former Senate majority leader Harry Reid (D-Nev.) called on the Senate to abolish the filibuster in all its forms, saying it is "suffocating" the will of the American people: "If a Democratic president wants to tackle the most important issues facing our country, then he or she must have the ability to do so — and that means curtailing Republicans' ability to stifle the will of the American people. It's time to allow a simple majority vote instead of the 60-vote threshold now required for legislation. When the American people demand change and elect a new Senate, a new majority leader must be able to respond to that call and pass legislation. The list of issues stalled by the Senate filibuster is enormous — and still growing."

-- The U.S. budget deficit is up 27 percent — another $119.7 billion — meaning it is inching closer to hitting $1 trillion. From CNBC: "That brings the fiscal year deficit through July to $866.8 billion, a little over a year and a half after the Trump administration ushered through a $1.5 trillion tax cut that the White House has vowed would pay for itself. At this point last year, the deficit was $684 billion."

Demonstrators in Hong Kong belt out 'Do You Hear the People Sing?' from 'Les Miserables'

THE NEW WORLD ORDER:

-- Protesters reoccupied the Hong Kong airport today, disrupting flights for a second day of demonstrations. Gerry Shih and Timothy McLaughlin report: "After mass cancellations the previous evening, flights had been gradually returning to normal throughout Tuesday, though still with disruptions, as thousands of black-clad demonstrators sat in the terminal with placards denouncing police brutality and calling for freedom for Hong Kong. But by early evening, with protesters using luggage carts as barricades and blocking departing passengers, airport authorities said they were 'temporarily suspending' check-in at both terminals. Arguments erupted between passengers and protesters, with some passengers crying and saying they just wanted to get home. …

"Carrie Lam, Hong Kong's leader, said the city risked being 'pushed into an abyss.' As the summer of unrest rolls on, the situation is becoming increasingly tense. Statements from Chinese government officials and state media have grown steadily more shrill, accusing protesters of 'terrorism' and warning of an impending crackdown in the semiautonomous financial center."

-- The Post's Editorial Board calls on Chinese President Xi Jinping to open serious negotiations with the protesters on their demands, which it calls quite reasonable: "Cinching the noose ever tighter, as the Chinese government has done in recent weeks, is the pathway to a dead end that could harm both Hong Kong and mainland China economically as well as politically. A cliff looms, and China's leaders should turn back before it is too late."

-- Big brands are apologizing to China for identifying the semiautonomous territory — and other Chinese-claimed lands as independent countries. Jennifer Hassan and Anna Fifield report: "From Versace to Givenchy, brands have swiftly offered apologies to China over their references to Hong Kong, Taiwan and Macao on their websites and on items of clothing. The online backlash and calls to boycott the brands come at a highly sensitive time for China, with Hong Kong rocked by protests — which kicked off in June — over concerns that Beijing is encroaching on the territory's autonomy."

-- Stocks dipped on fears that Trump's trade war could hasten a looming global recession. From [redacted] Heath: "'The escalating trade tensions, combined with low volume and traditionally weaker-than-average price returns in August and September, are contributing to a re-test of last week's low for the S&P 500,' said Sam Stovall of CFRA Research. … Several factors have contributed to the market turbulence in recent sessions, including China's threat to devalue its currency, massive protests in Hong Kong that could prompt a response from the Chinese government, an escalation of the U.S.-China trade war and a flight to bonds. Goldman Sachs chief economist Jan Hatzius said he does not expect a U.S.-China trade deal before the 2020 election in a note he released over the weekend. … Monday's decline follows a turbulent start to August, which is historically one of the worst months of the year for stocks. But the trade war with China is casting a pall over the global economy, threatening a decade-long U.S. boom that had pushed stocks to all-time highs."

-- Bank of America sees a greater than 30 percent chance that the economy will fall into a recession in the next year, partly as a result of the trade war and a global economic slowdown. (CNBC)

-- Such a recession could undermine Trump's reelection, writes Aaron Blake: "His approval rating already languishes in the low to mid-40s, even with a strong economy and an unemployment rate at 3.7 percent. … We're so polarized that a slight downturn in the economy might not cost him a huge amount of support — especially if he can persuade his supporters to blame the Federal Reserve or that the trade war is worth the momentary economic pain — but he simply can't afford to lose much support, period."

-- Farmers support Trump's tariff fight, even though they don't think it helps them. From NBC News: "For months, analysts have been wondering if the economic hits farmers are taking might come back to bite the White House. Up to now, anecdotal reporting has shown little erosion of support for Trump and a survey from academics at Iowa State University of 700 farmers in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota seems to back that reporting. The survey, led by ISU Professor Wendong Zhang, found that 57 percent of those farmers somewhat or strongly supported the U.S. tariffs on Chinese goods that brought retaliatory tariffs from the Chinese government. Another 14 percent had neutral feelings about them. Only 30 percent somewhat or strongly opposed the tariffs … [But] only 14 percent of the farmers surveyed said, a year from now, 'My farm operation will be better off financially because of this trade disruption.' And only 20 percent said that, in a year, 'U.S. agriculture will be better off compared to now because of this trade disruption.' Meanwhile, more than three quarters said, 'American farmers will bear the brunt of the tariffs imposed by the Chinese government.'"

A health worker fills a syringe with the Ebola vaccine before injecting it into a patient in Congo last week. (Baz Ratner/Reuters)

-- Here's some good news: Scientists say Ebola is no longer "incurable" after the discovery of two highly effective drugs. Claire Parker reports: "The drugs, tested in a nearly nine-month clinical trial, have performed so well that health professionals will now administer them to every patient in Congo. … Jean-Jacques Muyembe Tamfum, a Congolese doctor who has spent his career researching Ebola treatments and oversaw the trial on the ground, said in a conference call Monday that he 'could not have imagined' that such a day would come. 'From now on, we will no longer say that Ebola is incurable,' he said. But in a place where suspicion of health workers and violent conflict are widespread, finding effective medical therapies is only half the battle, experts say."

-- Russia held funerals for five of the nuclear workers who died while testing a new missile that some international observers believe could've been a new nuclear weapon. Will Englund reports: "Russian officials said they will try to determine what went wrong and how to avoid another such accident in the future. … Also Monday, Valentin Kostyukov, director of the center in Sarov, said on local television that researchers from the institute had been working at the northern test site for a year. Rosatom's chief, Alexei Likhachev, said work on the new weapon would continue, without specifying what that weapon is."

-- A 65-year-old former Pakistani military officer has been credited with stopping a gunman from attacking a mosque in Norway. Rick Noack reports: "Mohammad Rafiq said he threw the gunman to the ground after the man entered the al-Noor Islamic Center in Baerum near the Norwegian capital of Oslo on Saturday, before the two other men inside the mosque rushed to help him pin down the gunman. … The attempted attack on the al-Noor center happened a day before Muslims around the world celebrate Eid al-Adha, one of the most important holidays on the Islamic calendar marking the end of the Hajj pilgrimage. Rafiq and the two others had been at the al-Noor mosque preparing for the festivities."

-- India continues silencing those who oppose its crackdown on Kashmir. From Nina Masih and Joanna Slater: "Ever since India announced a move to strip Kashmir of its autonomy one week ago, residents of this disputed region have been unable to make phone calls, access the Internet or move freely. They also have heard nothing from local political leaders, because many of them have been detained and held incommunicado, part of an unprecedented clampdown that has muffled the public response to India's decision. … To maintain control, India has sent thousands of additional troops to Kashmir and detained hundreds of local politicians and party workers."

2020 WATCH:

-- "These candidates are not polling well. But at the Iowa State Fair, they're stars," Holly Bailey reports from Des Moines: "Amy Klobuchar stood over the searing heat of a smoking grill to flip pork chops. … By the time the senator from Minnesota left the fair Saturday night, she had spent nearly eight hours on the ground, smiling and shaking hands and doing all the things that White House aspirants do when they make their quadrennial pilgrimage to this playground of fried food and presidential politics. … For Klobuchar and other Democrats stuck near the bottom of the polls in a historically large field, the Iowa State Fair offered one of the brightest spotlights of the election contest so far, outside of the debates. These hopefuls addressed some of the largest crowds of their campaigns at the soapbox and attracted outsize media attention from the nearly 800 reporters and photographers credentialed for this year's fair, far more than in any other year."

Several candidates walking around the fair this weekend, including Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand (D-N.Y.), former housing and urban development secretary Julián Castro and New York Mayor Bill de Blasio haven't qualified for next month's primary debate, so their time there was precious: "On Friday, Castro walked the fairgrounds with his family, trailed by a large media contingent that captured every little moment — including when the candidate stepped in cow manure while visiting one of the livestock barns. Castro simply walked on. … On Saturday, Gillibrand spent hours at the fair, walking the grounds with her husband and two young sons. … She devoted most of her speech [at the fair's political soapbox] to making the case for her struggling candidacy and asking voters to donate to keep her 2020 aspirations going."

-- Bernie Sanders is making health care his defining issue, but will it work? Sean Sullivan reports: "'You talk like 'universal health care,' 'health care for all,' what does it mean?' Sanders told reporters on a muggy Sunday afternoon at the Iowa State Fair, referencing phrases other White House hopefuls have used. Reprising a line he used in a recent debate, he said, 'As some of you may know, I wrote the damn bill. All right? I know a little bit about it.' But it's not clear if the emboldened approach will help Sanders or compound his troubles. Critics have raised concerns about ending private insurance and raising taxes to pay for the proposal. … And voters are showing more uncertainty about Medicare-for-all at Democratic events. Another challenge, some Democrats say, is that Sanders is no longer the only major candidate supporting Medicare-for-all, potentially making him a victim of his own success."

-- Sanders also launched a baseless attack against The Washington Post, accusing the publication of biased coverage because of his criticism of Amazon. Felicia Sonmez reports: "The Post is owned by [redacted] Bezos, the founder and chief executive of Amazon, and operates independently of Amazon. At his town hall Monday in Wolfeboro, N.H., Sanders asked the audience, 'Anybody here know how much Amazon paid in taxes last year?' 'Nothing!' some in the crowd replied. 'See, I talk about that all of the time,' Sanders replied. 'And then I wonder why The Washington Post — which is owned by [redacted] Bezos, who owns Amazon — doesn't write particularly good articles about me. I don't know why. But I guess maybe there's a connection. Maybe we helped raise the minimum wage at Amazon to 15 bucks an hour as well.'"

-- Rep. Tulsi Gabbard (D-Hawaii) will take a two-week leave of absence from her presidential campaign to report for active duty with the Hawaiian Army National Guard in Indonesia. "I love our country. I love being able to serve our country in so many ways including as a soldier," she said. "And so while some people are telling me, like gosh this is a terrible time to leave the campaign, can't you find a way out of it? You know that's not what this is about." (CBS News)

-- The fear of being called "racist" is the new "cultural anxiety" for Trump supporters. Eugene Scott explains: "Fear of being accused of backing a white supremacist worldview caused many Trump fans to remain silent about their support for the real estate developer or to publicly express support for someone else while privately backing Trump. Today, on the second anniversary of the Charlottesville violence that led the president to call neo-Nazis 'very good people,' and as the president's overall approval ratings remain relatively low, many of those who brought him to the dance appear to be dancing more closely than ever. And they are blaming their critics for their faithfulness to a man whom writer Ta-Nehisi [redacted] called 'America's first white president.' … Many Trump supporters express indignation at being labeled racist, but the worldview they admittedly embrace demonstrates a hostility to diversity."

-- Politicizing the judicial branch and further eroding the legitimacy of the Supreme Court, the reelection campaigns for Trump and Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) are selling "Back-to-Back Supreme Court Champs" T-shirts that include references to Neil Gorsuch and Brett Kavanaugh. From Felicia Sonmez: "The black T-shirt features the silhouettes of Trump and McConnell on the front and the names of Gorsuch and Kavanaugh on its sleeves. It is available to supporters who make a donation of $35 or more through a joint fundraising site set up by both campaigns."

-- Stacey Abrams is taking her voting rights crusade national by launching a voter protection program in battleground states ahead of the presidential election. Vanessa Williams reports: "The initiative, called 'Fair Fight 2020,' takes its name from the organization that the Georgia Democrat founded last year after narrowly losing her bid to become the nation's first black female governor. Abrams is set to announce the program Tuesday during a speech at the convention of the International Union of Painters and Allied Trades in Las Vegas."

Good morning all,

Would 2 or 2:30 work? I am running around this morning, have a meeting at 1, and am leaving at 3.

Thanks,

Subject: MCC conditions

I am writing as I have been asked to update everyone on the continuing problems at the facility.

Mr. Tartaglione has not has books swapped out since was kind enough to do it himself on August 15th. His radio has needed batteries for several days. The guards simply refuse to provide him with the batteries and new books he believes are in his property. Several guards have been making comments to him such as "You're threatening our lives" and "Give the big mouth his try" and similar remarks aimed at intimidating him and conveying to him their displeasure with his complaints.

As for visiting I arrived on Sunday and waited nearly 50 minutes because there was not staff in the lobby to process legal visits. I was able to see my client by 9;10, but I couldn't stay through the count so I had to leave before 9:30. I know I did not make an appointment but the issue wasn't a free room, but adequate staffing in the lobby. Yesterday I was able to see my client at 5:00 as scheduled.

[redacted],

As part of our obligations to prepare for the penalty phase (should there be one) of Mr. Tartaglione's trial, we would like to view the cells (including SHU ) and common areas where he has been held. It's possible that we will want to take some photographs, but initially we just want to look at the areas where he has been housed.

As part of our obligations to prepare for the penalty phase (should there be one) of Mr. Tartaglione's trial, we would like to view the cells (including SHU ) and common areas where he has been held. It's possible that we will want to take some photographs, but initially we just want to look at the areas where he has been housed.

Hi [redacted],

We may need wall counsel again in the Tartaglione matter in relation to the below site visit request. [redacted] so excellently helped us last time in our appearance on the conditions of confinement issue, so I cc'ed her as well.

Thank you and I wish you and yours a Happy Thanksgiving.

Best,

[redacted],

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
[redacted]

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

Please be advised I will be away from the office beginning on Thursday, December 19, 2019 and will be returning to the office on Thursday, January 2, 2019. The following staff will be acting in my capacity. Please extend them the usual courtesies.

December 19-20, 2019 - Dr. [redacted] (Ext. 6335)

December 23, 2019 - Dr. [redacted] (Ext. 6409)

December 24, 2019 - Dr. [redacted] (Ext. 6424)

December 26-30, 2019 - Dr. [redacted] (Ext. 6333)

December 31, 2019 - Dr. [redacted] (Ext. 6409)

Note: If you are emailing about an inmate that may be at risk for suicide or self-harm, this is an emergency situation. Please make sure that you make contact (verbally) to Psychology Staff or the on-call psychologist. Please ensure to maintain constant visual observation of the inmate until formal steps can be taken to ensure his/her safety pending a formal assessment by a Psychologist.

C/O [redacted] was assigned to staff watch; however, the wrong book was used (I/M companion log) in lieu of Staff Suicide Watch log.

[redacted], DTS discovered the wrong log was used. [redacted] completed a 2nd log using Suicide Watch log ([redacted] initialed the log for [redacted]).

Entries are identical in both logs.

C/O [redacted] was assigned to staff watch; however, the wrong book was used (I/M companion log) in lieu of Staff Suicide Watch log.

[redacted], DTS discovered the wrong log was used. [redacted] completed a 2nd log using Suicide Watch log ([redacted] initialed the log for [redacted]).

Entries are identical in both logs.

[redacted],

As part of our obligations to prepare for the penalty phase (should there be one) of Mr. Tartaglione's trial, we would like to view the cells (including SHU ) and common areas where he has been held. It's possible that we will want to take some photographs, but initially we just want to look at the areas where he has been housed.

WTD Header

In light of Jeffrey Epstein's apparent suicide in the Manhattan Correctional Center, Poynter senior faculty Al Tompkins urges journalists to examine suicide as the leading cause of jail deaths. According to the Marshall Project, people in jail are seven times more likely to take their own lives than those housed in prisons, even though prisons hold many more people than jails. The number of jail suicides has also increased steadily over the last decade.

Tompkins has led Poynter's "Covering Jails" workshop series for the last two years. His recent article explains the increase in jail suicides and shares resources for journalists investigating their local jails. For more guidance on this topic, check out Poynter's free webinar, "Covering Jails: Addiction Behind Bars."

For other upcoming Poynter training, check out our featured opportunities below:

Will Work for Impact: Fundamentals of Investigative Journalism

Online Group Seminar, Sept. 3-30

This popular online group seminar will help you build an investigation, from the seed of an idea to a powerful execution. Over the course of four weeks, award-winning investigative journalist Alexandra Zayas will break down the process to help you think about what kinds of stories to choose, how to build a bulletproof case and how to maximize the chance your work will create change (read a Q&A with Zayas here). You'll dissect award-winning investigations to inform your roadmap to success. Cost: $399. Enroll now.

Reporting Workshop for Rising Newsroom Stars

In-person workshop at the Poynter Institute, Oct. 13-16

The secret to success isn't getting to the biggest newsroom; it's creating the career you want where you are. Poynter's new workshop is designed to mentor early-career journalists in a small-group setting to unlock their superstar potential. Participants will grow as investigators and storytellers, learn how to better manage their personal brand and get advice on navigating their career. John Sutter, contributor to CNN and National Geographic Explorer and Erin Ailworth, Wall Street Journal disaster reporter, will lead the workshop (read a Q&A with them here). Cost: $1,150. Apply by Aug. 16.

The Power of Diverse Voices: The Poynter Minority Writers Workshop

In-person workshop at the Poynter Institute, Nov. 7-10

The Power of Diverse Voices is a four-day seminar that helps journalists of color find their voice and build skills for writing opinion pieces and personal essays. This seminar will foster the diversity of voices necessary in the profession and train the next generation of opinion writers from a wide spectrum of backgrounds. You will learn both through instruction as well as through intensive coaching in small writing groups. This workshop is led by Tom Huang, Dallas Morning News assistant managing editor for journalism initiatives. Cost: Free for selected applicants. Deadline to apply: Aug. 16. Apply now.

Poynter offers a variety of free and low-cost training options for journalists.

In light of Jeffrey Epstein's apparent suicide in the Manhattan Correctional Center, Poynter senior faculty Al Tompkins urges journalists to examine suicide as the leading cause of jail deaths. According to the Marshall Project, people in jail are seven times more likely to take their own lives than those housed in prisons, even though prisons hold many more people than jails. The number of jail suicides has also increased steadily over the last decade.

Tompkins has led Poynter's "Covering Jails" workshop series for the last two years. His recent article explains the increase in jail suicides and shares resources for journalists investigating their local jails. For more guidance on this topic, check out Poynter's free webinar, "Covering Jails: Addiction Behind Bars."

Thanks to [redacted] for clarifying this. Upon reflection, I agree it really is probably only about the CPD rounds issue.

I'm walking down to CPD now to see if they can improve my new draft answer below. I'll see if IPPA and CPD think these increased video reviews of staff making rounds are something to be shared with media or not (there may not be much, if anything, we can say if we don't want to share this internal measure publicly).

Michelle,

I'm walking down to CPD to see if I can find someone in your absence who can review my new, very rough draft answer below, which AD [redacted] says is best answered by CPD and not RSD. Accordingly, I eliminated my prior (long) draft answer that had input from RSD.

Thanks,

Question:

In wake of the Epstein death, I understand that institutions across the bureau are designating specific officers to regularly monitor surveillance video in segregated housing units and other locations where inmates are at some risk for suicide. Is there someone who may be able to elaborate on this effort?

Proposed Response:
We can confirm that executive staff at the Bureau of Prisons' correctional institutions have recently increased their review of video footage to ensure staff are performing their duties in regularly visiting inmates who have a heightened risk of suicide.

Proposed Response:
AD [redacted] advised [redacted] to NOT use my earlier draft answer (in italics below) that RSD helped me draft and which drew in the second and third paragraphs below from an answer I sent the WA Post in August.

In some of our Medical Referral Centers' specialized mental health units, there are staff who may observe inmates on camera who may have a heightened need for monitoring. However, this is not a new practice. Separately, we can also share that our institutions' executive staff review video of staff performing their duties, but this is not primarily aimed at watching inmates with a suicide risk.

As background, inmates who are at risk for suicide are placed on suicide watch, which is typically a short-term and highly restrictive intervention measure. Every Bureau of Prisons institution has the ability to place an inmate on suicide watch. Suicide watch cells are typically in the BOP's Health Services department, which allows staff to maintain a safe environment for the inmate without compromising the ability to observe and protect the inmate. This environment includes easy access to the room, privacy, unobstructed vision of the inmate at all times, and limits the availability of objects, materials, or architectural features that would allow for easy self-injury. Inmates on suicide watch are evaluated daily by a psychologist and are constantly observed by either staff or inmate companions. Once an inmate is placed on suicide watch, the watch may only be terminated by a BOP psychologist following a face-to-face evaluation with the inmate.

As background, the BOP has an extensive Suicide Prevention Program that begins upon an inmate's arrival at each BOP facility. The Suicide Prevention Program at each BOP facility is administered by a Suicide Prevention Program Coordinator. The Program Coordinator, who must be a doctoral-level psychologist, ensures compliance with suicide intervention and prevention policies, which include training, identification, referral, assessment, and intervention. During the initial intake screening by medical staff, inmates complete a psychological questionnaire. Psychology Services staff are immediately notified if suicidal ideation is apparent from an inmate's responses. For more information, see BOP Program Statement 5324.08 "Suicide Prevention Program" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5324_008.pdf and BOP Program Statement 5310.17 "Psychology Services Manual" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5310_017.pdf.

[redacted],

The reporter now says his deadline is 3 pm, so I'll need to take this to IPPA leadership as soon as you return and review this.

Here are two follow-up questions I have for you, following our call, to help finalize my draft answer below:

(1) I can not recall whether the 6 or 8 inmates watched together in an MRC's specialized mental health unit (which you referenced) are inmates on suicide watch? In other words, is my underlined phrase accurate to include in the first sentence of the draft answer below?

Both. At MRCs suicide watch can be conducted with an officer watching inmates on camera. In addition, some mental health units observe inmates by camera.

(2) If my first sentence in the answer is correct, then it leads me to wonder: are inmates on suicide watch being taped on a camera or instead only being watched by a staffer (and thus not on camera)? We might want to make that clear in our answer.

No taping. I edited your response below with red text recommended for deletion and green for addition. Thanks!

I think it may help to give this reporter some of the extra paragraphs on all that we do to prevent suicides since it shows we take this issue seriously and the language in the second and third paragraphs of the answer below was already vetted by IPPA leadership (after I originally consulted [redacted] in August for input).

Thanks,
Justin

As background, inmates who are most at risk for suicide are placed on suicide watch, which is typically a short-term and highly restrictive intervention measure. Every Bureau of Prisons institution has the ability to place an inmate on one or more rooms designated specifically for housing an inmate on suicide watch. These areas are set aside as Suicide watch cells are special cells, typically in the BOP's Health Services department division, which allows staff to maintain a safe environment for the inmate without compromising the ability to observe and protect the inmate. This environment includes easy access to the room, privacy, unobstructed vision of the inmate at all times, and limits the availability of objects, materials, or architectural features that would allow for easy self-injury. Internal Notes:

[redacted] explained to me by phone today the info in the first paragraph of the answer above, whereas the language in the second and third paragraphs above are copied from an answer IPPA leadership finalized that I sent to the WA Post in August (that answer is copied below).

[redacted] explained that executive staff at institutions may be more likely to review rounds of tape of staff to be sure they're performing their duties recently. This is what I was referencing in the third sentence of the first paragraph. We may NOT want to include that in our answer (I'll ask CPD), but I included it for now just in case we want to use it.

[redacted] said SHU does not have cameras watching inmates for suicide risk, but there are cameras in SHU units focused on the range generally (not on a particular cell); it is not standard practice to have a camera in a SHU cell. Bottom line - the reporter is probably not referencing cameras in SHU. [redacted] says we don't do mental health observation in SHU unless there was a waiver and specific policy in place.

Answer sent to WA Post on 8/21/2019 (finalized by IPPA leadership after consulting [redacted]):

The safety of staff, inmates, and the public is the highest priority for the Bureau of Prisons (BOP). The BOP has an extensive Suicide Prevention Program that begins upon an inmate's arrival at each BOP facility, including pretrial facilities such as MCC New York. See BOP Program Statement 5324.08 "Suicide Prevention Program" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5324_008.pdf and BOP Program Statement 5310.17 "Psychology Services Manual" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5310_017.pdf. During the initial intake screening by medical staff, inmates complete a psychological questionnaire. Psychology Services staff are immediately notified if suicidal ideation is apparent from the responses. Further, any BOP staff member may place an inmate on suicide watch.

The Suicide Prevention Program at each BOP facility is administered by a Suicide Prevention Program Coordinator. The Program Coordinator, who must be a doctoral-level psychologist, ensures compliance with suicide intervention and prevention policies, which include training, identification, referral, assessment, and intervention. In BOP facilities, suicide watch is typically a short-term and highly restrictive intervention measure. Every institution has one or more rooms designated specifically for housing an inmate on suicide watch. These areas are set aside as special cells, typically in the BOP's Health Services division, which allow staff to maintain a safe environment for the inmate without compromising the ability to observe and protect the inmate. This environment includes easy access to the room, privacy, unobstructed vision of the inmate at all times, and limited availability of objects, materials, or architectural features that would allow for easy self-injury. Inmates on suicide watch are evaluated daily by apsychologist and are constantly observed by either staff or inmate companions. Once an inmate is placed on suicide watch, the watch may only be terminated by a BOP psychologist following a face-to-face evaluation with the inmate.

With regard to staffing levels, 15,012 correctional officers are currently working at the BOP and 1,654 correctional officer positions are vacant as of August 3, 2019. The BOP continues to work on hiring and retaining staff nationally. As you are aware, the Epstein case is currently under investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Department of Justice's Office of the Inspector General. The BOP is also conducting an After Action Review and a Suicide Reconstruction Review. The BOP will assess any additional measures which should be taken after those processes are completed.

The factors that lead an inmate from suicidal ideation to suicidal behavior are complex. Those factors include an individual's access to means (e.g., pills or razors), opportunity (e.g., privacy to implement a plan), motivation, and subjective feelings of defeat or humiliation.

[redacted] & Michelle,

The USA Today's top reporter (who's written front page stories on the BOP) is asking if BOP is "designating specific officers to regularly monitor surveillance video in segregated housing units and other locations where inmates are at some risk for suicide."

IPPA's Deputy AD Sue Allison is curious if CPD & [redacted] (primarily [redacted] I'm guessing) have recommendations on what I should tell Kevin in an email response today?
We are thinking it may be best if you want to write your own statement with whatever is best to say about this subject, but we could ask this reporter below for more specific questions if you think that is needed.

Thanks,

Thanks to [redacted] for clarifying this. Upon reflection, I agree it really is probably only about the CPD rounds issue.

I'm walking down to CPD now to see if they can improve my new draft answer below. I'll see if IPPA and CPD think these increased video reviews of staff making rounds are something to be shared with media or not (there may not be much, if anything, we can say if we don't want to share this internal measure publicly).

Michelle,

I'm walking down to CPD to see if I can find someone in your absence who can review my new, very rough draft answer below, which AD [redacted] says is best answered by CPD and not RSD. Accordingly, I eliminated my prior (long) draft answer that had input from RSD.

Thanks,

Question:

In wake of the Epstein death, I understand that institutions across the bureau are designating specific officers to regularly monitor surveillance video in segregated housing units and other locations where inmates are at some risk for suicide. Is there someone who may be able to elaborate on this effort?

Proposed Response:
We can confirm that executive staff at the Bureau of Prisons' correctional institutions have recently increased their review of video footage to ensure staff are performing their duties in regularly visiting inmates who have a heightened risk of suicide.

Proposed Response:
AD [redacted] advised [redacted] to NOT use my earlier draft answer (in italics below) that RSD helped me draft and which drew in the second and third paragraphs below from an answer I sent the WA Post in August.

In some of our Medical Referral Centers' specialized mental health units, there are staff who may observe inmates on camera who may have a heightened need for monitoring. However, this is not a new practice. Separately, we can also share that our institutions' executive staff review video of staff performing their duties, but this is not primarily aimed at watching inmates with a suicide risk.

As background, inmates who are at risk for suicide are placed on suicide watch, which is typically a short-term and highly restrictive intervention measure. Every Bureau of Prisons institution has the ability to place an inmate on suicide watch. Suicide watch cells are typically in the BOP's Health Services department, which allows staff to maintain a safe environment for the inmate without compromising the ability to observe and protect the inmate. This environment includes easy access to the room, privacy, unobstructed vision of the inmate at all times, and limits the availability of objects, materials, or architectural features that would allow for easy self-injury. Inmates on suicide watch are evaluated daily by a psychologist and are constantly observed by either staff or inmate companions. Once an inmate is placed on suicide watch, the watch may only be terminated by a BOP psychologist following a face-to-face evaluation with the inmate.

As background, the BOP has an extensive Suicide Prevention Program that begins upon an inmate's arrival at each BOP facility. The Suicide Prevention Program at each BOP facility is administered by a Suicide Prevention Program Coordinator. The Program Coordinator, who must be a doctoral-level psychologist, ensures compliance with suicide intervention and prevention policies, which include training, identification, referral, assessment, and intervention. During the initial intake screening by medical staff, inmates complete a psychological questionnaire. Psychology Services staff are immediately notified if suicidal ideation is apparent from an inmate's responses. For more information, see BOP Program Statement 5324.08 "Suicide Prevention Program" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5324_008.pdf and BOP Program Statement 5310.17 "Psychology Services Manual" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5310_017.pdf.

[redacted],

The reporter now says his deadline is 3 pm, so I'll need to take this to IPPA leadership as soon as you return and review this.

Here are two follow-up questions I have for you, following our call, to help finalize my draft answer below:

(1) I can not recall whether the 6 or 8 inmates watched together in an MRC's specialized mental health unit (which you referenced) are inmates on suicide watch? In other words, is my underlined phrase accurate to include in the first sentence of the draft answer below?

Both. At MRCs suicide watch can be conducted with an officer watching inmates on camera. In addition, some mental health units observe inmates by camera.

(2) If my first sentence in the answer is correct, then it leads me to wonder: are inmates on suicide watch being taped on a camera or instead only being watched by a staffer (and thus not on camera)? We might want to make that clear in our answer.

No taping. I edited your response below with red text recommended for deletion and green for addition. Thanks!

I think it may help to give this reporter some of the extra paragraphs on all that we do to prevent suicides since it shows we take this issue seriously and the language in the second and third paragraphs of the answer below was already vetted by IPPA leadership (after I originally consulted [redacted] in August for input).

Thanks,
Justin

ability to place an inmate on one or more rooms designated specifically for housing an inmate on suicide watch. Internal Notes:

[redacted] explained to me by phone today the info in the first paragraph of the answer above, whereas the language in the second and third paragraphs above are copied from an answer IPPA leadership finalized that I sent to the WA Post in August (that answer is copied below).

[redacted] explained that executive staff at institutions may be more likely to review rounds of tape of staff to be sure they're performing their duties recently. This is what I was referencing in the third sentence of the first paragraph. We may NOT want to include that in our answer (I'll ask CPD), but I included it for now just in case we want to use it.

[redacted] said SHU does not have cameras watching inmates for suicide risk, but there are cameras in SHU units focused on the range generally (not on a particular cell); it is not standard practice to have a camera in a SHU cell. Bottom line - the reporter is probably not referencing cameras in SHU. [redacted] says we don't do mental health observation in SHU unless there was a waiver and specific policy in place.

Answer sent to WA Post on 8/21/2019 (finalized by IPPA leadership after consulting [redacted]):

The safety of staff, inmates, and the public is the highest priority for the Bureau of Prisons (BOP). The BOP has an extensive Suicide Prevention Program that begins upon an inmate's arrival at each BOP facility, including pretrial facilities such as MCC New York. See BOP Program Statement 5324.08 "Suicide Prevention Program" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5324_008.pdf and BOP Program Statement 5310.17 "Psychology Services Manual" here https://www.bop.gov/policy/progstat/5310_017.pdf. During the initial intake screening by medical staff, inmates complete a psychological questionnaire. Psychology Services staff are immediately notified if suicidal ideation is apparent from the responses. Further, any BOP staff member may place an inmate on suicide watch.

The Suicide Prevention Program at each BOP facility is administered by a Suicide Prevention Program Coordinator. The Program Coordinator, who must be a doctoral-level psychologist, ensures compliance with suicide intervention and prevention policies, which include training, identification, referral, assessment, and intervention. In BOP facilities, suicide watch is typically a short-term and highly restrictive intervention measure. >>> [redacted] 09/03/19 13:14 >>>

[redacted] and [redacted],

I just met with [redacted] and [redacted] to get their take on what happened last Wednesday in Court. The USAO is requesting we participate in person in a 1:30 pm meeting tomorrow with [redacted] and [redacted] and various Civ Div supervisors to decide how to handle Judge Rufe. Civil Chief [redacted] is invited but not sure yet if [redacted] will attend.

On August 20th, the Judge held oral argument over Plaintiff's spoliation motion. Bistrian claims the US should have a negative inference drawn against it because we have not produced a video showing Aaron Taylor being brought out of his cell on his way to the rec cage. Bistrian argued it was incompetent and likely intentional that no video of Taylor getting a pat down and wanded when he came out of his cell exists. He said staff likely destroyed the video to cover up and protect the officers who were not doing their job.

During oral argument the Judge stunningly referenced Epstein during the following exchange with [redacted]:

THE COURT: MR. KAUFMAN, I'M NOT A CHILD. I KNOW WHAT IS RELEVANT IN A CRIMINAL PROSECUTION FORASSAULT. AND I KNOW WHAT IS RELEVANT FOR A POSSIBLE CIVIL CASE, BOTH OF WHICH THE DOJ WOULD BE INVOLVED IN. NOW, ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS READ THE NEWSPAPER AND SEE HOW THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE UNITED STATES IS APOPLECTIC ABOUT AN INMATE BEING WATCHED, IN HIS WORDS,OR NOT WATCHED, ON SUICIDE WATCH. AND KNOWING

HOW TO SHAKE UP THE SYSTEM, HE FIRES THE WARDEN RIGHT OFF THE BAT, FOR NOT DOING HIS JOB, WHATEVER THAT IS. BUT ALL INTEREST IS ON THIS EVENT. IN 2006 WHEN IT HAPPENS, THERE IS INTEREST BY THE FBI ANDTHE UNITED STATES DISTRICT -- EASTERN DISTRICT U.S. ATTORNEY IN PROSECUTING MR. TAYLOR, WHICH MEANS ALL EVIDENCE, EVEN VIDEO EVIDENCE OF A SEARCH, IS RELEVANT TO PUTTING THIS PACKAGE TOGETHER. IF IT'S NOT ADMISSIBLE EVIDENCE AND IF IT'S NOT RELEVANT BY THE TIME TRIAL COMES AROUND TWO YEARS LATER, THEN SO BE IT. BUT IT DOESN'T MEAN THAT IT'S IGNORED. IT'S IMPOSSIBLE FOR ME TO UNDERSTAND HOW IT COULD BE IGNORED BY YOUR OFFICE."

I was shocked when she said this, although her disdain for the BOP has been obvious all summer so I suppose I should have seen it coming. She has appeared to have a hearty bias against the BOP throughout both trials. She said she would take the Spoliation arguments under advisement.

Closing arguments had been rescheduled by the Judge, for the second time, to Wednesday August 28th, and when they arrived the law clerk said Judge Rufe wanted to see counsel in chambers. (So nothing is on the record...yet).

The Judge told counsel that seeing the razor logs that were entered into evidence the previous week had jogged her memory about when Kareem Milhouse attacked his attorney in the Marshals holding area in early 2006. She said she handled the trial and recalled it involved a razor attack by a SHU inmate.

The Judge went on to say that she had already pulled and reviewed transcripts from the Milhouse trial and mentioned Jezior's testimony in particular. She said it seems relevant to her what FDC knew earlier in 2006 prior to the assault by Taylor on Bistrian in October 2006.

All were somewhat stunned, but Bazelon eagerly took his cues from the Judge and said this was relevant information and he absolutely needs to know how this was investigated and if FDC staff took any particular actions regarding razors after the incident.

The Judge brought up "recusal" and said she doesn't need to recuse herself because this is "about justice..." She apparently repeated "this is about justice" several times.

The United States did not say much other than they did not believe Milhouse information, or specific information about other razor attacks had been requested in discovery but that we would look back at the discovery requests.

Then the Judge sent everyone on their way and said that the parties should think about how this should be handled.

At this point, nothing in terms of the Court is on the record. The meeting at 1:30 tomorrow is to decide what tactics the USAO will take in response to Judge Rufe's actions. Written opposition seems to be a minimum, moving for recusal is of course very controversial but has to be considered.

As stakeholders, the USAO would like you two to participate if possible. If the 1:30 meeting is not doable for both, or either of you, we can set up a call after their meeting.

I am happy to discuss in more detail whenever is convenient for you both.

Do you mind calling attorney conference in the morning and reminding them to hold room 3 open for 10:00 AM? Tartaglione has a mitigation visit and Epstein will likely have an attorney visit, but we need room 3 open for this hearing. If they have to keep Room 3 closed from 8:00 to 10:00 to ensure it is available, then that's what we have to do. (I wouldn't care if it was a state OTP with housing court or something, but this is an federal civil case out of SDNY so we should accommodate.)

Thanks!!

Good morning Stephanie.

Please be advised that this telephone conference has been rescheduled for August 8, 2019 at 10:00. The Court's rescheduling notice is attached.

Can you please make arrangements for your facility to place the call to chambers for Mr. Turner at that time?

Thank you.

Nicole

Hi Stephanie.

Sounds good. I'll let the Court know about your facility placing the call to chambers. The number for the Judge is (914) 390-4130. If that changes, I'll let you know.

Thanks for again your assistance with this.

Nicole

Hi Nicole,

It is easier for us to initiate the call here at MCC. Mr. Turner will be on a phone that does not allow incoming calls, so we prefer to call the court (or you) at the designated time and transfer the call down to him. Please let us know if that is an issue. Assuming there's no problem with that, please let us know the appropriate number to call at 11:00 AM on August 9.

Also, so you're aware, we make every effort to facilitate telephonic court appearances, but there may be emergency circumstances that interfere. If we learn that we will not be able to facilitate the call for some reason, we will let you know as soon as possible.

If you have any additional questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact our office.

Thank you,
Stephanie

Good afternoon.

In follow up to my voice mail message earlier today, we understand that inmate Turner is still housed in your facility.

Attached is Judge Smith's letter order/endorsement scheduling a status conference in this matter for August 9, 2019 at 11:00 a.m.

It is my understanding that Judge Smith's Chambers will be initiating the call. Mr. Turner should be made available to attend this status conference call.

Please let me know if you need any other information in order to have Mr. Turner available for this telephone conference.

Thank you.

Nicole

Subject: conditions in SHU

Good afternoon,

As I think you all know Nick has been placed in SHU based on an allegation that he was in possession of a cell phone. If true, I understand that some appropriate and proportional sanction may be in order.

Leaving that aside I want to address the conditions in his cell. The toilet is leaking and the floor is wet. As of Wednesday, he hasn't received his personal property, including his books. He has been sitting in the cell with literally nothing to read, listen to or watch. Can we please make an effort to get him reading material, his radio and the accompanying batteries.

Most troubling is that he tells me that the legal work he had out when he was removed from the cell has not been returned to him. This included documents prepared for him by my office which contained substantial and sensitive work product that falls squarely within the attorney client privilege. Nick made notes on some of these documents to prepare for our next meeting. When I saw him Wednesday, he had some of his legal paperwork but not the documents he was working with when he was taken from the cell. I am very concerned that these documents have been seized by the staff at MCC. Can you please take steps to see to that all of this material be returned to him immediately.

Lastly, I am hoping we can find time early next week to discuss the conditions of Nick's confinement going forward.

As I think you all know Nick has been placed in SHU based on an allegation that he was in possession of a cell phone. If true, I understand that some appropriate and proportional sanction may be in order.

Leaving that aside I want to address the conditions in his cell. The toilet is leaking and the floor is wet. As of Wednesday, he hasn't received his personal property, including his books. He has been sitting in the cell with literally nothing to read, listen to or watch. Can we please make an effort to get him reading material, his radio and the accompanying batteries.

Most troubling is that he tells me that the legal work he had out when he was removed from the cell has not been returned to him. This included documents prepared for him by my office which contained substantial and sensitive work product that falls squarely within the attorney client privilege. Nick made notes on some of these documents to prepare for our next meeting. When I saw him Wednesday, he had some of his legal paperwork but not the documents he was working with when he was taken from the cell. I am very concerned that these documents have been seized by the staff at MCC. Can you please take steps to see to that all of this material be returned to him immediately.

Lastly, I am hoping we can find time early next week to discuss the conditions of Nick's confinement going forward.

Hi all,

How does 2:45 or 3 sound? Would tomorrow be better? Time got away from me playing catch-up on all I missed last week.

Thank you,

Mr. Johnson,

I understand that Mr. Epstein has not yet had the opportunity to establish a telephone account. Unit Mgr. Proto (or Prodo) began the process last week, but did not have a chance to finish it. If you could arrange for someone to help Mr. Epstein set up the account, we'd really appreciate it.

Thank you for all your help.

Investigators uncovering 'serious irregularities' at NYC federal lockup where Jeffrey Epstein killed himself: AG Barr

Investigators probing the suicide of Jeffrey Epstein inside a federal jail in lower Manhattan are uncovering "serious irregularities," Attorney General William Barr said Monday, while vowing that any of the pervert's co-conspirators "should not rest easy."

BREAKING NEWS

Jeffrey Epstein signed will worth $577M only 2 days before suicide — with El Chapo lawyer as witness

Multimillionaire pervert Jeffrey Epstein signed a will declaring he was worth $577 million only two days before he hanged himself in a federal jail.

In a bizarre twist of fate, one of the witnesses to the Aug. 8 signing was Mariel Colón Miró, a New York lawyer who worked for El Chapo during the Mexican drug lord's recent trafficking trial in Brooklyn.

Federal Bureau of Prisons loosens limits on Muslim inmates' prayer
Religion News Service
https://religionnews.com/2019/12/18/federal-bureau-of-prisons-loosens-limits-on-muslim-inmates-prayer/
The Federal Bureau of Prisons has issued new national guidelines recommending accommodation of group prayer for Muslim prisoners after an inmate's lawsuit challenging restrictions at a Kentucky prison. The agency has recommended that all federal prisons should accommodate inmates' requests for Muslim congregational prayer services unless there is a security concern, after the civil rights organization Muslim Advocates appealed a court decision upholding a federal prison's right to limit such services to three people.

New York fraud charges against Paul Manafort, ex-Trump campaign chairman, dismissed by judge
CBS News
https://www.cbsnews.com/news/new-york-fraud-charges-against-paul-manafort-ex-trump-campaign-chairman-dismissed-by-judge-2019-12-18/
New York Judge Maxwell Wiley dismissed state charges against former Trump campaign chairman Paul Manafort Wednesday on double-jeopardy grounds. Manafort had been scheduled to appear in criminal court Wednesday on charges of mortgage fraud and other financial crimes filed in New York state court by Manhattan District Attorney Cyrus Vance, Jr.

Jail video surveillance from Jeffrey Epstein's first suicide attempt in July is missing, prosecutor says
https://www.cnbc.com/2019/12/18/jeffrey-epsteins-first-suicide-attempt-video-is-missing.html
Video surveillance footage of the jailhouse area outside of accused child sex trafficker Jeffrey Epstein's cell from the time of his first reported suicide effort in July is now missing, a lawyer for Epstein's former cellmate said Wednesday night.

Behind the razor wire: A look at the US Penitentiary in Terre Haute
https://wibqam.com/news/articles/2019/dec/18/behind-the-razor-wire-a-look-at-the-us-penitentiary-in-terre-haute/967786/
TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (WTWO/WAWV) — The U.S. Penitentiary has been part of Terre Haute's landscape since 1940.
It's much larger than it was 80 years ago, and is now the only federal prison were executions take place.
Former prison guard, Kevin Beaver described death row as "a very choreographed area."

Bernie Ebbers, WorldCom Chief Jailed for Fraud, Will Leave Prison Early
The New York Times
https://www.nytimes.com/2019/12/18/business/bernard-ebbers-prison-release.html
Bernard J. Ebbers, who was imprisoned in 2006 after his conviction in one of the biggest American frauds of the 20th century, will soon be free after serving a little over half of a 25-year sentence.

Mr. Ebbers, also known as Bernie, was sent to federal prison after carrying out an $11 billion accounting fraud as chief executive of the telephone company WorldCom. He was granted a compassionate release by a federal judge in New York, Valerie E. Caproni, a spokesman for the United States attorney's office in Manhattan said on Wednesday. The spokesman did not know when Mr. Ebbers would be freed.

"We are grateful for the ruling and hope Bernie gets some peaceful and loving time with his friends and family," one of his lawyers, Reid H. Weingarten, said in an email.

Mr. Ebbers, now 78, steered WorldCom through a series of acquisitions that took it from a small telephone company in Mississippi to a juggernaut competing with AT&T and other national long-distance carriers. But the company's apparent success, which drove its stock price to Olympian heights and contributed to a bubble in telecommunications stocks, was a fantasy.

Former WorldCom employees said Mr. Ebbers told them to rearrange the company's expenses to make it look like WorldCom was making far more money than it really was.

WorldCom eventually went bankrupt, wiping out billions of dollars in value from the stock market and calling into question the system Wall Street analysts and investment bankers used to evaluate public companies and try to raise money for them. A jury convicted Mr. Ebbers of securities fraud, conspiracy and filing false reports in 2005. His prison sentence, which he began serving in 2006, was among the stiffest handed out to a corporate executive.

Mr. Ebbers started out in federal prison in Louisiana but was later transferred to Texas. Over time, his health began to fail, his lawyers said in court filings.

Earlier this year, Mr. Ebbers's lawyers began asking for a reduction in his sentence, citing his frailty. In a court filing in late October, his daughter Joy Ebbers Bourne said her father was "experiencing full-blown dementia."

"In my recent phone calls and visits, he is unable to carry on a conversation," she wrote.

Ugh. See below. I'm sorry to be the bearer of bad news. Unless you disagree, I think it makes sense for you guys to speak with Sam directly going forward. I'm not sure how you'll want to respond to this or what information Sam will need from you to respond to the court. Let me know if you need me to assist at all.

Thanks,
Steph

Adam,

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
Audrey Strauss
Laura Birger
Craig Stewart
[redacted]
Nicholas Roos

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

Adam,

Good afternoon! We understand two employees of the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan are about to be charged re: lapses the night of Jeffrey Epstein's death.

Are you representing either of them in the criminal matter? If not, who is? We'd like to reach out of fairness and to ensure we are separating fact from rumors.

Any guidance/point in the right direction would be most appreciated.

Best, Mike

I had not heard about it either until the article came out today. Report whatever data you have. If you don't have exactly what they want that is fine.

>>> Jill S. Roth <jsroth@bop.gov> 12/6/2019 12:10 PM >>>
Are you wanting the data for all the years the person asked for? I don't think I can break it down as much as they want, but I can get close. Also, this is the first I've heard anything about this apparent rampant abuse. This is either a breakdown in communication or I am not in the need to know category.

Jill

Hello Loneryl -
From our end:

The Federal Bureau of Prisons (Bureau) takes allegations of staff misconduct seriously and, consistent with national policy, refers all allegations for investigation. The Bureau learned of allegations of sexual abuse through initial inmate complaints, and subsequently through administrative claims filed under the Federal Torts Claim Act. All allegations brought to the Bureau's attention were investigated by the Office of Internal Affairs.

>>> Loneryl Burns 12/6/2019 10:13 AM >>>
Good Morning All,

Please see the below questions from CJS. Can you please advise on the response?

Thanks,
Loneryl

Rape is rampant at this women's prison. Anyone who complains is punished, lawsuit says.

December 04, 2019 10:47 AM

A Miami Herald I-Team investigation into corruption, sexual abuse and medical neglect at the largest women's prison in the nation, Lowell Correctional. Reporting by Julie K. Brown / jbrown@miamiherald.com. By Emily Michot

For years, male officers at the women's work camp at Coleman Federal Correctional Complex sexually harassed and assaulted inmates in what amounted to a "sanctuary" for systemic abuse, a space where they were shielded from any consequences.

If the women complained about being groped, fondled or forced to perform sex acts on officers, the inmates were the ones who were punished.

Fourteen women, ranging in age from 30 to 56 and nearly all first-time offenders, have banded together to sue the United States, not under pseudonyms but under their real names, over the abuse they say they've endured at the Bureau of Prisons-operated camp. Seven of the women are still incarcerated.

The lawsuit seeks compensation and an overhaul of the prison. It was filed this week.

An aerial view of the sprawling Coleman complex

Coleman officials did not immediately respond to a request from the Miami Herald for comment.

The litigation is the latest manifestation of dysfunction in a federal prison system that seemingly hit bottom when Jeffrey Epstein, perhaps the most high-profile detainee in the nation, was found hanged Aug. 10 in his cell at another BOP facility, the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, while officers dozed nearby. The death, which led to the summary removal of the acting director of the prison system, has been termed a suicide. It occurred despite what was described as a previous suicide attempt three weeks earlier.

Although it touches on a second institution in Tallahassee, the lawsuit focuses primarily on Coleman, the largest prison complex in the federal system. Located in Sumter County near Wildwood, it houses more than 6,000 inmates in a series of compounds and camps, including roughly 500 women, the complaint says

In stark, chilling detail, the lawsuit describes pervasive abuse — how women were coerced and threatened, how they were lured into private offices or remote sheds with no surveillance cameras, or stalked relentlessly by corrections officers until they had no choice but to submit.

The officers — all of whom are identified in the lawsuit, at least by last name — would at times display computer screens showing the women the exact location of their families, a pointed message that their relatives could be targeted if the women didn't cooperate. Some of the women had minor children. In some cases, officers wanted to maintain relationships with the women after they had served their time, according to the lawsuit.

The lawsuit says Coleman employed no fewer than seven officers who took advantage of their authority and access to sexually abuse the women. Some of the officers had been investigated for sexual abuse in the past, with nothing coming of it, the lawsuit alleges.

The Miami Herald requested personnel files on all of the named officers to see if there were telltale warnings in their backgrounds. The Bureau of Prisons responded that absent an "overriding public interest," it would not provide such documents, calling the provision of such records "an unwarranted invasion of their personal privacy."

The male staffers maintained total control over the women's lives, safety and well-being. At least one victim said she was ordered to begin birth control to avoid the possibility of becoming pregnant and another was given a morning-after pill by an officer.

Jill provided the following info:

This is just for inmate on inmate sexually abusive behavior since Beth already provided the staff on inmate totals. Like Beth, we can't accurately break down the allegations by facility gender. If they need allegation totals for female inmates, it is possible ORE may be able to pull that (Sue is copied here).

These numbers are total number of allegations of inmate-on-inmate sexually abusive behavior for each calendar year requested with the exception of CY 2019 because it is not over and we have not reviewed the data yet. Sexually abusive behavior encompasses acts (penetration), contact (fondling), and harassment (non-contact offenses). I break down the substantiated cases by type.

2014 - 324 allegations; 12 Substantiated (2 ACT, 6 CON, 6 HAR)

2015 - 365 allegations; 17 Substantiated (7 ACT, 7 CON, 3 HAR)

2016 - 334 allegations; 25 Substantiated (4 ACT, 11 CON, 10 HAR)

2017 - 417 allegations; 26 Substantiated (2 ACT, 12 CON, 12 HAR)

2018 - 489 allegations; 29 Substantiated (8 ACT, 11 CON, 10 HAR)

I had not heard about it either until the article came out today. Report whatever data you have. If you don't have exactly what they want that is fine.

>>> Jill S. Roth <jsroth@bop.gov> 12/6/2019 12:10 PM >>>
Are you wanting the data for all the years the person asked for? I don't think I can break it down as much as they want, but I can get close. Also, this is the first I've heard anything about this apparent rampant abuse. This is either a breakdown in communication or I am not in the need to know category.

Jill

Rape is rampant at this women's prison. Anyone who complains is punished, lawsuit says.

December 04, 2019 10:47 AM

A Miami Herald I-Team investigation into corruption, sexual abuse and medical neglect at the largest women's prison in the nation, Lowell Correctional. Reporting by Julie K. Brown / jbrown@miamiherald.com. By Emily Michot

For years, male officers at the women's work camp at Coleman Federal Correctional Complex sexually harassed and assaulted inmates in what amounted to a "sanctuary" for systemic abuse, a space where they were shielded from any consequences.

If the women complained about being groped, fondled or forced to perform sex acts on officers, the inmates were the ones who were punished.

Fourteen women, ranging in age from 30 to 56 and nearly all first-time offenders, have banded together to sue the United States, not under pseudonyms but under their real names, over the abuse they say they've endured at the Bureau of Prisons-operated camp. Seven of the women are still incarcerated.

The lawsuit seeks compensation and an overhaul of the prison. It was filed this week.

An aerial view of the sprawling Coleman complex

Coleman officials did not immediately respond to a request from the Miami Herald for comment.

The litigation is the latest manifestation of dysfunction in a federal prison system that seemingly hit bottom when Jeffrey Epstein, perhaps the most high-profile detainee in the nation, was found hanged Aug. 10 in his cell at another BOP facility, the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, while officers dozed nearby. The death, which led to the summary removal of the acting director of the prison system, has been termed a suicide. It occurred despite what was described as a previous suicide attempt three weeks earlier.

Although it touches on a second institution in Tallahassee, the lawsuit focuses primarily on Coleman, the largest prison complex in the federal system. Located in Sumter County near Wildwood, it houses more than 6,000 inmates in a series of compounds and camps, including roughly 500 women, the complaint says

In stark, chilling detail, the lawsuit describes pervasive abuse — how women were coerced and threatened, how they were lured into private offices or remote sheds with no surveillance cameras, or stalked relentlessly by corrections officers until they had no choice but to submit.

The officers — all of whom are identified in the lawsuit, at least by last name — would at times display computer screens showing the women the exact location of their families, a pointed message that their relatives could be targeted if the women didn't cooperate. Some of the women had minor children. In some cases, officers wanted to maintain relationships with the women after they had served their time, according to the lawsuit.

The lawsuit says Coleman employed no fewer than seven officers who took advantage of their authority and access to sexually abuse the women. Some of the officers had been investigated for sexual abuse in the past, with nothing coming of it, the lawsuit alleges.

The Miami Herald requested personnel files on all of the named officers to see if there were telltale warnings in their backgrounds. The Bureau of Prisons responded that absent an "overriding public interest," it would not provide such documents, calling the provision of such records "an unwarranted invasion of their personal privacy."

The male staffers maintained total control over the women's lives, safety and well-being. At least one victim said she was ordered to begin birth control to avoid the possibility of becoming pregnant and another was given a morning-after pill by an officer.

I'm working on mine now but will send it to Hugh so he can review it first. I also won't be able to break it down by male and female inmates (not accurately anyway since some locations, like Coleman have both) so I won't put that information in. Also, my numbers will be sexually abusive behavior allegations (acts, contact, and harassment). I'll send it to Hugh within the hour.

Seven of the women are still incarcerated.The lawsuit seeks compensation and an overhaul of the prison. It was filed this week.
An aerial view of the sprawling Coleman complex

Coleman officials did not immediately respond to a request from the Miami Herald for comment.
The litigation is the latest manifestation of dysfunction in a federal prison system that seemingly hit bottom when Jeffrey Epstein, perhaps the most high-profile detainee in the nation, was found hanged Aug. 10 in his cell at another BOP facility, the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, while officers dozed nearby. The death, which led to the summary removal of the acting director of the prison system, has been termed a suicide. It occurred despite what was described as a previous suicide attempt three weeks earlier.
Although it touches on a second institution in Tallahassee, the lawsuit focuses primarily on Coleman, the largest prison complex in the federal system. Located in Sumter County near Wildwood, it houses more than 6,000 inmates in a series of compounds and camps, including roughly 500 women, the complaint says
In stark, chilling detail, the lawsuit describes pervasive abuse how women were coerced and threatened, how they were lured into private offices or remote sheds with no surveillance cameras, or stalked relentlessly by corrections officers until they had no choice but to submit.
The officers all of whom are identified in the lawsuit, at least by last name would at times display computer screens showing the women the exact location of their families, a pointed message that their relatives could be targeted if the women didn't cooperate. Some of the women had minor children. In some cases, officers wanted to maintain relationships with the women after they had served their time, according to the lawsuit.
The lawsuit says Coleman employed no fewer than seven officers who took advantage of their authority and access to sexually abuse the women. Some of the officers had been investigated for sexual abuse in the past, with nothing coming of it, the lawsuit alleges.
The Miami Herald requested personnel files on all of the named officers to see if there were telltale warnings in their backgrounds. The Bureau of Prisons responded that absent an overriding public interest, it would not provide such documents, calling the provision of such records an unwarranted invasion of their personal privacy.
The male staffers maintained total control over the women's lives, safety and well-being. At least one victim said she was ordered to begin birth control to avoid the possibility of becoming pregnant and another was given a morning-after pill by an officer.

Warden,

Per our discussion, please see the below request for a tour of the SHU and suicide watch areas by the US Attorney and his staff Thursday, August 15. I will try to arrange it for 10 am, but we may be subject to the US Attorney's schedule. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thank you,
Adam

Adam,

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
Audrey Strauss
Laura Birger
Craig Stewart
[redacted]
Nicholas Roos

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

[redacted]
Assistant United States Attorney
Southern District of New York

Inmate Suicide Prevention Memo

From Heidi Kugler
To Alison Leukefeld, Hugh Hurwitz
Date 2019/10/17 13:40
Subject: Inmate Suicide Prevention Memo
Attachments: TEXT.htm

Hugh,
Wanted to give you the heads up, there is an Inmate Suicide Prevention Program Memo in your mailbox that you will probably want to review tomorrow. I discussed it with Rob and Alison today.

Basically following inmate Epstein's suicide, Wardens are defaulting to leaving inmates on suicide watch longer than the institutional Psychologists would advise. So the memo to the RDs seeks to remind Wardens to utilize the professional psychological expertise of the institutional psychologists in managing inmate suicide through the variety of healing strategies. Alison is in the office tomorrow, 10/18, if you want to discuss with her the best way to communicate this to the RD and Wardens and if you have any questions. Have a great day. Peace- Heidi

From our end:

The Federal Bureau of Prisons (Bureau) takes allegations of staff misconduct seriously and, consistent with national policy, refers all allegations for investigation. The Bureau learned of allegations of sexual abuse through initial inmate complaints, and subsequently through administrative claims filed under the Federal Torts Claim Act. All allegations brought to the Bureau's attention were investigated by the Office of Internal Affairs.

This is an incredibly troubling story and it's now a lawsuit. Was BOP aware of these reports in the past? It sounds like there were multiple reports. Please keep us updated.

In general, how many instances of unwanted sexual contact are reported at BOP facilities each year FY 2014-2019; how many of these were inmate only related and how many were inmate and BOP staff related; and how many were male institutions vs female institutions? In regards to PREA, are only inmates at the facility interviewed? The story references inmates who were moved out of the facility and into other facilities in advance of PREA investigators arriving.

Thanks.

Rape is rampant at this women's prison. Anyone who complains is punished, lawsuit says.

December 04, 2019 10:47 AM

A Miami Herald I-Team investigation into corruption, sexual abuse and medical neglect at the largest women's prison in the nation, Lowell Correctional. Reporting by Julie K. Brown / jbrown@miamiherald.com. By Emily Michot

For years, male officers at the women's work camp at Coleman Federal Correctional Complex sexually harassed and assaulted inmates in what amounted to a "sanctuary" for systemic abuse, a space where they were shielded from any consequences.

If the women complained about being groped, fondled or forced to perform sex acts on officers, the inmates were the ones who were punished.

Fourteen women, ranging in age from 30 to 56 and nearly all first-time offenders, have banded together to sue the United States, not under pseudonyms but under their real names, over the abuse they say they've endured at the Bureau of Prisons-operated camp. Seven of the women are still incarcerated.

The lawsuit seeks compensation and an overhaul of the prison. It was filed this week.

An aerial view of the sprawling Coleman complex

Coleman officials did not immediately respond to a request from the Miami Herald for comment.

The litigation is the latest manifestation of dysfunction in a federal prison system that seemingly hit bottom when Jeffrey Epstein, perhaps the most high-profile detainee in the nation, was found hanged Aug. 10 in his cell at another BOP facility, the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, while officers dozed nearby. The death, which led to the summary removal of the acting director of the prison system, has been termed a suicide. It occurred despite what was described as a previous suicide attempt three weeks earlier.

Although it touches on a second institution in Tallahassee, the lawsuit focuses primarily on Coleman, the largest prison complex in the federal system. Located in Sumter County near Wildwood, it houses more than 6,000 inmates in a series of compounds and camps, including roughly 500 women, the complaint says

In stark, chilling detail, the lawsuit describes pervasive abuse — how women were coerced and threatened, how they were lured into private offices or remote sheds with no surveillance cameras, or stalked relentlessly by corrections officers until they had no choice but to submit.

The officers — all of whom are identified in the lawsuit, at least by last name — would at times display computer screens showing the women the exact location of their families, a pointed message that their relatives could be targeted if the women didn't cooperate. Some of the women had minor children. In some cases, officers wanted to maintain relationships with the women after they had served their time, according to the lawsuit.

The lawsuit says Coleman employed no fewer than seven officers who took advantage of their authority and access to sexually abuse the women. Some of the officers had been investigated for sexual abuse in the past, with nothing coming of it, the lawsuit alleges.

The Miami Herald requested personnel files on all of the named officers to see if there were telltale warnings in their backgrounds. The Bureau of Prisons responded that absent an "overriding public interest," it would not provide such documents, calling the provision of such records "an unwarranted invasion of their personal privacy."

The male staffers maintained total control over the women's lives, safety and well-being. At least one victim said she was ordered to begin birth control to avoid the possibility of becoming pregnant and another was given a morning-after pill by an officer.

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 5th floor bridge.

Mike,

This just came in below with a deadline of 3 pm.

Perhaps Lee could draft something as best he can on short notice for our review (in case I'm advised to answer this reporter at 3)?

Hello,

My name is Jake Offenhartz and I'm a reporter with Gothamist and WNYC, working on a story about reports

we've received of raw sewage flooding jail cells and common areas at the Metropolitan Correctional Center. We're also told that female detainees are being asked to clean up the mess — wondering if BOP can confirm, and would like to respond?

Additionally, attorneys say their clients were denied visitation rights this weekend because of staffing shortages. In the wake of Epstein's suicide, what steps has the BOP taken to address staffing issues at the facility?

We'll have a story up around 3 p.m. I can be reached here or by phone at 914 500 3940

Jake

Hello,

My name is Jake Offenhartz and I'm a reporter with Gothamist and WNYC, working on a story about reports we've received of raw sewage flooding jail cells and common areas at the Metropolitan Correctional Center. We're also told that female detainees are being asked to clean up the mess — wondering if BOP can confirm, and would like to respond?

Additionally, attorneys say their clients were denied visitation rights this weekend because of staffing shortages. In the wake of Epstein's suicide, what steps has the BOP taken to address staffing issues at the facility?

We'll have a story up around 3 p.m. I can be reached here or by phone at 914 500 3940

Good morning,

The Associated Press reached out to our Senior Attorney here at MCC New York inquiring if he is representing Staff involved in this incident. We are not going to respond to this inquiry.

Thank you

Adam,

Good afternoon! We understand two employees of the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan are about to be charged re: lapses the night of Jeffrey Epstein's death.

Are you representing either of them in the criminal matter? If not, who is? We'd like to reach out of fairness and to ensure we are separating fact from rumors.

Any guidance/point in the right direction would be most appreciated.

Best, Mike

Good morning Mr. Savella,

With apologies for the delay, medical staff can accept his CPAP machine. Would you or one of your associates be able to bring it in next week? It must be provided to medical staff rather than directly to your client.

Thank you,
Adam

Mr. Johnson,

Is Mr. Epstein approved to receive a CPAP machine? If so, should we send it directly to him through the inmate mail system? Please confirm.

Thank you.

Good morning Mr. Savella,

With apologies for the delay, medical staff can accept his CPAP machine. Would you or one of your associates be able to bring it in next week? It must be provided to medical staff rather than directly to your client.

Thank you,
Adam

Mr. Johnson,

Is Mr. Epstein approved to receive a CPAP machine? If so, should we send it directly to him through the inmate mail system? Please confirm.

Thank you.

Warden,

Per our discussion, please see the below request for a tour of the SHU and suicide watch areas by the US Attorney and his staff Thursday, August 15. I will try to arrange it for 10 am, but we may be subject to the US Attorney's schedule. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thank you,
Adam

Adam M. Johnson
Supervisory Staff Attorney
CLC New York
Metropolitan Correctional Center
150 Park Row
New York, New York 10007

Adam,

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
Audrey Strauss
Laura Birger
Craig Stewart
[redacted]
Nicholas Roos

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

[redacted]

Warden,

Per our discussion, please see the below request for a tour of the SHU and suicide watch areas by the US Attorney and his staff Thursday, August 15. I will try to arrange it for 10 am, but we may be subject to the US Attorney's schedule. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thank you,
Adam

Adam,

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
Audrey Strauss
Laura Birger
Craig Stewart
[redacted]
Nicholas Roos

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

Adam,

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
Audrey Strauss
Laura Birger
Craig Stewart
[redacted]
Nicholas Roos

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

[redacted]

Adam,

Good afternoon! We understand two employees of the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan are about to be charged re: lapses the night of Jeffrey Epstein's death.

Are you representing either of them in the criminal matter? If not, who is? We'd like to reach out of fairness and to ensure we are separating fact from rumors.

Any guidance/point in the right direction would be most appreciated.

Best, Mike

| Inmate Name: | EPSTEIN, JEFFREY [redacted] | | | | | Reg #: | 76318-054 |
| Date of Birth: | 01/20/1953 | Sex: | M | Facility: | NYM | Unit Team: | 5 |
| Date: | 07/30/2019 12:01 | Provider: | Imeri, Darlene PsyD | | | | |

Reason for Referral and Identifying Information

Inmate Epstein was referred by Unit Manager Proto for an evaluation of competency to proceed with the disciplinary process for actions resulting in an incident report. On 7/23/19, inmate Epstein was charged with code 228 (Tattooing or Self-Mutilation). These infractions were assigned incident report number 3282555.

Background Information

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time."

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past."

According to this writer's Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/23/19, "It is unclear at this time if he had placed the string around his neck or if someone else did."

Clinical Interview and Mental Status Exam

Inmate Epstein still does not remember how he obtained the marks around his neck.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. There was no indication of disturbed thought process or content. Intellectual ability appeared to be above average. Personal hygiene was adequate. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

Clinical Impression

Findings

The determination of whether an inmate is competent to proceed with the disciplinary process is based on a clinical assessment of the inmate's (1) ability to understand the nature of the proceedings, and (2) their ability to assist in their own defense. Depending on the outcome of the assessment, one of three findings can be made: (1) the inmate is COMPETENT to proceed with the disciplinary process; (2) the inmate is NOT PRESENTLY COMPETENT but could be restored to competence with treatment; or (3) the inmate is NOT COMPETENT and is unlikely to become competent.

Recommendations Regarding Sanctions

In the case of inmate Epstein, after a review of available psychological and psychiatric records as well as information pertaining to the offense conduct, it is determined that this inmate is:

(X) COMPETENT to proceed with the disciplinary process.
( ) NOT PRESENTLY COMPETENT, but could become competent with treatment; it is recommended that the inmate for an updated competency assessment in 30 days.
( ) NOT COMPETENT and not likely to become competent.

Focus of Session

He was seen by writer while he was on Psych Observation.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

He stated he hasn't slept well at MCC-NY because he hasn't had his cpap machine. He stated it is here and he will be able to start using it tonight. He discussed how he does not think he will able to sleep in SHU and how he does not like SHU because of the noise. He discussed issues on not getting some medication with Medical today.

The "Eating/Shower Chart" indicated yesterday he ate breakfast and dinner, drank liquids, and took a shower when offered and so far today it noted he ate breakfast and drank liquids. The Psych Observation Log noted he slept, drank water, went to legal, and talked to an Inmate Companion about investments.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. There was no indication of disturbed thought process or content. Intellectual ability appeared to be above average. Personal hygiene was adequate. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

Intervention(s)

Supportive and educative interventions were provided. When asked about the Turning Point handouts for coping in SHU, he stated he already knows these strategies before he read the handouts and had tried them when he was in SHU the last time. He stated with the noise in SHU, he said the strategies will not work. He was encouraged to try them.

Progress/Plan

The Chief Psychologist was consulted. Psych Observation will be discontinued. Mr. Epstein was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He will be seen in follow up by Psychology tomorrow to monitor his mental status and to provide further intervention if needed and he was informed that he will be seen by Psychology tomorrow. In the meantime, he was encouraged to self-refer to Psychology if needed to which he agreed and seems capable of doing. If he remains in SHU, he will be seen by Psychology in SHU Rounds and in SHU Reviews. The SHU Lt. was informed that Mr. Epstein needs to be housed with an appropriate cellmate.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen while on psychological observation today in the hospital area.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Same presentation today, but he said he thinks his memory for the incident (injury to his neck) may be impaired because of his sleep apnea. He is supposed to get his CPAP machine today. He is aware he will be returning to SHU, but said he is feeling unwell due to his inability to sleep and numbness in his arm. He requested to have one good night of sleep with his CPAP and will return to SHU with a cellmate tomorrow. He then asked if he could remain down here where it is "safe" for the entire week. I told him he can stay down one more night to receive his CPAP and a good night's sleep, but that he would be returned to SHU tomorrow. It was explained that there is no mental health issues precluding him from returning to SHU tomorrow and that we could not house him in the SW/Hospital area because he felt safe or more comfortable for him. It was explained to him that he would be placed in a safe situation in the SHU.

According to his log book and eating/shower chart, he has been eating and drinking when not in his legal visits. He has also been writing and attending his legal visits.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was somewhat receptive to these interventions, but appears more concerned about getting his various needs in the prison (phone calls, recreation, housing placement concerns, etc.)

Progress/Plan

He will remain on psychological observation today and will transition to the SHU tomorrow. He will be seen by psychology daily to assess his mental status and psychological functioning.

Focus of Session

He was seen by writer while he was on Psych Observation.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

The "Eating/Shower Chart" noted that yesterday he ate breakfast. He is not in the Psych Observation cell for about 12 hours per day because of being in Attorney Conference with his Attorneys, so the "Eating/Shower Chart" may not reflect all of his meals. He stated he was served one meal in Attorney Conference yesterday. He stated he drinks a lot water at night. The Psych Observation log noted he talked about life in general population and he slept.

Earlier he had complained that his right arm was numb and hanging. Nurse Columbo from Medical had seen him for this.

When this writer was interviewing him, he said his right arm still feels somewhat numb and he said he cannot make a fist with that hand. He also said he has numbness on his neck. This writer notified Nurse Columbo.

He stated last night when he flushed the toilet it kept flushing for 45 minutes. He stated he found it so aversive and upsetting that he said he sat in the corner and held his ears. He said because of this he was agitated for hours and was not able to sleep. The Lt. will be moving him to a different cell and he was informed of this. He stated the feeling he got with the noise of the toilet was similar to when he was in SHU. He said he may have something on the Autism spectrum. He said in the movie "Rain Man," the person with Autism had an aversion to noise. He stated he is also really good with numbers.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a mildly anxious mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff and Inmate Companions if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff and Inmate Companions if he has these thoughts.

Intervention(s)

Supportive and educative interventions were again provided. He had not been given the Turning Point handouts yesterday that were on his cell door, so they were handed to him by staff today.

Progress/Plan

He will remain on Psych Observation in an abundance of caution and pending housing arrangements to be made on Monday. While on Psych Observation, he will be seen daily by Psychology.

The "Eating/Shower Chart" indicated yesterday he ate dinner, drank liquids, and took a shower when offered. The Psych Observation Log noted he brushed his teeth, went to a Legal visit, talked about business and investing to an Inmate Companion, ate, and slept.

When interviewed, he stated he still cannot remember what happened in SHU that caused the marks on his neck. He stated that for the 5 days before that he had only slept about 30 minutes each night because of noise in SHU. He stated he is anxious about going back to SHU because he stated he is going back to a place where he had gotten marks on his neck and he does not know why it happened.

He said he has an appetite and is eating. He said he is waking up every 1 1/2 hours. He stated he feels dehydrated because he is not drinking enough water because he stated he feels he is not given enough bathroom breaks while with his Attorney. Medical was e-mailed with his complaint of feeling dehydrated. He said his Lawyers and friends are all emotionally supportive.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a mildly full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation. He stated "I'm a coward." He added he does not like pain and even does not like when he has to give blood. He agreed to immediately tell staff and Inmate Companions if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff and Inmate Companions if he has these thoughts.

Intervention(s)

Supportive and educative interventions were provided. He was given Turning Points handouts on stress management, sleep, and building a routine in SHU. He stated he wants it noted in his chart that he is being given a pamphlet on sleep, but that is not going to help because of the noise in SHU that prevents him from sleeping.

Progress/Plan

He will remain on Psych Observation in an abundance of caution and pending housing arrangements to be made on Monday. While on Psych Observation, he will be seen daily by Psychology.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen while on psychological observation in our hospital area.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Prior to this writer's contact with him, Inmate Epstein showered and dressed himself for his legal visit today. He was smiling and did crack some jokes during the interview. He did elucidate some complaints and suggested being disappointed with this writer as he wants "to trust me and for me to trust him." He stated he remains unhappy with legal visiting procedures as he cannot go to the bathroom as frequently as he would like to since he has a "weak bladder." Inmate Epstein also reported since coming to the psychological observation area, he has felt constipated and needs his Colace. He had self-carry Colace in SHU, but since coming to the observation area, he has not had his medication. This writer immediately notified medical and his pills were being processed during the interview. Inmate Epstein also continues to complain about the conditions of SHU confinement (i.e., feeling punished, smells, noise, and restrictions).

With regard to the events which lead to his initial placement on suicide watch, inmate Epstein stated he has no memory of the event. He asked to speak with his old cellmate "Nick" to see if he can tell him what happened or see if his memory could be triggered. He remarked, "I am still trying to figure out how I got this (pointing to the scab around his neck)." Inmate Epstein denies remembering harming himself and/or being harmed by his cellmate. He does not exhibit symptoms of any cognitive disorder, seizure disorder, psychotic disorder, or dissociative disorder at this time or in the past. Inmate Epstein denied any current suicidal ideation, intention, or plan. He reported wanting to be alive to fight his legal case and go back and live life. He referred to himself as "a coward" and "I'm Jewish." He said he is not the type who likes pain or would ever attempt to harm himself.

While on psychological observation, inmate Epstein has been eating his meals, sleeping and interacting with the inmate companions. He is in legal visiting the majority of the day and in the evenings. His log book and eating/shower chart reflect the same. He has been speaking to inmate companions about investment strategies and about prison adjustment. Correctional Staff report during his legal visits, he is interacting with his attorney, animated, laughing, and joking.

Intervention(s)

Inmate Epstein was provided with supportive and coping skills interventions today. He was receptive to them, but mostly wanted to express his complaints about his current prison confinement status and needs. He wanted this writer to address them.

Progress/Plan

Inmate Epstein will remain on psychological observation in an abundance of caution and pending housing arrangements to be made on Monday. He continues to be vague and reports memory deficits regarding the events which lead to a piece of sheet being placed loosely around his neck and marks with scabs around his neck.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen by this writer this morning while on psychological observation in the hospital area of the prison.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein was in good spirits today and engaged in reciprocal conversation with this writer this morning. He smiled and remarked, "welcome back" when this writer arrived. He continues to assert he does not remember how he received marks around his neck, remarking "I do not remember anything, maybe you can give me some cues." He stated he just remembers going for a drink of water and the next thing he knew he woke up to the sound of his own snoring. When this writer attempted to get a more detailed account from him, indicating that it would be rare to have such impairments in memory as he does not suffer from an acute cognitive disorder, he smiled and said he understood my position.

Inmate Epstein did reveal he is unhappy with his current confinement in Special Housing (SHU) as he considers it "a punishment cell." He said he finds the restrictions up there unfair as he has not done anything wrong. Inmate Epstein stated he feels it is dangerous in the SHU, he cannot sleep well up there due to noise from the other inmates, it smells, and it is difficult for him to work on his legal case up there. He stated he has not received the phone calls he was promised nor has he been able to receive recreation. It was explained to him that he spends the entire day in the attorney conference room and it is likely that he has missed the times when staff members have attempted to give him phone calls and recreation. Inmate Epstein also reported complaints about the attorney conference room, stating they do not take him to the bathroom frequently enough.

Inmate Epstein adamantly denied any suicidality at this time, stating "I am too vested in my case to fight it, I have a life and I want to go back to living my life." He denied any acute symptoms at this time.

According to his log book, he has been eating, drinking, sleeping, and interacting with the inmate companions. He has also been attending his daily legal visits.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was mostly receptive to these interventions. He requested to be housed in general population rather than the SHU and stated he wanted to remain on psychological observation due to his concerns with being in the SHU.

Progress/Plan

In an abundance of caution, inmate Epstein will remain on psychological observation. He has yet to give an account of how he sustained the marks around his neck, is not revealing much about his mental status, and there are concerns about his adjustment at this time to being housed in the SHU. Inmate Epstein will be seen daily by psychology while on psychological observation.

Watch Start Date: 07/23/2019 01:40 Watch Stop Date: 07/24/2019 08:45

Total Time on Watch: 31 hrs 5 minutes

Watch Conducted By: Both inmates and staff Transfered to Medical Center: No

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Current Mental Status: Mr. EPSTEIN was alert and oriented. He was polite, calm, and cooperative in demeanor. He exhibited a neutral affect with appropriate range. Eye contact and hygiene were appropriate. The inmate spoke with normal rate, tone, and volume. His thoughts were organized and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial, or irrelevant content. There was no evidence of perceptual disturbance, delusional ideation, or a formal thought disorder. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He noted having normal sleeping and eating habits. Mr. EPSTEIN explicitly denied recent and current suicidal ideation, planning, and intent. He was future-oriented and expressed a commitment to life and safety, agreeing to contact staff immediately should he experience suicidal ideation or psychological distress. He also denied thoughts of harming others.

Risk Factors Assessed:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self harm.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

The following DYNAMIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Current physical pain, Fear for own safety

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

Risk Factors: Mr. EPSTEIN has a significant scar around his neck, which is now scabbing over. He reported swelling in this area but denied experiencing any related pain. Mr. EPSTEIN continues to claim a lack of memory for the incident resulting in this scar. The story he provided was vague, such that this writer challenged him a couple of times, but he insisted he was being honest about his lapse in memory. The nature of the incident remain unclear. Mr. EPSTEIN is incarcerated for a very high profile crime with media attention. He was recently denied bail. He also reported difficulty managing his time in the SHU. He reported being fearful for his safety if he is to return to the cell with his previous cell mate.

Protective Factors: Mr. EPSTEIN adamantly denied current suicidal ideation or intent or a history of suicide attempts. He stated, "I have no interest in killing myself." He explained, although his situation is "not perfect" due to his being incarcerated, he noted he has "lots to do for [his] legal case." He described having a "wonderful life," to include interactions with "interesting people and projects." He said "it would be crazy" to take his life. He furthered, "I would not do that to myself." He denied feelings of hopelessness, although did report being "depressed" and "unhappy" about his current legal situation. He previously denied a history of childhood abuse. He reported he is sleeping adequately now that he is no longer in the SHU. He appear future-oriented as he endorsed an interest in being housed in general population.

Weighing of Risk and Protective Factors: Mr. EPSTEIN adamantly denied sucidality. However, in light of his vague self-report regarding the incident which precipitated his placement on Suicide Watch, combined with his fear for his own safety, reported difficulty managing his time in the SHU, and the high profile nature of his alleged offense, Mr. EPSTEIN will be stepped down from Suicide Watch to Psychological Observation.

Changes in Risk Factors Assessed

Upon a review of the log book, it was indicated Mr. EPSTEIN has been speaking to the inmate companions about having previously taught mathematics and physics. He has been observed pacing the cell as well as sleeping, eating, and drinking within normal limits.

Upon interview today, Mr. EPSTEIN requested he be provided a toothbrush as well as a shower. His requests were made known to the lieutenants and he was provided a shower prior to attending his legal visit. This writer also provided him a toothbrush, toothpaste, and hygiene products.

Asked about the alleged incident which transpired yesterday resulting in his placement on Suicide Watch, Mr. EPSTEIN said he is frustrated he has been placed in a "punishment cell for no reason." Specifically, Mr. EPSTEIN was referring to his placement in the SHU. Asked to recall the events surrounding the alleged incident, Mr. EPSTEIN said his cell mate was "playing with a bed sheet" and he claimed he does not recall the events thereafter. He said he recalled eating meat and drinking water and claimed the next event for which he has memory is his hearing himself snore and waking up on a stretcher.

Mr. EPSTEIN claimed he does not recall himself or his cell mate tying a string or rope around his neck. He said he has "been trying to remember" and "wracking his mind." Asked if he experienced any interpersonal issues with his cell mate, Mr. EPSTEIN described his cell mate as "agitated" and claimed his cell mate called him a "pedophile" for the first time yesterday. His cell mate was also reportedly reading a newspaper article about Mr. EPSTEIN, which bothered him and it was something he believed to be "strange" for their to be an article about him in his cell. Mr. EPSTEIN recalled throwing away the newspaper photograph of himself by crumpling it and flushing it down the toilet. Asked if his cell mate ever threatened to harm him, he denied this to be the case. Asked why he told the inmate companions yesterday his cell mate tried to kill him, while also claiming no memory of the incident, Mr. EPSTEIN again said he did not recall the incident and further stated, "I don't know if he put it there as a joke." Mr. EPSTEIN explained he had been experiencing difficulty sleeping in his SHU cell due to his inmate peers banging on the cell door and window, but has not been experiencing any other acute issues other than this.

Reason for Removal from Watch

Mr. EPSTEIN stated, "I have no interest in killing myself." He explained although his situation is "not perfect" due to his being incarcerated, he noted he has "lots to do for [his] legal case." He described having a "wonderful life," to include interactions with "interesting people and projects." He said "it would be crazy" to take his life. He furthered, "I would not do that to myself." Mr. EPSTEIN did express a feeling of safety being housed on Psychological Observation rather than in the SHU. He asked if he could remain on this status for a couple of days, he was advised his housing situation will be re-evaluated on a day-to-day basis. He expressed a desire to be housed in general population rather than in the SHU and asked if there were a "safer" unit for him to be housed in comparison to the one where he was initially placed. Mr. EPSTEIN claimed there were many MS-13 gang members on the initial unit. He was advised he will be maintained on Psychological Observation in the near future, but his long-term housing situation will be revisited, as it is not ideal for one to remain in isolation on Psychological Observation for extended periods of time. Mr. EPSTEIN acknowledged this information and thanked this writer for her explanation and time.

Diagnosis:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

Conclusions

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Low
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

Recommendations

1. Mr. EPSTEIN will be removed from Suicide Watch and stepped down to Psychological Observation.
2. While on Psychological Observation, he will be continuously observed by Inmate Companions.
3. While on Psychological Observation, he will be seen daily by Psychology.
4. Supportive and educative interventions were provided.
5. Mr. EPSTEIN was provided novels and a request was made for his legal paperwork to be provided to him on Psychological

Observation.

6. This writer contacted the Pharmacy to indicate Mr. EPSTEIN has not been receiving his medication used to alleviate his constipation.
7. Mr. EPSTEIN attended a legal visit today, after having been provided a shower.
8. Mr. EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting psychology.
9. The inmate was encouraged to reach out for PRN services should he experience any psychological distress.

Type of Housing: SHU- Administrative Segregation
Cell Accommodation: Double-Cell

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Clinical Interview, Medical Record, Psychology Data System, Sentry

Reason for Referral

The On Call Psychologist, Dr. Miller, had been contacted by the Operations Lt. at about 2 AM on 7/23/19 to inform her that Mr. Epstein was being placed on Suicide Watch because he was found with a string around his neck. Mr. Epstein was seen by this writer for a Suicide Risk Assessment at about 9:10 AM on 7/23/19.

This note is being entered at about 3:35 PM on 7/23/19.

Mental Health History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time."

Self-Harm History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past."

Substance Abuse History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol."

Current Problem

Earlier this morning Mr. Epstein was found by SHU staff in his cell with a string loosely tied around his neck. It is unclear at this time if Mr. Epstein had placed the string around his own neck.

When Mr. Epstein was asked by this writer how he ended up on Suicide Watch, he denied remembering. He stated he got a drink of water last night in his cell and went back to bed. He said the next thing he remembered is hearing himself snore. He said he wants to know why he is on Suicide Watch. He was informed that staff stated he was found in his cell with a string on his neck. According to Medical records, he had been seen by Medical for this and had a rule out of self inflicted injuries.

When this writer reviewed the Staff Suicide Watch Log, it noted that Mr. Epstein told the staff watching him that his cellmate tried to kill him, which Mr. Epstein did not tell this writer when this writer had interviewed Mr. Epstein. This writer was not able to ask Mr. Epstein about this, since Mr. Epstein was now in Legal. The Captain was notified about this notation and the Captain stated they were already aware of this statement.

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

EFTA00045590

Thought Content: Normal

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

The following DYNAMIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Current physical pain

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

Risk Factors: He was found by staff in his cell in SHU with a string loosely tied around his neck, which Mr. Epstein stated he did not remember anything about. It is unclear at this time if Mr. Epstein had placed the string around his own neck or if someone else did. According to Medical, he had a circular line around the base of his neck, which he denied knowing how he obtained. He stated his throat hurts which was reported to Medical. He has a high profile sex offense case and recently was denied bail. When asked if he has any friends or family that are emotionally supportive, he stated he does not know what that means. When emotional supports were explained to him and then again asked if he as any family or friends that are emotionally supportive, he was vague and said he has a lot of people.

Protective Factors: He denied current suicidal or self harm thoughts or ever having these thoughts. He denied a history of self harm and suicide attempts. He denied a family history of suicidal and self harm attempts. He denied having any chronic medical conditions. He denied feeling hopeless. He denied a history of childhood abuse. He denied fearing for his safety. He denied feeling like a burden to anyone. He reported he is sleeping adequately. He stated he lives to have fun, to enjoy life, and to learn. He said his future plans include fighting his case and going back to his normal life.

Whereas, he is denying suicidal and self harm thoughts and has a lot of protective factors, he is denying that he remembers how he ended up on Suicide Watch and has marks encircling his neck. It is unclear at this time if he had placed the string around his neck or if someone else did. He will remain on Suicide Watch for further observation and safekeeping.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Moderate
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Mr. Epstein will remain on Suicide Watch for further observation and safekeeping.
2. While on Suicide Watch, he will be continuously observed by Inmate Companions.
3. While on Suicide Watch, he will be seen daily by Psychology.
4. Supportive and educative interventions were provided.
5. Medical was informed that he reported his throat hurts.

Suicide Watch: A suicide watch was initiated by non-clinical staff and continues to be warranted

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein called for this writer in attorney conference today. The officer in attorney conference notified this writer that he was asking to be seen.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein reported he has not received a spoon or soap in SHU, nor did he receive the phone calls that were "promised to him." He told this writer we need to have mutual trust that his needs are met in the prison. This writer told inmate Epstein that she would address his concerns. On the way out, a staff member told this writer she witnessed inmate Epstein receive two phone calls from the Lt. Nonetheless, this writer informed the SHU lieutenant of his concerns and he said he would ensure that he had soap, a spoon, and his initial SHU phone call. Inmate Epstein did not have any psychological concerns today. He denied any mental health symptoms or suicidality. He has been eating as best as he can and has requested a Kosher diet.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was receptive to these interventions. He continued with his legal visit.

Progress/Plan

Inmate EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He was reminded of the self-help books and audiotapes available through the Psychology department. There appears to be no need for follow up at this time. He will be seen in SHU for rounds and monthly SHU reviews.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen for his psychological observation follow-up in attorney conference this afternoon.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein reported he has been consulting with his attorney most of the day. He elucidated concerns about his incarceration including not receiving his property yet in SHU, feeling cold in his cell, not receiving his Colace, not having enough water in attorney conference, and a desire to recreate in SHU." Inmate Epstein was also upset about wearing an orange jumpsuit and being treated like "a bad guy" when he did not do anything wrong in the prison. Custody and security concerns were addressed with inmate Epstein including why he has to wear his orange jumpsuit (due to his being housed in SHU). He requested that he be placed in a brown uniform during his legal visits. He was told his concerns would be addressed in the SHU meeting.

Inmate Epstein stated he is not having any current problems with his cellmate and indicated he at bran cereal for breakfast and took a shower yesterday. He did not sleep well last night. Inmate Epstein continues to deny any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He did not appear to be in any distress at this time.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions, CBT-based interventions, and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was receptive to these interventions.

Progress/Plan

Inmate EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He was reminded of the self-help books and audiotapes available through the Psychology department. He will be seen next week after his bail hearing to assess his mental status and psychological stability.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen today for a psychological observation contact in the hospital area by this writer.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein appeared well and it was noted in his log book and eating/sleeping chart that he has been eating his meals, sleeping, interacting with the inmate companions, and pacing in his cell. Today, he presented this writer with numerous concerns and requests. He stated he does not want to be housed in the SHU because he is not comfortable there; he wants to be single-celled if he goes to the SHU; he wants Colace, not the Ducolex he received from medical yesterday; he wants to be able to walk around and go to recreation; he does not want to wear an orange uniform to his legal visits because he is treated "like a punished inmate;" he wants a phone call before he leaves the psychological observation area; he wants a shower and towel; he would like to be housed in the cadre (5S) unit; and would like his property, paper, and a pen.

Inmate Epstein's concerns were addressed by this writer and it was explained to him he will not be single-celled or placed in a housing unit for safety and security concerns. His medical concerns (constipation) were discussed with health services as well as his desire to be placed on Colace. Inmate Epstein was provided a shower this morning.

Intervention(s)

Inmate Epstein was provided with supportive intervention and coping skills strategies today. He was receptive to interventions and was able to elucidate his various needs. He did not present with any acute psychopathology and continues to deny any suicidal ideation, intention, or plan. He is looking forward to his bail hearing on Monday but stated he is aware that even if he gets bail, it will take at least two weeks to sort things out so he can leave the jail.

Progress/Plan

Inmate Epstein is not in any psychological distress, does not present with any mental health symptoms or complaints, and is denying any suicidality. He appears psychologically stable at this time and can be released from the psychological observation area. Inmate Epstein will be housed in the 9S area with a cellmate. He will be seen again tomorrow by psychology to evaluate his mental status and psychological stability.

Relevant Historical Information

Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male, currently incarcerated on sex trafficking charges. He denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time. Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past. Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Presenting Problem/Symptom

Inmate Epstein was seen for suicide risk assessment today for precautionary reasons. He did not mark any mental health items or symptoms on his Psychology Questionnaire (PSIQ) when he entered the institution. Nonetheless, Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours yesterday evening and staff notified the on-call psychologist. Inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a formal suicide risk assessment to determine whether he is currently at-risk for suicidality.

Diagnostic Formulation

Inmate Epstein has no history of mental health problems and does not exhibit suicidality at this time. He has never received inpatient or outpatient mental health treatment and denied any history of suicidality. Currently, he does not exhibit any acute psychopathology, is currently psychologically stable and is in no psychological distress. As such, he is being classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who either has no identifiable mental illness (Axis I "No Diagnosis") or is mildly ill and requires clinical intervention on an as-needed basis.

Care Level Formulation

CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Clinical Interview, Medical Record

Inmate Epstein was placed on psychological observation when he returned from court yesterday evening 7/8/19 for precautionary reasons. He is not on a suicide watch at this time.

Reason for Referral

Inmate Epstein is being seen for suicide risk assessment today for precautionary reasons. Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. As such, this writer instructed R&D staff, as well as the Lieutenant's Office, to immediately notify the psychology department when he returned from court. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours and denied suicidality. The aforementioned staff notified the on-call psychologist and inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a suicide risk assessment.

Developmental History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of being the victim and/or perpetrator of physical or sexual abuse.

Educational History/Cognitive Impairment

Inmate Epstein reported he obtained his high school diploma and attended some graduate classes in the area of mathematics.

Arrest History and Experience of Incarceration

Inmate Epstein reported he has served time in Palm Beach County jail on sex offense charges (soliciting prostitution) in the past. He is now being charged with sex trafficking, on a federal level.

Mental Health History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time.

Self-Harm History

Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past.

Substance Abuse History

Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Medical Concerns

Inmate Epstein denied any significant medical problems, other than a history of high triglycerides. He reported feeling constipated at this time.

Current Problem

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation due to his having multiple risk factors associated with suicidality. He denies any suicidality at this time and has no mental health or suicide history. He is being seen for a suicide risk assessment in an abundance of caution.

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

See Amendment

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Inmate Epstein did not exhibit any acute psychopathology and exhibited a clear mental status.

Current Mental Status: Mr. EPSTEIN was alert and oriented. He was polite, calm, and cooperative in demeanor. He exhibited a neutral affect with appropriate range. Eye contact and hygiene were appropriate. The inmate spoke with normal rate, tone, and volume. His thoughts were organized and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial, or irrelevant content. There was no evidence of perceptual disturbance, delusional ideation, or a formal thought disorder. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He noted having normal sleeping and eating habits. Mr. EPSTEIN explicitly denied recent and current suicidal ideation, planning, and intent. He was future-oriented and expressed a commitment to life and safety, agreeing to contact staff immediately should he experience suicidal ideation.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

Of the DYNAMIC risk factors assessed, none were found to be present.

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

As noted above, Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male. He has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with extensive media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which may have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein also informed this writer that his only family at this time is his brother, with whom he does not have a close relationship with.

Despite these risk factors, inmate Epstein possesses a number of protective factors at this time. Inmate Epstein adamantly denied any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He was very future oriented and requested a phone call, to meet with his attorney, to take a shower, and to brush his teeth. He was eating his cereal when this writer arrived and said "I have my paper spoon here." He reported he is going to have a bail hearing on Monday and believes he is going to be released from jail. Inmate Epstein reported he is a Banker and has a "big business" in the community and that "being alive is fun." He also revealed he enjoys learning and teaching. He has confidence in his attorney and described him as "competent." Inmate Epstein denied any mental health history or history of suicidality. He also reported none of his family members have mental health histories. Inmate Epstein stated he is a mathematician and took post graduate classes in this area of study. Inmate Epstein stated he has a support system in the community, including friends and other associates. Finally, inmate Epstein demonstrated a good sense of humor and did not appear dysphoric, agitated or anxious. No acute psychopathology was noted.

Overall, inmate Epstein has numerous protective factors at this time that outweigh his risk factors for suicidality. He has a positive outlook regarding his legal case, demonstrates no psychiatric symptoms, has no psychiatric or suicide history, and verbalized a desire to be alive at this time and future orientation.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Low
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

EFTA00045604

RECOMMENDATIONS

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation pending suitable housing placement. In light of his current sex offense charges and extensive media coverage on the television, he will need to be confined in a suitable housing unit. Inmate Epstein will be seen daily while on psychological observation and will be seen for a psychological observation follow-up session once he is released from observation. Inmate Epstein denied the need for psychological intervention, self-help materials, or follow-up. He has been classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

FINDINGS

Medical Record, Clinical Interview

Inmate Epstein was placed on psychological observation when he returned from court yesterday evening 7/8/19 for precautionary reasons. He is not on a suicide watch at this time. He was seen this morning for a psychological observation contact and suicide risk assessment this morning, 7/9/19, at 7:30 a.m. as it was determined he possessed some at-risk factors for suicidality.

Reason for Referral

Inmate Epstein is being seen for suicide risk assessment today for precautionary reasons. Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. As such, this writer instructed R&D staff, as well as the Lieutenant's Office, to immediately notify the psychology department when he returned from court. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours and denied suicidality. The aforementioned staff notified the on-call psychologist and inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a suicide risk assessment.

Developmental History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of being the victim and/or perpetrator of physical or sexual abuse.

Educational History/Cognitive Impairment

Inmate Epstein reported he obtained his high school diploma and attended some graduate classes in the area of mathematics.

Arrest History and Experience of Incarceration

Inmate Epstein reported he has served time in Palm Beach County jail on sex offense charges (soliciting prostitution) in the past. He is now being charged with sex trafficking, on a federal level.

Mental Health History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time.

Self-Harm History

Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past.

Substance Abuse History

Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Medical Concerns

Inmate Epstein denied any significant medical problems, other than a history of high triglycerides. He reported feeling constipated at this time.

Current Problem

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation due to his having multiple risk factors associated with suicidality. He denies any suicidality at this time and has no mental health or suicide history. He is being seen for a suicide risk assessment in an abundance of caution.

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Inmate Epstein did not exhibit any acute psychopathology and exhibited a clear mental status.

Current Mental Status: Mr. EPSTEIN was alert and oriented. He was polite, calm, and cooperative in demeanor. He exhibited a neutral affect with appropriate range. Eye contact and hygiene were appropriate. The inmate spoke with normal rate, tone, and volume. His thoughts were organized and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial, or irrelevant content. There was no evidence of perceptual disturbance, delusional ideation, or a formal thought disorder. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He noted having normal sleeping and eating habits. Mr. EPSTEIN explicitly denied recent and current suicidal ideation, planning, and intent. He was future-oriented and expressed a commitment to life and safety, agreeing to contact staff immediately should he experience suicidal ideation.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Sex offender status, Lack of family connections, High Profile Crime

Of the DYNAMIC risk factors assessed, none were found to be present.

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Willingness to engage in treatment, View of death as negative, Future orientation, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Adequate problem solving skills, Able to identify reasons to live

As noted above, Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male. He has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with extensive media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which may have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein also informed this writer that his only family at this time is his brother, with whom he does not have a close relationship with.

Comments

Risk of Sexual Abusiveness

During the intake screening process, for Inmate Epstein, based on the documentation available at the time of the screening, and Inmate Epstein's self-report, he was identified as being at risk for sexual abusiveness due to previous perpetration of sexual abuse in the community or in an institutional setting, as evidenced by the following objective criteria:

( ) Having a history of prior institutional violence or sexual abuse perpetration
(X ) Having a history of prior sexual abuse perpetration in the community
(X ) Having prior convictions of violent offenses

As required by P5324.11, Sexually Abusive Behavior Prevention and Intervention, Inmate Epstein was seen by Psychology on today's date to assess his risk factors for sexual abusiveness. At the onset of this clinical contact, the inmate was informed about the BOP requirements regarding PREA. Inmate Epstein indicated he understands the institution's policy against engaging in sexual behavior. His risk factors for sexual abusiveness were assessed and include:

( ) History of prior sexual victimization in prison
( X ) History of prior prison sexual predation
( ) History of head injury with loss of consciousness
( ) History of childhood psychological, physical, sexual abuse
( ) Witnessed family violence
( ) Antisocial Personality Disorder traits of irritability/aggressiveness and recklessness
( ) Hypersexuality (defined by eight or more orgasms a week prior to prison)
( ) Hypermasculinity
( ) Other:

Based on this clinical assessment, the inmate is considered to be at:

(X ) Low Risk of Abusiveness at this facility (Note: Even though this inmate is judged to be at low risk of sexual abusiveness, an unforeseen change in risk factors may significantly alter his risk level.). Programming recommendations included sex offender treatment. Inmate Epstein declined programming recommendations.The inmate understands the procedure for contacting Psychology for routine or emergent services.
( ) Moderate Risk of Abusiveness. The Unit Team and Correctional Staff have been notified regarding Psychology staff's recommendation that he not be housed in a cell with any inmates identified as at increased risk for sexual victimization. Psychology also recommends a greater level of supervision regarding his work and education assignments. Programming recommendations include XXXXX. Inmate =inmateLastName is agreeable to/ declined programming recommendations.
( ) High Risk of Abusiveness. It is recommended this inmate be housed in the Special Housing Unit in accordance with P5324.11 to "keep separate those inmates at high risk of being sexually victimized from those at high risk of being sexually abusive" until Correctional Services and Correctional Programs staff can assess his appropriateness for general population at this facility. This inmate should not be housed with any inmates judged to be at an increased risk for sexual victimization. Programming recommendations include XXXXX. Inmate =inmateLastName is agreeable to/ declined programming recommendations.

Suicide Risk Assessment

Inmate Name: EPSTEIN, JEFFREY [redacted] Reg #: 76318-054
Date of Birth: 01/20/1953 Sex: M Facility: NYM Unit Team: 5
Date: 07/23/2019 10:09 Provider: Imeri, Darlene PsyD

Type of Housing: SHU- Administrative Segregation
Cell Accommodation: Double-Cell

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Clinical Interview, Medical Record, Psychology Data System, Sentry

Reason for Referral

The On Call Psychologist, Dr. Miller, had been contacted by the Operations Lt. at about 2 AM on 7/23/19 to inform her that Mr. Epstein was being placed on Suicide Watch because he was found with a string around his neck. Mr. Epstein was seen by this writer for a Suicide Risk Assessment at about 9:10 AM on 7/23/19.

This note is being entered at about 3:35 PM on 7/23/19.

Mental Health History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time."

Self-Harm History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past."

Substance Abuse History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol."

Current Problem

Earlier this morning Mr. Epstein was found by SHU staff in his cell with a string loosely tied around his neck. It is unclear at this time if Mr. Epstein had placed the string around his own neck.

When Mr. Epstein was asked by this writer how he ended up on Suicide Watch, he denied remembering. He stated he got a drink of water last night in his cell and went back to bed. He said the next thing he remembered is hearing himself snore. He said he wants to know why he is on Suicide Watch. He was informed that staff stated he was found in his cell with a string on his neck. According to Medical records, he had been seen by Medical for this and had a rule out of self inflicted injuries.

When this writer reviewed the Staff Suicide Watch Log, it noted that Mr. Epstein told the staff watching him that his cellmate tried to kill him, which Mr. Epstein did not tell this writer when this writer had interviewed Mr. Epstein. This writer was not able to ask Mr. Epstein about this, since Mr. Epstein was now in Legal. The Captain was notified about this notation and the Captain stated they were already aware of this statement.

Thought Content: Normal

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

The following DYNAMIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Current physical pain

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

Risk Factors: He was found by staff in his cell in SHU with a string loosely tied around his neck, which Mr. Epstein stated he did not remember anything about. It is unclear at this time if Mr. Epstein had placed the string around his own neck or if someone else did. According to Medical, he had a circular line around the base of his neck, which he denied knowing how he obtained. He stated his throat hurts which was reported to Medical. He has a high profile sex offense case and recently was denied bail. When asked if he has any friends or family that are emotionally supportive, he stated he does not know what that means. When emotional supports were explained to him and then again asked if he as any family or friends that are emotionally supportive, he was vague and said he has a lot of people.

Protective Factors: He denied current suicidal or self harm thoughts or ever having these thoughts. He denied a history of self harm and suicide attempts. He denied a family history of suicidal and self harm attempts. He denied having any chronic medical conditions. He denied feeling hopeless. He denied a history of childhood abuse. He denied fearing for his safety. He denied feeling like a burden to anyone. He reported he is sleeping adequately. He stated he lives to have fun, to enjoy life, and to learn. He said his future plans include fighting his case and going back to his normal life.

Whereas, he is denying suicidal and self harm thoughts and has a lot of protective factors, he is denying that he remembers how he ended up on Suicide Watch and has marks encircling his neck. It is unclear at this time if he had placed the string around his neck or if someone else did. He will remain on Suicide Watch for further observation and safekeeping.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Moderate
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Mr. Epstein will remain on Suicide Watch for further observation and safekeeping.
2. While on Suicide Watch, he will be continuously observed by Inmate Companions.
3. While on Suicide Watch, he will be seen daily by Psychology.
4. Supportive and educative interventions were provided.
5. Medical was informed that he reported his throat hurts.

Suicide Watch: A suicide watch was initiated by non-clinical staff and continues to be warranted
Suicide Watch was initiated on: 07/23/2019 01:40

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein called for this writer in attorney conference today. The officer in attorney conference notified this writer that he was asking to be seen.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein reported he has not received a spoon or soap in SHU, nor did he receive the phone calls that were "promised to him." He told this writer we need to have mutual trust that his needs are met in the prison. This writer told inmate Epstein that she would address his concerns. On the way out, a staff member told this writer she witnessed inmate Epstein receive two phone calls from the Lt. Nonetheless, this writer informed the SHU lieutenant of his concerns and he said he would ensure that he had soap, a spoon, and his initial SHU phone call. Inmate Epstein did not have any psychological concerns today. He denied any mental health symptoms or suicidality. He has been eating as best as he can and has requested a Kosher diet.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was receptive to these interventions. He continued with his legal visit.

Progress/Plan

Inmate EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He was reminded of the self-help books and audiotapes available through the Psychology department. There appears to be no need for follow up at this time. He will be seen in SHU for rounds and monthly SHU reviews.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen for his psychological observation follow-up in attorney conference this afternoon.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein reported he has been consulting with his attorney most of the day. He elucidated concerns about his incarceration including not receiving his property yet in SHU, feeling cold in his cell, not receiving his Colace, not having enough water in attorney conference, and a desire to recreate in SHU." Inmate Epstein was also upset about wearing an orange jumpsuit and being treated like "a bad guy" when he did not do anything wrong in the prison. Custody and security concerns were addressed with inmate Epstein including why he has to wear his orange jumpsuit (due to his being housed in SHU). He requested that he be placed in a brown uniform during his legal visits. He was told his concerns would be addressed in the SHU meeting.

Inmate Epstein stated he is not having any current problems with his cellmate and indicated he at bran cereal for breakfast and took a shower yesterday. He did not sleep well last night. Inmate Epstein continues to deny any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He did not appear to be in any distress at this time.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions, CBT-based interventions, and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was receptive to these interventions.

Progress/Plan

Inmate EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He was reminded of the self-help books and audiotapes available through the Psychology department. He will be seen next week after his bail hearing to assess his mental status and psychological stability.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen today for a psychological observation contact in the hospital area by this writer.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein appeared well and it was noted in his log book and eating/sleeping chart that he has been eating his meals, sleeping, interacting with the inmate companions, and pacing in his cell. Today, he presented this writer with numerous concerns and requests. He stated he does not want to be housed in the SHU because he is not comfortable there; he wants to be single-celled if he goes to the SHU; he wants Colace, not the Ducolex he received from medical yesterday; he wants to be able to walk around and go to recreation; he does not want to wear an orange uniform to his legal visits because he is treated "like a punished inmate;" he wants a phone call before he leaves the psychological observation area; he wants a shower and towel; he would like to be housed in the cadre (5S) unit; and would like his property, paper, and a pen.

Inmate Epstein's concerns were addressed by this writer and it was explained to him he will not be single-celled or placed in a housing unit for safety and security concerns. His medical concerns (constipation) were discussed with health services as well as his desire to be placed on Colace. Inmate Epstein was provided a shower this morning.

Intervention(s)

Inmate Epstein was provided with supportive intervention and coping skills strategies today. He was receptive to interventions and was able to elucidate his various needs. He did not present with any acute psychopathology and continues to deny any suicidal ideation, intention, or plan. He is looking forward to his bail hearing on Monday but stated he is aware that even if he gets bail, it will take at least two weeks to sort things out so he can leave the jail.

Progress/Plan

Inmate Epstein is not in any psychological distress, does not present with any mental health symptoms or complaints, and is denying any suicidality. He appears psychologically stable at this time and can be released from the psychological observation area. Inmate Epstein will be housed in the 9S area with a cellmate. He will be seen again tomorrow by psychology to evaluate his mental status and psychological stability.

Relevant Historical Information

Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male, currently incarcerated on sex trafficking charges. He denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time. Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past. Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Presenting Problem/Symptom

Inmate Epstein was seen by this writer for suicide risk assessment today, 7/9/19 at 7:30 a.m. for precautionary reasons. He returned from court yesterday evening. He did not mark any mental health items or symptoms on his Psychology Questionnaire (PSIQ) when he entered the institution. Nonetheless, Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours yesterday evening and staff notified the on-call psychologist. Inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a formal suicide risk assessment in order to determine whether he is currently at-risk for suicidality.

Diagnostic Formulation

Inmate Epstein has no history of mental health problems and does not exhibit suicidality at this time. He has never received inpatient or outpatient mental health treatment and denied any history of suicidality. Currently, he does not exhibit any acute psychopathology, is currently psychologically stable and is in no psychological distress. As such, he is being classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who either has no identifiable mental illness (Axis I "No Diagnosis") or is mildly ill and requires clinical intervention on an as-needed basis.

Care Level Formulation

CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

Type of Housing: Other Psychological Observation
Cell Accommodation: Single Cell

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Medical Record, Clinical Interview

Inmate Epstein was placed on psychological observation when he returned from court yesterday evening 7/8/19 for precautionary reasons. He is not on a suicide watch at this time. He was seen this morning for a psychological observation contact and suicide risk assessment this morning, 7/9/19, at 7:30 a.m. as it was determined he possessed some at-risk factors for suicidality.

Reason for Referral

Inmate Epstein is being seen for suicide risk assessment today for precautionary reasons. Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. As such, this writer instructed R&D staff, as well as the Lieutenant's Office, to immediately notify the psychology department when he returned from court. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours and denied suicidality. The aforementioned staff notified the on-call psychologist and inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a suicide risk assessment.

Developmental History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of being the victim and/or perpetrator of physical or sexual abuse.

Educational History/Cognitive Impairment

Inmate Epstein reported he obtained his high school diploma and attended some graduate classes in the area of mathematics.

Arrest History and Experience of Incarceration

Inmate Epstein reported he has served time in Palm Beach County jail on sex offense charges (soliciting prostitution) in the past. He is now being charged with sex trafficking, on a federal level.

Mental Health History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time.

Self-Harm History

Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past.

Substance Abuse History

Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Medical Concerns

Inmate Epstein denied any significant medical problems, other than a history of high triglycerides. He reported feeling constipated at this time.

Current Problem

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation due to his having multiple risk factors associated with suicidality. He denies any suicidality at this time and has no mental health or suicide history. He is being seen for a suicide risk assessment in an abundance of caution.

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Inmate Epstein did not exhibit any acute psychopathology and exhibited a clear mental status.

Current Mental Status: Mr. EPSTEIN was alert and oriented. He was polite, calm, and cooperative in demeanor. He exhibited a neutral affect with appropriate range. Eye contact and hygiene were appropriate. The inmate spoke with normal rate, tone, and volume. His thoughts were organized and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial, or irrelevant content. There was no evidence of perceptual disturbance, delusional ideation, or a formal thought disorder. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He noted having normal sleeping and eating habits. Mr. EPSTEIN explicitly denied recent and current suicidal ideation, planning, and intent. He was future-oriented and expressed a commitment to life and safety, agreeing to contact staff immediately should he experience suicidal ideation.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Sex offender status, Lack of family connections, High Profile Crime

Of the DYNAMIC risk factors assessed, none were found to be present.

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Willingness to engage in treatment, View of death as negative, Future orientation, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Adequate problem solving skills, Able to identify reasons to live

As noted above, Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male. He has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with extensive media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which may have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein also informed this writer that his only family at this time is his brother, with whom he does not have a close relationship with.

Despite these risk factors, inmate Epstein possesses a number of protective factors at this time. Inmate Epstein adamantly denied any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He was very future oriented and requested a phone call, to meet with his attorney, to take a shower, and to brush his teeth. He was eating his cereal when this writer arrived and said "I have my paper spoon here." He reported he is going to have a bail hearing on Monday and believes he is going to be released from jail. Inmate Epstein reported he is a Banker and has a "big business" in the community and that "being alive is fun." He also revealed he enjoys learning and teaching. He has confidence in his attorney and described him as "competent." Inmate Epstein denied any mental health history or history of suicidality. He also reported none of his family members have mental health histories. Inmate Epstein stated he is a mathematician and took post graduate classes in this area of study. Inmate Epstein stated he has a support system in the community, including friends and other associates. Finally, inmate Epstein demonstrated a good sense of humor and did not appear dysphoric, agitated or anxious. No acute psychopathology was noted.

Overall, inmate Epstein has numerous protective factors at this time that outweigh his risk factors for suicidality. He has a positive outlook regarding his legal case, demonstrates no psychiatric symptoms, has no psychiatric or suicide history, and verbalized a desire to be alive at this time and future orientation.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Low
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

RECOMMENDATIONS

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation pending suitable housing placement. In light of his current sex offense charges and extensive media coverage on the television, he will need to be confined in a suitable housing unit. Inmate Epstein will be seen daily while on psychological observation and will be seen for a psychological observation follow-up session once he is released from observation. Inmate Epstein denied the need for psychological intervention, self-help materials, or follow-up. He has been classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

Of the DYNAMIC risk factors assessed, none were found to be present.

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

As noted above, Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male. He has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with extensive media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which may have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein also informed this writer that his only family at this time is his brother, with whom he does not have a close relationship with.

Despite these risk factors, inmate Epstein possesses a number of protective factors at this time. Inmate Epstein adamantly denied any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He was very future oriented and requested a phone call, to meet with his attorney, to take a shower, and to brush his teeth. He was eating his cereal when this writer arrived and said "I have my paper spoon here." He reported he is going to have a bail hearing on Monday and believes he is going to be released from jail. Inmate Epstein reported he is a Banker and has a "big business" in the community and that "being alive is fun." He also revealed he enjoys learning and teaching. He has confidence in his attorney and described him as "competent." Inmate Epstein denied any mental health history or history of suicidality. He also reported none of his family members have mental health histories. Inmate Epstein stated he is a mathematician and took post graduate classes in this area of study. Inmate Epstein stated he has a support system in the community, including friends and other associates. Finally, inmate Epstein demonstrated a good sense of humor and did not appear dysphoric, agitated or anxious. No acute psychopathology was noted.

Overall, inmate Epstein has numerous protective factors at this time that outweigh his risk factors for suicidality. He has a positive outlook regarding his legal case, demonstrates no psychiatric symptoms, has no psychiatric or suicide history, and verbalized a desire to be alive at this time and future orientation.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Low
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

EFTA00045696

RECOMMENDATIONS

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation pending suitable housing placement. In light of his current sex offense charges and extensive media coverage on the television, he will need to be confined in a suitable housing unit. Inmate Epstein will be seen daily while on psychological observation and will be seen for a psychological observation follow-up session once he is released from observation. Inmate Epstein denied the need for psychological intervention, self-help materials, or follow-up. He has been classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

Suicide Watch: A suicide watch is not warranted at this time

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Clinical Interview, Medical Record

Inmate Epstein was placed on psychological observation when he returned from court yesterday evening 7/8/19 for precautionary reasons. He is not on a suicide watch at this time.

Reason for Referral

Inmate Epstein is being seen for suicide risk assessment today for precautionary reasons. Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. As such, this writer instructed R&D staff, as well as the Lieutenant's Office, to immediately notify the psychology department when he returned from court. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours and denied suicidality. The aforementioned staff notified the on-call psychologist and inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a suicide risk assessment.

Developmental History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of being the victim and/or perpetrator of physical or sexual abuse.

Educational History/Cognitive Impairment

Inmate Epstein reported he obtained his high school diploma and attended some graduate classes in the area of mathematics.

Arrest History and Experience of Incarceration

Inmate Epstein reported he has served time in Palm Beach County jail on sex offense charges (soliciting prostitution) in the past. He is now being charged with sex trafficking, on a federal level.

Mental Health History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time.

Self-Harm History

Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past.

Substance Abuse History

Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Medical Concerns

Inmate Epstein denied any significant medical problems, other than a history of high triglycerides. He reported feeling constipated at this time.

Risk of Sexual Abusiveness

During the intake screening process, for Inmate Epstein, based on the documentation available at the time of the screening, and Inmate Epstein's self-report, he was identified as being at risk for sexual abusiveness due to previous perpetration of sexual abuse in the community or in an institutional setting, as evidenced by the following objective criteria:

( ) Having a history of prior institutional violence or sexual abuse perpetration
(X ) Having a history of prior sexual abuse perpetration in the community
(X ) Having prior convictions of violent offenses

As required by P5324.11, Sexually Abusive Behavior Prevention and Intervention, Inmate Epstein was seen by Psychology on today's date to assess his risk factors for sexual abusiveness. At the onset of this clinical contact, the inmate was informed about the BOP requirements regarding PREA. Inmate Epstein indicated he understands the institution's policy against engaging in sexual behavior. His risk factors for sexual abusiveness were assessed and include:

( ) History of prior sexual victimization in prison
( X ) History of prior prison sexual predation
( ) History of head injury with loss of consciousness
( ) History of childhood psychological, physical, sexual abuse
( ) Witnessed family violence
( ) Antisocial Personality Disorder traits of irritability/aggressiveness and recklessness
( ) Hypersexuality (defined by eight or more orgasms a week prior to prison)
( ) Hypermasculinity
( ) Other:

Based on this clinical assessment, the inmate is considered to be at:

(X ) Low Risk of Abusiveness at this facility (Note: Even though this inmate is judged to be at low risk of sexual abusiveness, an unforeseen change in risk factors may significantly alter his risk level.). Programming recommendations included sex offender treatment. Inmate Epstein declined programming recommendations.The inmate understands the procedure for contacting Psychology for routine or emergent services.
( ) Moderate Risk of Abusiveness. The Unit Team and Correctional Staff have been notified regarding Psychology staff's recommendation that he not be housed in a cell with any inmates identified as at increased risk for sexual victimization. Psychology also recommends a greater level of supervision regarding his work and education assignments. Programming recommendations include XXXXX. Inmate =inmateLastName is agreeable to/ declined programming recommendations.
( ) High Risk of Abusiveness. It is recommended this inmate be housed in the Special Housing Unit in accordance with P5324.11 to "keep separate those inmates at high risk of being sexually victimized from those at high risk of being sexually abusive" until Correctional Services and Correctional Programs staff can assess his appropriateness for general population at this facility. This inmate should not be housed with any inmates judged to be at an increased risk for sexual victimization. Programming recommendations include XXXXX. Inmate =inmateLastName is agreeable to/ declined programming recommendations.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen today for a follow-up session in SHU.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein stated he is feeling okay and has been eating his meals. He reported his sleep as "fair" and would like to go the general population. He denied any mental health symptoms at this time and denied any feelings of depression and/or anxiety. Inmate Epstein denied any suicidal ideation, intention, or plan. He currently has a cellmate and appears to interact with him. Inmate Epstein continues to spend his days and evening with his attorney's in the attorney conference room. He told this writer he received his PAC number to make phone calls. Inmate Epstein indicated he has only had a couple of phone calls over the speaker phone and wondered "if that counted" as his monthly phone contact. He also reported he his missing some books he was reading in the suicide watch area prior to returning to the SHU.

Other than complaints about the prison and concerns regarding his housing, he had no mental health concerns today. He did not appear to be in any distress and the SHU Staff have not reported any unusual behaviors on his part.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was receptive to these interventions.

Progress/Plan

Inmate EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He was reminded of the self-help books and audiotapes available through the Psychology department. There appears to be no need for follow up at this time. He will be seen in weekly rounds and monthly for SHU reviews.

Date of Birth: 01/20/1953 Sex: M Facility: NYM Unit Team: 5
Date: 08/01/2019 13:29 Provider: Imeri, Darlene PsyD

Type of Housing: SHU- Administrative Segregation
Cell Accommodation: Double-Cell

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Clinical Interview, Medical Record, Psychology Data System, Sentry

Reason for Referral

R & D staff reported to this writer this morning at about 8:30 AM on 8/01/19 that yesterday when Mr. Epstein was brought back from court the US Marshals asked him to sign a form that noted Mr. Epstein has "suicidal tendencies." Mr. Epstein was seen for a Suicide Risk Assessment at about 1:00 PM on 8/01/19 in Attorney Conference.

This note is being entered at about 4:20 PM on 8/01/19.

Mental Health History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time."

Self-Harm History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past."

According to this writer's Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/23/19, "It is unclear at this time if he had placed the string around his neck or if someone else did."

Current Problem

R & D staff reported to this writer this morning at about 8:30 AM on 8/01/19 that yesterday when Mr. Epstein was brought back from court the US Marshals asked him to sign a form that noted Mr. Epstein has "suicidal tendencies." This is likely due to the incident on 7/23/19, but as a precaution another Suicide Risk Assessment was conducted.

Mr. Epstein seemed surprised that there was a form noting suicidal tendencies. He denied stating he was suicidal.

He said he saw the DHO today and he said his incident report for the marks on his neck was expunged. He stated even though he has his cpap machine now, he said his cellmate talks at night and he stated this keeps him up. This writer offered to talk to the SHU Lt. to have him housed with a different cellmate, but he stated he wants to give it 3 to 4 days to see if he wants a different cellmate. He complained about the noise in SHU.

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a mildly restricted range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

The following DYNAMIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Current physical pain, Sleep problems

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, Religious beliefs against suicide, Supportive family relationships, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

Risk Factors: He was found by staff in his cell in SHU on 7/23/19 with a string loosely tied around his neck, which Mr. Epstein stated he did not remember anything about. It is still unclear at this time if Mr. Epstein had placed the string around his own neck or if someone else did. He has a high profile sex offense case. He stated his lower back hurts and he stated Medical is aware of this. He stated he has difficulty sleeping even with his cpap machine because he stated his cellmate talks at night.

Protective Factors: He denied current suicidal or self harm thoughts and agreed to tell staff if he starts to have these thoughts. He had denied a history of self harm and suicide attempts. He had denied a family history of suicidal and self harm attempts. He had denied having any chronic medical conditions. He denied feeling hopeless. He had denied a history of childhood abuse. He denied fearing for his safety at this time. He denied feeling like a burden to anyone. He stated he lives for and plans to finish this case and to go back to his normal life. He said his friends and Lawyers are emotionally supportive. He said he is Jewish and he said in his religion suicide is against the religion.

Overall, his current protective factors override his risk factors for suicidality. He is currently psychologically stable. He denied feeling hopeless. He is reporting positive future plans and reasons to live for. He said he has social supports in the community and his Lawyers visit him often. He denied any current suicidal or self harm ideation, intention or plan. Suicide Watch is not indicated at this time.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Low
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Suicide Watch is not indicated at this time.
2. Supportive and educative interventions were provided.
3. He was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff.
4. He will be seen in follow up by Psychology next week to monitor his mental status and to provide further intervention if needed.
5. In the meantime, he was encouraged to self-refer to Psychology if needed to which he agreed and seems capable of doing.
6. If he remains in SHU, he will be seen by Psychology in SHU Rounds and in SHU Reviews.

Suicide Watch: A suicide watch is not warranted at this time

Focus of Session

Mr. EPSTEIN was seen today by this writer for a follow up appointment after he was removed from Psychological Observation yesterday.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Mr. EPSTEIN presented in a pleasant mood and reported he is generally doing well. He stated, "I could be better," but acknowledged he is doing as well as can be expected given his circumstances. He reported he is going to court today for a status hearing. He stated he generally slept well last night and is readjusting to being placed back in SHU. He reported getting along well with his cell mate. He was informed of appropriate procedures for contacting Psychology staff while he is in SHU, if needed.

Current Mental Status: Mr. EPSTEIN was alert and oriented. He was polite, calm, and cooperative in demeanor. He exhibited a neutral affect with appropriate range. Eye contact and hygiene were appropriate. He spoke with normal rate, tone, and volume. His thoughts were organized and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial, or irrelevant content. There was no evidence of perceptual disturbance, delusional ideation, or a formal thought disorder. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He noted having normal sleeping and eating habits. Mr. EPSTEIN explicitly denied recent and current suicidal ideation, planning, and intent. He was future-oriented and expressed a commitment to life and safety, agreeing to contact staff immediately should he experience suicidal ideation or psychological distress. He also denied thoughts of harming others.

Intervention(s)

Supportive interventions and cognitive behavioral therapeutic techniques were utilized. Mr. EPSTEIN was receptive to all interventions.

Progress/Plan

Mr. EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting psychology. There appears to be no need for follow-up at this time and he expressed willingness to self refer to psychology staff if needed. He will continue to be seen during routine SHU rounds and SHU reviews while he is housed in SHU. He was encouraged to reach out for PRN services should he experience any psychological distress.

Reason for Referral and Identifying Information

Inmate Epstein was referred by Unit Manager Proto for an evaluation of competency to proceed with the disciplinary process for actions resulting in an incident report. On 7/23/19, inmate Epstein was charged with code 228 (Tattooing or Self-Mutilation). These infractions were assigned incident report number 3282555.

Background Information

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time."

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past."

According to this writer's Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/23/19, "It is unclear at this time if he had placed the string around his neck or if someone else did."

Clinical Interview and Mental Status Exam

Inmate Epstein still does not remember how he obtained the marks around his neck.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. There was no indication of disturbed thought process or content. Intellectual ability appeared to be above average. Personal hygiene was adequate. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

Clinical Impression

Findings

The determination of whether an inmate is competent to proceed with the disciplinary process is based on a clinical assessment of the inmate's (1) ability to understand the nature of the proceedings, and (2) their ability to assist in their own defense. Depending on the outcome of the assessment, one of three findings can be made: (1) the inmate is COMPETENT to proceed with the disciplinary process; (2) the inmate is NOT PRESENTLY COMPETENT but could be restored to competence with treatment; or (3) the inmate is NOT COMPETENT and is unlikely to become competent.

Recommendations Regarding Sanctions

In the case of inmate Epstein, after a review of available psychological and psychiatric records as well as information pertaining to the offense conduct, it is determined that this inmate is:

(X) COMPETENT to proceed with the disciplinary process.
( ) NOT PRESENTLY COMPETENT, but could become competent with treatment; it is recommended that the inmate for an updated competency assessment in 30 days.
( ) NOT COMPETENT and not likely to become competent.

Focus of Session

He was seen by writer while he was on Psych Observation.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

He stated he hasn't slept well at MCC-NY because he hasn't had his cpap machine. He stated it is here and he will be able to start using it tonight. He discussed how he does not think he will able to sleep in SHU and how he does not like SHU because of the noise. He discussed issues on not getting some medication with Medical today.

The "Eating/Shower Chart" indicated yesterday he ate breakfast and dinner, drank liquids, and took a shower when offered and so far today it noted he ate breakfast and drank liquids. The Psych Observation Log noted he slept, drank water, went to legal, and talked to an Inmate Companion about investments.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. There was no indication of disturbed thought process or content. Intellectual ability appeared to be above average. Personal hygiene was adequate. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

Intervention(s)

Supportive and educative interventions were provided. When asked about the Turning Point handouts for coping in SHU, he stated he already knows these strategies before he read the handouts and had tried them when he was in SHU the last time. He stated with the noise in SHU, he said the strategies will not work. He was encouraged to try them.

Progress/Plan

The Chief Psychologist was consulted. Psych Observation will be discontinued. Mr. Epstein was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He will be seen in follow up by Psychology tomorrow to monitor his mental status and to provide further intervention if needed and he was informed that he will be seen by Psychology tomorrow. In the meantime, he was encouraged to self-refer to Psychology if needed to which he agreed and seems capable of doing. If he remains in SHU, he will be seen by Psychology in SHU Rounds and in SHU Reviews. The SHU Lt. was informed that Mr. Epstein needs to be housed with an appropriate cellmate.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen while on psychological observation today in the hospital area.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Same presentation today, but he said he thinks his memory for the incident (injury to his neck) may be impaired because of his sleep apnea. He is supposed to get his CPAP machine today. He is aware he will be returning to SHU, but said he is feeling unwell due to his inability to sleep and numbness in his arm. He requested to have one good night of sleep with his CPAP and will return to SHU with a cellmate tomorrow. He then asked if he could remain down here where it is "safe" for the entire week. I told him he can stay down one more night to receive his CPAP and a good night's sleep, but that he would be returned to SHU tomorrow. It was explained that there is no mental health issues precluding him from returning to SHU tomorrow and that we could not house him in the SW/Hospital area because he felt safe or more comfortable for him. It was explained to him that he would be placed in a safe situation in the SHU.

According to his log book and eating/shower chart, he has been eating and drinking when not in his legal visits. He has also been writing and attending his legal visits.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was somewhat receptive to these interventions, but appears more concerned about getting his various needs in the prison (phone calls, recreation, housing placement concerns, etc.)

Progress/Plan

He will remain on psychological observation today and will transition to the SHU tomorrow. He will be seen by psychology daily to assess his mental status and psychological functioning.

Focus of Session

He was seen by writer while he was on Psych Observation.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

The "Eating/Shower Chart" noted that yesterday he ate breakfast. He is not in the Psych Observation cell for about 12 hours per day because of being in Attorney Conference with his Attorneys, so the "Eating/Shower Chart" may not reflect all of his meals. He stated he was served one meal in Attorney Conference yesterday. He stated he drinks a lot water at night. The Psych Observation log noted he talked about life in general population and he slept.

Earlier he had complained that his right arm was numb and hanging. Nurse Columbo from Medical had seen him for this.

When this writer was interviewing him, he said his right arm still feels somewhat numb and he said he cannot make a fist with that hand. He also said he has numbness on his neck. This writer notified Nurse Columbo.

He stated last night when he flushed the toilet it kept flushing for 45 minutes. He stated he found it so aversive and upsetting that he said he sat in the corner and held his ears. He said because of this he was agitated for hours and was not able to sleep. The Lt. will be moving him to a different cell and he was informed of this. He stated the feeling he got with the noise of the toilet was similar to when he was in SHU. He said he may have something on the Autism spectrum. He said in the movie "Rain Man," the person with Autism had an aversion to noise. He stated he is also really good with numbers.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a mildly anxious mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff and Inmate Companions if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff and Inmate Companions if he has these thoughts.

Intervention(s)

Supportive and educative interventions were again provided. He had not been given the Turning Point handouts yesterday that were on his cell door, so they were handed to him by staff today.

Progress/Plan

He will remain on Psych Observation in an abundance of caution and pending housing arrangements to be made on Monday. While on Psych Observation, he will be seen daily by Psychology.

The "Eating/Shower Chart" indicated yesterday he ate dinner, drank liquids, and took a shower when offered. The Psych Observation Log noted he brushed his teeth, went to a Legal visit, talked about business and investing to an Inmate Companion, ate, and slept.

When interviewed, he stated he still cannot remember what happened in SHU that caused the marks on his neck. He stated that for the 5 days before that he had only slept about 30 minutes each night because of noise in SHU. He stated he is anxious about going back to SHU because he stated he is going back to a place where he had gotten marks on his neck and he does not know why it happened.

He said he has an appetite and is eating. He said he is waking up every 1 1/2 hours. He stated he feels dehydrated because he is not drinking enough water because he stated he feels he is not given enough bathroom breaks while with his Attorney. Medical was e-mailed with his complaint of feeling dehydrated. He said his Lawyers and friends are all emotionally supportive.

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a mildly full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation. He stated "I'm a coward." He added he does not like pain and even does not like when he has to give blood. He agreed to immediately tell staff and Inmate Companions if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff and Inmate Companions if he has these thoughts.

Intervention(s)

Supportive and educative interventions were provided. He was given Turning Points handouts on stress management, sleep, and building a routine in SHU. He stated he wants it noted in his chart that he is being given a pamphlet on sleep, but that is not going to help because of the noise in SHU that prevents him from sleeping.

Progress/Plan

He will remain on Psych Observation in an abundance of caution and pending housing arrangements to be made on Monday. While on Psych Observation, he will be seen daily by Psychology.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen while on psychological observation in our hospital area.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Prior to this writer's contact with him, Inmate Epstein showered and dressed himself for his legal visit today. He was smiling and did crack some jokes during the interview. He did elucidate some complaints and suggested being disappointed with this writer as he wants "to trust me and for me to trust him." He stated he remains unhappy with legal visiting procedures as he cannot go to the bathroom as frequently as he would like to since he has a "weak bladder." Inmate Epstein also reported since coming to the psychological observation area, he has felt constipated and needs his Colace. He had self-carry Colace in SHU, but since coming to the observation area, he has not had his medication. This writer immediately notified medical and his pills were being processed during the interview. Inmate Epstein also continues to complain about the conditions of SHU confinement (i.e., feeling punished, smells, noise, and restrictions).

With regard to the events which lead to his initial placement on suicide watch, inmate Epstein stated he has no memory of the event. He asked to speak with his old cellmate "Nick" to see if he can tell him what happened or see if his memory could be triggered. He remarked, "I am still trying to figure out how I got this (pointing to the scab around his neck)." Inmate Epstein denies remembering harming himself and/or being harmed by his cellmate. He does not exhibit symptoms of any cognitive disorder, seizure disorder, psychotic disorder, or dissociative disorder at this time or in the past. Inmate Epstein denied any current suicidal ideation, intention, or plan. He reported wanting to be alive to fight his legal case and go back and live life. He referred to himself as "a coward" and "I'm Jewish." He said he is not the type who likes pain or would ever attempt to harm himself.

While on psychological observation, inmate Epstein has been eating his meals, sleeping and interacting with the inmate companions. He is in legal visiting the majority of the day and in the evenings. His log book and eating/shower chart reflect the same. He has been speaking to inmate companions about investment strategies and about prison adjustment. Correctional Staff report during his legal visits, he is interacting with his attorney, animated, laughing, and joking.

Intervention(s)

Inmate Epstein was provided with supportive and coping skills interventions today. He was receptive to them, but mostly wanted to express his complaints about his current prison confinement status and needs. He wanted this writer to address them.

Progress/Plan

Inmate Epstein will remain on psychological observation in an abundance of caution and pending housing arrangements to be made on Monday. He continues to be vague and reports memory deficits regarding the events which lead to a piece of sheet being placed loosely around his neck and marks with scabs around his neck.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen by this writer this morning while on psychological observation in the hospital area of the prison.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein was in good spirits today and engaged in reciprocal conversation with this writer this morning. He smiled and remarked, "welcome back" when this writer arrived. He continues to assert he does not remember how he received marks around his neck, remarking "I do not remember anything, maybe you can give me some cues." He stated he just remembers going for a drink of water and the next thing he knew he woke up to the sound of his own snoring. When this writer attempted to get a more detailed account from him, indicating that it would be rare to have such impairments in memory as he does not suffer from an acute cognitive disorder, he smiled and said he understood my position.

Inmate Epstein did reveal he is unhappy with his current confinement in Special Housing (SHU) as he considers it "a punishment cell." He said he finds the restrictions up there unfair as he has not done anything wrong. Inmate Epstein stated he feels it is dangerous in the SHU, he cannot sleep well up there due to noise from the other inmates, it smells, and it is difficult for him to work on his legal case up there. He stated he has not received the phone calls he was promised nor has he been able to receive recreation. It was explained to him that he spends the entire day in the attorney conference room and it is likely that he has missed the times when staff members have attempted to give him phone calls and recreation. Inmate Epstein also reported complaints about the attorney conference room, stating they do not take him to the bathroom frequently enough.

Inmate Epstein adamantly denied any suicidality at this time, stating "I am too vested in my case to fight it, I have a life and I want to go back to living my life." He denied any acute symptoms at this time.

According to his log book, he has been eating, drinking, sleeping, and interacting with the inmate companions. He has also been attending his daily legal visits.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was mostly receptive to these interventions. He requested to be housed in general population rather than the SHU and stated he wanted to remain on psychological observation due to his concerns with being in the SHU.

Progress/Plan

In an abundance of caution, inmate Epstein will remain on psychological observation. He has yet to give an account of how he sustained the marks around his neck, is not revealing much about his mental status, and there are concerns about his adjustment at this time to being housed in the SHU. Inmate Epstein will be seen daily by psychology while on psychological observation.

Watch Start Date: 07/23/2019 01:40 Watch Stop Date: 07/24/2019 08:45

Watch Conducted By: Both inmates and staff Transfered to Medical Center: No

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Current Mental Status: Mr. EPSTEIN was alert and oriented. He was polite, calm, and cooperative in demeanor. He exhibited a neutral affect with appropriate range. Eye contact and hygiene were appropriate. The inmate spoke with normal rate, tone, and volume. His thoughts were organized and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial, or irrelevant content. There was no evidence of perceptual disturbance, delusional ideation, or a formal thought disorder. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He noted having normal sleeping and eating habits. Mr. EPSTEIN explicitly denied recent and current suicidal ideation, planning, and intent. He was future-oriented and expressed a commitment to life and safety, agreeing to contact staff immediately should he experience suicidal ideation or psychological distress. He also denied thoughts of harming others.

Risk Factors Assessed:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self harm.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

The following DYNAMIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Current physical pain, Fear for own safety

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

Risk Factors: Mr. EPSTEIN has a significant scar around his neck, which is now scabbing over. He reported swelling in this area but denied experiencing any related pain. Mr. EPSTEIN continues to claim a lack of memory for the incident resulting in this scar. The story he provided was vague, such that this writer challenged him a couple of times, but he insisted he was being honest about his lapse in memory. The nature of the incident remain unclear. Mr. EPSTEIN is incarcerated for a very high profile crime with media attention. He was recently denied bail. He also reported difficulty managing his time in the SHU. He reported being fearful for his safety if he is to return to the cell with his previous cell mate.

Protective Factors: Mr. EPSTEIN adamantly denied current suicidal ideation or intent or a history of suicide attempts. He stated, "I have no interest in killing myself." He explained, although his situation is "not perfect" due to his being incarcerated, he noted he has "lots to do for [his] legal case." He described having a "wonderful life," to include interactions with "interesting people and projects." He said "it would be crazy" to take his life. He furthered, "I would not do that to myself." He denied feelings of hopelessness, although did report being "depressed" and "unhappy" about his current legal situation. He previously denied a history of childhood abuse. He reported he is sleeping adequately now that he is no longer in the SHU. He appear future-oriented as he endorsed an interest in being housed in general population.

Weighing of Risk and Protective Factors: Mr. EPSTEIN adamantly denied sucidality. However, in light of his vague self-report regarding the incident which precipitated his placement on Suicide Watch, combined with his fear for his own safety, reported difficulty managing his time in the SHU, and the high profile nature of his alleged offense, Mr. EPSTEIN will be stepped down from Suicide Watch to Psychological Observation.

Changes in Risk Factors Assessed

Upon a review of the log book, it was indicated Mr. EPSTEIN has been speaking to the inmate companions about having previously taught mathematics and physics. He has been observed pacing the cell as well as sleeping, eating, and drinking within normal limits.

Upon interview today, Mr. EPSTEIN requested he be provided a toothbrush as well as a shower. His requests were made known to the lieutenants and he was provided a shower prior to attending his legal visit. This writer also provided him a toothbrush, toothpaste, and hygiene products.

Asked about the alleged incident which transpired yesterday resulting in his placement on Suicide Watch, Mr. EPSTEIN said he is frustrated he has been placed in a "punishment cell for no reason." Specifically, Mr. EPSTEIN was referring to his placement in the SHU. Asked to recall the events surrounding the alleged incident, Mr. EPSTEIN said his cell mate was "playing with a bed sheet" and he claimed he does not recall the events thereafter. He said he recalled eating meat and drinking water and claimed the next event for which he has memory is his hearing himself snore and waking up on a stretcher.

Mr. EPSTEIN claimed he does not recall himself or his cell mate tying a string or rope around his neck. He said he has "been trying to remember" and "wracking his mind." Asked if he experienced any interpersonal issues with his cell mate, Mr. EPSTEIN described his cell mate as "agitated" and claimed his cell mate called him a "pedophile" for the first time yesterday. His cell mate was also reportedly reading a newspaper article about Mr. EPSTEIN, which bothered him and it was something he believed to be "strange" for their to be an article about him in his cell. Mr. EPSTEIN recalled throwing away the newspaper photograph of himself by crumpling it and flushing it down the toilet. Asked if his cell mate ever threatened to harm him, he denied this to be the case. Asked why he told the inmate companions yesterday his cell mate tried to kill him, while also claiming no memory of the incident, Mr. EPSTEIN again said he did not recall the incident and further stated, "I don't know if he put it there as a joke." Mr. EPSTEIN explained he had been experiencing difficulty sleeping in his SHU cell due to his inmate peers banging on the cell door and window, but has not been experiencing any other acute issues other than this.

Reason for Removal from Watch

Mr. EPSTEIN stated, "I have no interest in killing myself." He explained although his situation is "not perfect" due to his being incarcerated, he noted he has "lots to do for [his] legal case." He described having a "wonderful life," to include interactions with "interesting people and projects." He said "it would be crazy" to take his life. He furthered, "I would not do that to myself." Mr. EPSTEIN did express a feeling of safety being housed on Psychological Observation rather than in the SHU. He asked if he could remain on this status for a couple of days, he was advised his housing situation will be re-evaluated on a day-to-day basis. He expressed a desire to be housed in general population rather than in the SHU and asked if there were a "safer" unit for him to be housed in comparison to the one where he was initially placed. Mr. EPSTEIN claimed there were many MS-13 gang members on the initial unit. He was advised he will be maintained on Psychological Observation in the near future, but his long-term housing situation will be revisited, as it is not ideal for one to remain in isolation on Psychological Observation for extended periods of time. Mr. EPSTEIN acknowledged this information and thanked this writer for her explanation and time.

Diagnosis:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

Conclusions

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Low
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

Recommendations

1. Mr. EPSTEIN will be removed from Suicide Watch and stepped down to Psychological Observation.
2. While on Psychological Observation, he will be continuously observed by Inmate Companions.
3. While on Psychological Observation, he will be seen daily by Psychology.
4. Supportive and educative interventions were provided.
5. Mr. EPSTEIN was provided novels and a request was made for his legal paperwork to be provided to him on Psychological

Observation.

6. This writer contacted the Pharmacy to indicate Mr. EPSTEIN has not been receiving his medication used to alleviate his constipation.
7. Mr. EPSTEIN attended a legal visit today, after having been provided a shower.
8. Mr. EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting psychology.
9. The inmate was encouraged to reach out for PRN services should he experience any psychological distress.

Type of Housing: SHU- Administrative Segregation
Cell Accommodation: Double-Cell

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Clinical Interview, Medical Record, Psychology Data System, Sentry

Reason for Referral

The On Call Psychologist, Dr. Miller, had been contacted by the Operations Lt. at about 2 AM on 7/23/19 to inform her that Mr. Epstein was being placed on Suicide Watch because he was found with a string around his neck. Mr. Epstein was seen by this writer for a Suicide Risk Assessment at about 9:10 AM on 7/23/19.

This note is being entered at about 3:35 PM on 7/23/19.

Mental Health History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time."

Self-Harm History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past."

Substance Abuse History

According to a Suicide Risk Assessment dated 7/09/19 by Dr. Miller, "Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol."

Current Problem

Earlier this morning Mr. Epstein was found by SHU staff in his cell with a string loosely tied around his neck. It is unclear at this time if Mr. Epstein had placed the string around his own neck.

When Mr. Epstein was asked by this writer how he ended up on Suicide Watch, he denied remembering. He stated he got a drink of water last night in his cell and went back to bed. He said the next thing he remembered is hearing himself snore. He said he wants to know why he is on Suicide Watch. He was informed that staff stated he was found in his cell with a string on his neck. According to Medical records, he had been seen by Medical for this and had a rule out of self inflicted injuries.

When this writer reviewed the Staff Suicide Watch Log, it noted that Mr. Epstein told the staff watching him that his cellmate tried to kill him, which Mr. Epstein did not tell this writer when this writer had interviewed Mr. Epstein. This writer was not able to ask Mr. Epstein about this, since Mr. Epstein was now in Legal. The Captain was notified about this notation and the Captain stated they were already aware of this statement.

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Current Mental Status: He exhibited a neutral mood with a full range of affect. His speech was logical and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial or irrelevant speech. Auditory and visual hallucinations were denied, and delusions were not elicited. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He denied current suicidal or self harm ideation and he agreed to immediately tell staff if he starts to have suicidal or self harm thoughts. He was future oriented. He does not appear to be an immediate danger to self. He denied thoughts of hurting others and he agreed to tell staff if he has these thoughts.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

The following DYNAMIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: Current physical pain

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

Risk Factors: He was found by staff in his cell in SHU with a string loosely tied around his neck, which Mr. Epstein stated he did not remember anything about. It is unclear at this time if Mr. Epstein had placed the string around his own neck or if someone else did. According to Medical, he had a circular line around the base of his neck, which he denied knowing how he obtained. He stated his throat hurts which was reported to Medical. He has a high profile sex offense case and recently was denied bail. When asked if he has any friends or family that are emotionally supportive, he stated he does not know what that means. When emotional supports were explained to him and then again asked if he as any family or friends that are emotionally supportive, he was vague and said he has a lot of people.

Protective Factors: He denied current suicidal or self harm thoughts or ever having these thoughts. He denied a history of self harm and suicide attempts. He denied a family history of suicidal and self harm attempts. He denied having any chronic medical conditions. He denied feeling hopeless. He denied a history of childhood abuse. He denied fearing for his safety. He denied feeling like a burden to anyone. He reported he is sleeping adequately. He stated he lives to have fun, to enjoy life, and to learn. He said his future plans include fighting his case and going back to his normal life.

Whereas, he is denying suicidal and self harm thoughts and has a lot of protective factors, he is denying that he remembers how he ended up on Suicide Watch and has marks encircling his neck. It is unclear at this time if he had placed the string around his neck or if someone else did. He will remain on Suicide Watch for further observation and safekeeping.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Moderate
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Mr. Epstein will remain on Suicide Watch for further observation and safekeeping.
2. While on Suicide Watch, he will be continuously observed by Inmate Companions.
3. While on Suicide Watch, he will be seen daily by Psychology.
4. Supportive and educative interventions were provided.
5. Medical was informed that he reported his throat hurts.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein called for this writer in attorney conference today. The officer in attorney conference notified this writer that he was asking to be seen.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein reported he has not received a spoon or soap in SHU, nor did he receive the phone calls that were "promised to him." He told this writer we need to have mutual trust that his needs are met in the prison. This writer told inmate Epstein that she would address his concerns. On the way out, a staff member told this writer she witnessed inmate Epstein receive two phone calls from the Lt. Nonetheless, this writer informed the SHU lieutenant of his concerns and he said he would ensure that he had soap, a spoon, and his initial SHU phone call. Inmate Epstein did not have any psychological concerns today. He denied any mental health symptoms or suicidality. He has been eating as best as he can and has requested a Kosher diet.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was receptive to these interventions. He continued with his legal visit.

Progress/Plan

Inmate EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He was reminded of the self-help books and audiotapes available through the Psychology department. There appears to be no need for follow up at this time. He will be seen in SHU for rounds and monthly SHU reviews.

Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen for his psychological observation follow-up in attorney conference this afternoon.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein reported he has been consulting with his attorney most of the day. He elucidated concerns about his incarceration including not receiving his property yet in SHU, feeling cold in his cell, not receiving his Colace, not having enough water in attorney conference, and a desire to recreate in SHU." Inmate Epstein was also upset about wearing an orange jumpsuit and being treated like "a bad guy" when he did not do anything wrong in the prison. Custody and security concerns were addressed with inmate Epstein including why he has to wear his orange jumpsuit (due to his being housed in SHU). He requested that he be placed in a brown uniform during his legal visits. He was told his concerns would be addressed in the SHU meeting.

Inmate Epstein stated he is not having any current problems with his cellmate and indicated he at bran cereal for breakfast and took a shower yesterday. He did not sleep well last night. Inmate Epstein continues to deny any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He did not appear to be in any distress at this time.

Intervention(s)

Inmate EPSTEIN was provided with brief supportive interventions, CBT-based interventions, and psychoeducation regarding additional coping strategies. Inmate EPSTEIN was receptive to these interventions.

Progress/Plan

Inmate EPSTEIN was educated about both routine and emergency procedures for contacting Psychology staff. He was reminded of the self-help books and audiotapes available through the Psychology department. Focus of Session

Inmate Epstein was seen today for a psychological observation contact in the hospital area by this writer.

Subjective/Objective Presentation

Inmate Epstein appeared well and it was noted in his log book and eating/sleeping chart that he has been eating his meals, sleeping, interacting with the inmate companions, and pacing in his cell. Today, he presented this writer with numerous concerns and requests. He stated he does not want to be housed in the SHU because he is not comfortable there; he wants to be single-celled if he goes to the SHU; he wants Colace, not the Ducolex he received from medical yesterday; he wants to be able to walk around and go to recreation; he does not want to wear an orange uniform to his legal visits because he is treated "like a punished inmate;" he wants a phone call before he leaves the psychological observation area; he wants a shower and towel; he would like to be housed in the cadre (5S) unit; and would like his property, paper, and a pen.

Inmate Epstein's concerns were addressed by this writer and it was explained to him he will not be single-celled or placed in a housing unit for safety and security concerns. His medical concerns (constipation) were discussed with health services as well as his desire to be placed on Colace. Inmate Epstein was provided a shower this morning.

Intervention(s)

Inmate Epstein was provided with supportive intervention and coping skills strategies today. He was receptive to interventions and was able to elucidate his various needs. He did not present with any acute psychopathology and continues to deny any suicidal ideation, intention, or plan. He is looking forward to his bail hearing on Monday but stated he is aware that even if he gets bail, it will take at least two weeks to sort things out so he can leave the jail.

Progress/Plan

Inmate Epstein is not in any psychological distress, does not present with any mental health symptoms or complaints, and is denying any suicidality. He appears psychologically stable at this time and can be released from the psychological observation area. Inmate Epstein will be housed in the 9S area with a cellmate. He will be seen again tomorrow by psychology to evaluate his mental status and psychological stability.

Relevant Historical Information

Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male, currently incarcerated on sex trafficking charges. He denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time. Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past. Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Presenting Problem/Symptom

Inmate Epstein was seen for suicide risk assessment today for precautionary reasons. He did not mark any mental health items or symptoms on his Psychology Questionnaire (PSIQ) when he entered the institution. Nonetheless, Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours yesterday evening and staff notified the on-call psychologist. Inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a formal suicide risk assessment to determine whether he is currently at-risk for suicidality.

Diagnostic Formulation

Inmate Epstein has no history of mental health problems and does not exhibit suicidality at this time. He has never received inpatient or outpatient mental health treatment and denied any history of suicidality. Currently, he does not exhibit any acute psychopathology, is currently psychologically stable and is in no psychological distress. As such, he is being classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who either has no identifiable mental illness (Axis I "No Diagnosis") or is mildly ill and requires clinical intervention on an as-needed basis.

Care Level Formulation

CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

Diagnosis:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

FINDINGS

This assessment and the resulting recommendations are based on the following sources of information:
Clinical Interview, Medical Record

Inmate Epstein was placed on psychological observation when he returned from court yesterday evening 7/8/19 for precautionary reasons. He is not on a suicide watch at this time.

Reason for Referral

Inmate Epstein is being seen for suicide risk assessment today for precautionary reasons. Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which could have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. As such, this writer instructed R&D staff, as well as the Lieutenant's Office, to immediately notify the psychology department when he returned from court. Inmate Epstein returned from court after duty hours and denied suicidality. The aforementioned staff notified the on-call psychologist and inmate Epstein was placed on a precautionary psychological observation status until psychology could interview him this morning to conduct a suicide risk assessment.

Developmental History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of being the victim and/or perpetrator of physical or sexual abuse.

Educational History/Cognitive Impairment

Inmate Epstein reported he obtained his high school diploma and attended some graduate classes in the area of mathematics.

Arrest History and Experience of Incarceration

Inmate Epstein reported he has served time in Palm Beach County jail on sex offense charges (soliciting prostitution) in the past. He is now being charged with sex trafficking, on a federal level.

Mental Health History

Inmate Epstein denied any history of mental health treatment, either on an inpatient or outpatient basis. Inmate Epstein denied any treatment in the past or present with psychotropic medication. He also denied any acute mental health symptoms at this time.

Self-Harm History

Inmate Epstein denied any past or present suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He denied ever engaging in any suicide attempts or self-injurious behavior in the past.

Substance Abuse History

Inmate Epstein denied any alcohol or substance abuse. He said it is well-known that he does not even drink alcohol.

Medical Concerns

Inmate Epstein denied any significant medical problems, other than a history of high triglycerides. He reported feeling constipated at this time.

Current Problem

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation due to his having multiple risk factors associated with suicidality. He denies any suicidality at this time and has no mental health or suicide history. He is being seen for a suicide risk assessment in an abundance of caution.

Current Mental Status

Level of Consciousness: Alert and Oriented

See Amendment

Psychomotor Activity: Normal

General Appearance: Normal

Behavior: Cooperative

Mood: Appropriate to Content

Thought Process: Goal Directed

Thought Content: Normal

Inmate Epstein did not exhibit any acute psychopathology and exhibited a clear mental status.

Current Mental Status: Mr. EPSTEIN was alert and oriented. He was polite, calm, and cooperative in demeanor. He exhibited a neutral affect with appropriate range. Eye contact and hygiene were appropriate. The inmate spoke with normal rate, tone, and volume. His thoughts were organized and coherent, with no loosening of associations or tangential, circumstantial, or irrelevant content. There was no evidence of perceptual disturbance, delusional ideation, or a formal thought disorder. He did not engage in any bizarre or inappropriate behavior. He noted having normal sleeping and eating habits. Mr. EPSTEIN explicitly denied recent and current suicidal ideation, planning, and intent. He was future-oriented and expressed a commitment to life and safety, agreeing to contact staff immediately should he experience suicidal ideation.

RISK AND PROTECTIVE FACTORS ASSESSED:

This writer screened the inmate for a variety of empirically validated factors commonly associated with risk for self-harm and suicide.

The following STATIC risk factors were assessed to be present and increase the inmate's risk for engaging in suicide related behaviors: High Profile Crime, Lack of family connections, Sex offender status

Of the DYNAMIC risk factors assessed, none were found to be present.

The following PROTECTIVE factors were assessed to be present and may decrease the inmate's risk of suicide:Able to identify reasons to live, Adequate problem solving skills, Denial of suicidal ideation/intention/plans, Future orientation, View of death as negative, Willingness to engage in treatment

As noted above, Inmate Epstein is a 66-year-old Caucasian male. He has various risk factors for suicidality at this time including a high profile case with extensive media attention, sex offense/trafficking charges, pre-trial status, and he had a court proceeding yesterday which may have given him bad news regarding his legal situation. Inmate Epstein also informed this writer that his only family at this time is his brother, with whom he does not have a close relationship with.

Despite these risk factors, inmate Epstein possesses a number of protective factors at this time. Inmate Epstein adamantly denied any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. He was very future oriented and requested a phone call, to meet with his attorney, to take a shower, and to brush his teeth. He was eating his cereal when this writer arrived and said "I have my paper spoon here." He reported he is going to have a bail hearing on Monday and believes he is going to be released from jail. Inmate Epstein reported he is a Banker and has a "big business" in the community and that "being alive is fun." He also revealed he enjoys learning and teaching. He has confidence in his attorney and described him as "competent." Inmate Epstein denied any mental health history or history of suicidality. He also reported none of his family members have mental health histories. Inmate Epstein stated he is a mathematician and took post graduate classes in this area of study. Inmate Epstein stated he has a support system in the community, including friends and other associates. Finally, inmate Epstein demonstrated a good sense of humor and did not appear dysphoric, agitated or anxious. No acute psychopathology was noted.

Overall, inmate Epstein has numerous protective factors at this time that outweigh his risk factors for suicidality. He has a positive outlook regarding his legal case, demonstrates no psychiatric symptoms, has no psychiatric or suicide history, and verbalized a desire to be alive at this time and future orientation.

DIAGNOSIS:

No Diagnosis, No Dx - Current

CONCLUSIONS

The Overall Acute Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Low
Overall Chronic Suicide Risk for this Inmate is: Absent

EFTA00045841

RECOMMENDATIONS

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation pending suitable housing placement. In light of his current sex offense charges and extensive media coverage on the television, he will need to be confined in a suitable housing unit. Inmate Epstein will be seen daily while on psychological observation and will be seen for a psychological observation follow-up session once he is released from observation. Inmate Epstein denied the need for psychological intervention, self-help materials, or follow-up. He has been classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Inmate Epstein is currently on psychological observation pending suitable housing placement. In light of his current sex offense charges and extensive media coverage on the television, he will need to be confined in a suitable housing unit. Inmate Epstein will be seen daily while on psychological observation and will be seen for a psychological observation follow-up session once he is released from observation. Inmate Epstein denied the need for psychological intervention, self-help materials, or follow-up. He has been classified as a CC1-MH inmate at this time. CARE1-MH is indicative of an inmate who shows no significant level of functional impairment associated with a mental illness and demonstrates no need for regular mental health intervention.

Suicide Watch: A suicide watch is not warranted at this time

Comments

This writer consulted with Dr. Robert Nagle, Central Office, regarding inmate Epstein. Inmate Epstein has various risk factors for suicidality including a high profile case with media attention, sex offense charges, pre-trial status, and a court proceeding today which could potentially be giving him bad news regarding his legal situation. As such, when inmate Epstein returns from court, R&D staff as well as Lieutenant's have been informed to immediately notify the psychology department. If he returns after duty hours, the aforementioned staff were instructed to notify the on-call psychologist and to place inmate Epstein on a watch status until psychology can conduct a thorough suicide risk assessment.

Risk of Sexual Abusiveness

During the intake screening process, for Inmate Epstein, based on the documentation available at the time of the screening, and Inmate Epstein's self-report, he was identified as being at risk for sexual abusiveness due to previous perpetration of sexual abuse in the community or in an institutional setting, as evidenced by the following objective criteria:

( ) Having a history of prior institutional violence or sexual abuse perpetration
(X ) Having a history of prior sexual abuse perpetration in the community
(X ) Having prior convictions of violent offenses

As required by P5324.11, Sexually Abusive Behavior Prevention and Intervention, Inmate Epstein was seen by Psychology on today's date to assess his risk factors for sexual abusiveness. At the onset of this clinical contact, the inmate was informed about the BOP requirements regarding PREA. Inmate Epstein indicated he understands the institution's policy against engaging in sexual behavior. His risk factors for sexual abusiveness were assessed and include:

( ) History of prior sexual victimization in prison
( X ) History of prior prison sexual predation
( ) History of head injury with loss of consciousness
( ) History of childhood psychological, physical, sexual abuse
( ) Witnessed family violence
( ) Antisocial Personality Disorder traits of irritability/aggressiveness and recklessness
( ) Hypersexuality (defined by eight or more orgasms a week prior to prison)
( ) Hypermasculinity
( ) Other:

Based on this clinical assessment, the inmate is considered to be at:

(X ) Low Risk of Abusiveness at this facility (Note: Even though this inmate is judged to be at low risk of sexual abusiveness, an unforeseen change in risk factors may significantly alter his risk level.). Programming recommendations included sex offender treatment. Inmate Epstein declined programming recommendations.The inmate understands the procedure for contacting Psychology for routine or emergent services.
( ) Moderate Risk of Abusiveness. The Unit Team and Correctional Staff have been notified regarding Psychology staff's recommendation that he not be housed in a cell with any inmates identified as at increased risk for sexual victimization. Psychology also recommends a greater level of supervision regarding his work and education assignments. Programming recommendations include XXXXX. Inmate =inmateLastName is agreeable to/ declined programming recommendations.
( ) High Risk of Abusiveness. It is recommended this inmate be housed in the Special Housing Unit in accordance with P5324.11 to "keep separate those inmates at high risk of being sexually victimized from those at high risk of being sexually abusive" until Correctional Services and Correctional Programs staff can assess his appropriateness for general population at this facility. This inmate should not be housed with any inmates judged to be at an increased risk for sexual victimization. Programming recommendations include XXXXX. Inmate =inmateLastName is agreeable to/ declined programming recommendations.

Younger presidential candidates are failing to get traction with calls for generational change

Bernie Sanders speaks on Saturday at the New Hampshire Democratic Party state convention in Manchester. (Gretchen Ertl/Reuters)

BY JAMES HOHMANN

with Mariana Alfaro

THE BIG IDEA:

MANCHESTER, N.H. – Several presidential candidates are offering to quench a thirst for generational change that, so far, has not materialized.

A Washington Post-ABC News poll shows the Democratic field

A Washington Post-ABC News poll shows the Democratic field stratifying. Joe Biden is favored by 29 percent of registered voters who are Democrats or Democratic-leaning independents, with Bernie Sanders at 19 percent and Elizabeth Warren at 18 percent. No one else comes close to breaking into double digits.

All three septuagenarians were born in the 1940s. If they win, each would break President Trump's record as the oldest person to ever assume the presidency. Sanders celebrated his 78th birthday on Sunday with a rally at Iowa State University, where he tailored his message toward young people.

Our new national survey helps explain why: 58 percent of Democrats said it doesn't matter if their nominee is older or younger than 70 while 40 percent say a younger candidate would have a better chance against Trump.

With the race winnowing and the third debate coming up in Houston on Thursday night, the Gen X and Y candidates are sharpening the generational contrasts and increasingly emphasizing their youthful vigor. This was on stark display here Saturday as 19 candidates spoke at the New Hampshire Democratic Party's annual convention.

Pete Buttigieg, 37, riffed about how he hopes to one day tell his future children about the ways he put the country back on the right track. The mayor of South Bend, Ind., uses his stump speech to sketch out a vision for what the world should look like in 2054 when he will be the age that Trump is now.

Beto O'Rourke, 46, made his first return trip to the Granite State since the massacre in his hometown of El Paso five weeks ago. One marker of his youth has been his extensive use of brash profanity in public settings, including on television, which sometimes seems designed mainly to get attention. Asked if he plans to swear in this week's debate, he replied: "Maybe."

Michael Bennet, 54, stumped with Gary Hart, 82. They held an event together Saturday afternoon in a pizza place one floor below where Hart's New Hampshire campaign headquarters had been in 1984. Hart won a huge upset in that year's primary over Walter Mondale, who had been vice president, which led to a protracted nominating contest. Bennet, who holds Hart's Senate seat, said that gives him confidence to keep trucking, despite failing to qualify for this week's debate and registering at less than 1 percent in the national polls.

"Every once in a while, there's a young senator from Colorado who has new and fresh ideas and they come to New Hampshire," said Will Kanteres, who worked on Hart's national campaign staff in 1984 and now lives in Manchester, as he introduced the duo.

Bennet gushed over Hart, who he described as a statesman and mentor. "Gary was unavailable to run this time," said Bennet. "I don't know why. I implored him!"

"Too old," Hart interjected.

The 90 people who crammed into a back room at the pizza place laughed. "He told me earlier today that he's on Social Security," Bennet continued. "And I said, 'Well, at least that's something that's still working!'"

Hart, elected to the Senate two years after Biden, was a dark horse in 1984 but entered the 1988 cycle as a favorite. Biden also ran that year. Both dropped out when scandal engulfed them.

-- We've entered the stage of the race where longshots speak more freely about their theory of the case to break into the top tier. They outline a "Field of Dreams" mentality and believe, if they build a good organization, voters will come.

Julián Castro, 44, argued on Saturday that he's the Democrat best positioned to reassemble the coalition that got Barack Obama elected in 2008. "I believe that I can go to Michigan, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania," said the former housing secretary, "and then go get the 29 electoral votes in Florida, expand the map into Arizona, Texas and Georgia and then beat Trump."

A reporter asked why Biden, who was on the ticket in 2008 as Obama's running mate, wouldn't be the best candidate to reassemble that coalition. "Well, what I hear out there is that people are ready for a new generation of leadership," Castro said. "When the Democrats have won in the modern era of presidential politics, whether it was with John Kennedy or Jimmy Carter or Bill Clinton or Barack Obama in 2008, it was with a new exciting face to the party. I believe that people are looking for that again, so I'm going out there and painting the picture."

Cory Booker, 50, also invoked Carter, Clinton and Obama. The senator from New Jersey noted that Trump won with fewer votes in 2016 than Mitt Romney received in 2012. "The issue is us coming out,"

he said. “That’s why we need a presidential candidate that … can bring enthusiasm.”

He told reporters that Obama was trailing with African American voters at this stage of the race in 2007. “We do not want to win the summer news cycle,” Booker said. “With moments like this, where people see my capacity to ignite a crowd, we know that over time we are going to emerge as the nominee of this party. Polls have never been predictive this far out.”

-- The candidates who didn’t qualify for the next debate went farther. Tim Ryan, 46, told Bloomberg News that “Biden is declining” in what he later said he thought was a fundraising call and not a media interview. “I don’t think he has the energy,” said the congressman from Ohio. “You see it almost daily. And I love the guy.”

Asked during a news conference on Saturday if he meant declining mentally or declining in the polls, Ryan declined repeatedly to answer. “I’m not backtracking from it,” Ryan replied. “It is a concern you’re hearing from a lot of people in the country, and I don’t think I need to bang everyone over the head with it. It’s out there. … It’s unclear sometimes, when he’s articulating positions, there’s a lack of clarity, and I’ll leave it at that.”

Joe Biden holds a town hall meeting on Friday in Laconia, N.H. (Mary Schwalm/AP)

-- Biden embraces his half century in public life and touts experience as an asset. On a chilly, overcast and windy Friday afternoon that felt like autumn, Biden held a town hall on the Atlantic Ocean in New Castle.

After speaking for 15 minutes, he called on a ninth-grader named Brody to ask him a question about how he'd stop school shootings. "He's smarter than I was when I was 19," Biden said. "This kid's something else! … Your generation is fundamentally changing things."

Then Rebecca Beaulieu, 24, who graduated from college last year and now works as a paid environmental activist, pressed Biden on why he attended a fundraiser in New York the night before that was co-hosted by [redacted] Goldman, who helped start a natural gas company called Western LNG. "He did found a fossil fuel company, but he's not on the board or any of it," Biden replied. "He does not run it at all. And by the way if you have a 401(k), do you have any investment in an oil company? Does that disqualify you to being engaged?"

Biden went on to offer an extended defense of his environmental record, citing a string of bills he authored dating all the way back to his two years as a Delaware county councilman in the early 1970s. Wearing a ballcap, he then walked over to where Beaulieu was standing in the crowd. The former vice president clasped her hand right, leaned in and locked eyes with her.

"Kiddo, I want you to just take a look, okay? You don't have to agree

"Kiddo, I want you to just take a look, okay? You don't have to agree. But I want you look in my eyes," Biden said. "I guarantee you – I guarantee you! – we're going to end fossil fuel. … Before 2050, God willing. No, it can't be done by 2030. There's not one single person who has argued it can be done by that. But it can be done by 2050. It may be 2045."

The crowd applauded as Biden made the pledge, but the young woman who asked the question was unsatisfied. "I think it's patronizing," she told me afterwards. "I'm 24. I know I look younger than that, but I hope to be able to be at the table in discussions when climate is concerned. I'm not just like a child that's waiting for someone else to do something. I'm actively doing something."

Jess Elliott, on the other hand, thought Biden handled all the questions deftly. The 77-year-old was a Navy fighter pilot who flew F-4 Phantoms over Vietnam. He's a Republican-leaning independent who voted for Trump in 2016 but came to regret his choice as the president repeatedly embarrassed himself on the world stage. Elliott lamented the moment that foreign leaders literally laughed at Trump as he spoke to the United Nations. He supports Biden, a former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, because he wants America to be respected again by our allies and feared by our adversaries. "He's straightforward as hell," Elliott said of Biden. "He's honest as the day is long. I believe he's honestly trying to help our country."

Independents like Elliott, who lives in Exeter, are why Biden leads in the early polls, which in turn bolsters the former vice president's case that he's the candidate best positioned to defeat Trump. Without prompting, Elliott offered: "Joe looks very good for his age."

Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) brought down the house at the New Hampshire Democratic Party convention. She got the best response, by far, of the 19 presidential candidates who spoke at the event. (Robert F. Bukaty/AP)

-- At her town halls, Warren has been running onto the stage in an apparent effort to exude that she's high energy. Interestingly, a CBS News-YouGov poll released yesterday of 18 important states in the nominating contest found that 5 percent of Democrats said Warren is too old to serve effectively as president, compared 37 percent for Sanders and 31 percent for Biden.

Despite Warren being 70, pollster Scott Clement noticed that she fared better in The Post's poll among those who say a candidate over age 70 would have a worse chance against Trump (22 percent) than among those who say it doesn't matter (14 percent).

-- Eric Swalwell, 38, most forcefully made the generational argument against Biden during the first debate in June. The congressman noted that, when he was only 6 years old, Biden called for passing the torch to a new generation of leaders during a 1987 speech to the California Democratic Party. "He was right when he said that 32 years ago. He is still right today," said Swalwell. "If we are going to solve climate chaos, pass the torch. If we want to end gun violence and solve student debt, pass the torch." Biden rolled his eyes. "I'm holding onto that torch," he said. "I want to make it clear." Eleven days later, Swalwell became the first Democrat to drop out of the race.

Democratic presidential candidates can't stop swearing

Amy Klobuchar, 59, is trying to be the bridge candidate

-- Amy Klobuchar, 59, is trying to be the bridge candidate between young and old. The senator from Minnesota, technically a baby boomer, emphasized on Saturday that she's "the mom of a Generation Z-slash-millennial."

"It is true I don't swear in public a lot – I'll put that out there – but I think that a moderate tone … is exactly what this country wants right now," Klobuchar said. "I've been asked some about having a viral moment. I remind people that that's all those moments are. They're moments. They might help people for fundraising, but they are not the longward trek that we need to bring people along with us."

She offered up an American Indian proverb: "We need a leader who doesn't just make decisions for this generation but makes them for seven generations from now, which is an Ojibway saying that I've learned from our tribes in Minnesota. We have a president who cannot even keep his decisions seven minutes from now."

Here are the Republicans challenging Trump in 2020

-- Former South Carolina congressman Mark Sanford announced a primary challenge against Trump, the third Republican to do so. "We need to have a conversation on what it means to be a Republican," he said. "I think that, as a Republican Party, we have lost our way." Felicia Sonmez reports: "The South Carolina Republican said he had been intending to announce his bid at a campaign event last week but decided to cancel it because of Hurricane Dorian. Sanford campaign spokeswoman Sarah Allred said Sunday that a formal kickoff event has yet to be planned."

-- Sanford acknowledges the long odds, but he won't even be able to vote for himself: The South Carolina Republican Party canceled its primary in 2020 so that Trump can win all of the state's delegates without being challenged.

QUOTE OF THE DAY:

"The Trumps will be a dynasty that will last for decades, propelling the Republican Party into a new party," said Trump campaign manager Brad Parscale. (Felicia Sonmez)

-- Trump's children – particularly Ivanka and Donald Jr. – are fighting to succeed their father. From the Atlantic's [redacted] Coppins: "The president and his children—who declined to be interviewed for this story—have labored to project an image of unity. But over the past several months, I spoke with dozens of people close to the Trumps, including friends, former employees, White House officials, and campaign aides. The succession battle they described is marked by old grievances, petty rivalries—and deceptively high stakes … That Donald Trump had chosen Ivanka to feature so prominently at his campaign kickoff seemed natural. He'd been grooming her for years to take over the family empire. She was the golden child—beautiful, telegenic, and in possession of that most important family trait: a compulsive image-consciousness. …Yet when Don offered to help his father's campaign, many of the tasks he received had a whiff of condescension. Trump had always been embarrassed by his son's hunting … But now that the candidate was wooing rural Republicans, he was happy to let Don put on that goofy orange vest and shoot at stuff for the cameras. 'You can finally do something for me,' Trump told Don, according to a former aide."

Boris Johnson: 'I want to get a deal'

WHILE YOU WERE IN YOUR MORNING MEETINGS:

-- The British Parliament is expected again today to reject Prime Minister Boris Johnson's call for early elections, further narrowing the options for the new British leader. Amanda Ferguson and Griff Witte report: "John Bercow — the colorful and controversial speaker of the House of Commons, known for his enthusiastic shouting of 'order, order' — set the tone for a long day of debate with the announcement that he would step down on Oct. 31, if the push for an October election indeed fails. The date is significant because Prime Minister Boris Johnson has said Britain will leave the E.U. by then, 'do or die.'

"Johnson got little help from his Irish counterpart Monday as he sought to turn the page on a disastrous week in London and unblock the path to a British exit from the European Union on Halloween. … Johnson crossed the sea in the morning, visiting Dublin for talks with Irish leader Leo Varadkar aimed at disentangling one of the thorniest aspects of Brexit negotiations: what to do about Northern Ireland. But the chilly, overcast skies in Dublin matched the apparent mood between the leaders. While Varadkar told reporters he was hoping for 'a good start' to the talks, he was also clear that Johnson's government had yet to offer a serious proposal for breaking through the deadlock. … 'There is no such thing as a clean break,' Varadkar said as Johnson grimaced."

Trump says he canceled peace talks with Afghan president, Taliban

THE NEW WORLD ORDER:

-- "Collapse of Afghanistan peace talks spotlights internal Trump administration divisions," by Karen DeYoung: "Plans for U.S. troop withdrawals from Afghanistan, in keeping with President Trump's pledge to end the war there, were thrown into confusion Sunday, following Trump's decision to call off a secret meeting he planned with Afghan and Taliban leaders to secure a peace deal. Competing versions of what led to the cancellation of the meeting and, at least temporarily, any further U.S.-Taliban negotiations, exposed internal administration tensions that have flared as a deal seemed near in recent weeks. Those tensions have pitted Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, whose chief negotiator, Zalmay Khalilzad, said a week ago that agreement 'in principle' had been reached after 10 months of talks with the militants, and Trump national security adviser John Bolton, who opposed the talks. …

"Trump was the main person pushing for the Camp David meeting, according to a senior administration official … Comparing the initiative to Trump's personal meeting with North Korean leader Kim Jong Un, and his stated desire to meet with Iranian President Hassan Rouhani, this official said Trump thinks his personal style can persuade anyone, and that he has seen the possibility of a substantial Afghan withdrawal as a major plus for his reelection campaign. … U.S. officials said the decision to cancel the Camp David meeting, which had been in the planning stages for more than a week, was made on Thursday. The senior administration official said that Trump decided to tweet about its existence, and its cancellation, on Saturday evening to 'control the narrative.' …

"While many in the administration have questioned the Taliban talks, Pompeo and Bolton have been at loggerheads over this issue and others, with Bolton, a well-known hawk, charging that Pompeo was trying to 'box him out' of decision-making on Afghanistan. ... Bolton has not opposed reducing the current U.S. troop level to 8,600 — about the number in Afghanistan when Trump took office — but rejects any deal with the Taliban. His view is that the president can meet his campaign promise of withdrawal without a deal…

"There was little disagreement that events of the weekend will probably lead to increased violence in Afghanistan. Pompeo denied extensive reports that the Taliban had made significant battlefield gains in recent months. … The Taliban said that the decision to end the U.S.-Taliban peace process for now would 'lead to more losses for the United States,' spokesman Zabiullah Mujahid said in a statement."

-- The Times has a tick-tock on the Camp David summit with the Taliban that wasn't: "What would have been one of the biggest headline-grabbing moments of his tenure was put together on the spur of the moment and then canceled on the spur of the moment. The usual National Security Council process was dispensed with; only a small circle of advisers was even clued in. ... On display were all of the characteristic traits of the Trump presidency — the yearning ambition for the grand prize, the endless quest to achieve what no other president has achieved, the willingness to defy convention, the volatile mood swings and the tribal infighting."

-- Conservatives on Capitol Hill were relieved that Trump didn't meet with the Taliban at Camp David on the eve of the 18th anniversary of the Sept. 11 attacks. From the No. 3 House Republican and Dick Cheney's daughter:

From a Republican congressman who serves as a pilot in the Illinois National Guard:

-- The full Ginsburg: Representing the Trump administration on all five major Sunday morning talk shows, Pompeo defended Trump's decision to invite the Taliban to Camp David. "If you're going to negotiate peace, you often have to deal with some pretty bad actors," the secretary of state said on ABC's "This Week." "I know the history, too, at Camp David, and indeed President Trump reflected on that. Some pretty bad actors have traveled through that place throughout recorded history." Pompeo added he hopes there will not be a delay in plans for an initial drawdown of at least 5,000 U.S. troops, along with a full withdrawal tentatively planned to take place by the end of 2020. But "any reduction in our forces will be based on actual conditions," Pompeo said on NBC's "Meet the Press." (Sonmez and Stein; DeYoung)

-- Pompeo also continued to deflect questions about a potential Senate run in 2020. Paul Kane reports: "Pompeo, who represented the southern portion of central Kansas for six years in the House before joining Trump's Cabinet, has been Senate Republican leaders' top choice to replace retiring Sen. Pat Roberts (R). They believe he could clear the GOP field and easily win the general election. Pompeo, who served as Trump's CIA director before getting confirmed as secretary of state in April 2018, reiterated Sunday that he is focused on being America's top diplomat. But he appeared to leave open the possibility that he would run if the president wanted him to. 'I've said this repeatedly, as long as President Trump wants me to be a secretary of state, I will do what I've been doing for the last, goodness, almost year and a half now, focus on trying to deliver security for the American people. It's my mission every day,' Pompeo said on ABC's 'This Week.'"

-- A reminder of the human lives at stake in these negotiations: A young human-rights defender from Afghanistan pledged to make young human rights defender from Afghanistan pledged to make his country better. He was shot dead. Siobhán O'Grady and Sharif Hassan report: "It was August in Kabul, and Abdul Samad Amiri, 28, had recently traveled the 10 hours east to the capital from his home province of Ghowr, where persistent threats from the Taliban and local militias had created an increasingly volatile environment. … Weeks later, on the same road, Amiri was found shot dead, according to Wardak province police spokesman Hekmatullah Durani. The Taliban has not yet commented publicly on the attack, but Afghan President Ashraf Ghani said Friday the militants were responsible for his killing and that it amounted to 'a crime against humanity.'"

'We just want to help': Bahamians aid those displaced by the storm

-- The U.S. humanitarian response to areas devastated by Hurricane Dorian has shifted into a new phase as desperate survivors flee the worst-hit areas of the Bahamas for towns and cities that were largely spared. Carol Morello reports: "Although some remain behind, many residents of the storm-battered Abaco Islands have left for Nassau, Freeport and other areas where more assistance is available. Shelters are overflowing, and local officials have reported a surge in looting. Tens of thousands of people are believed to be homeless or in need of help. Mark Green, the administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), took an aerial tour Sunday of the disaster zones, flying in a U.S. Navy Sea Stallion over flattened forests and communities reduced to rubble. 'Some places it's like nothing happened,' he said. 'Other places, it's like they were hit by a nuclear bomb.' The death toll remained at 44 on Sunday, but the government has warned that the number will be significantly higher when the extent of the damage becomes clearer."

-- Related: In Alabama, there are no signs of Trump's hurricane. Avi Selk reports from Mobile: "The city stands. The grocery stores are fully stocked, the Home Depot has no lack of generators, tarps and plywood, and it's business as usual at the Waffle Houses. Boaters on the Mobile River have been urged to caution — only because a group of manatees were spotted frolicking nearby. The highway south runs past unsunk boats and unbroken masts all the way to the mouth of the Gulf of Mexico, where resort-town general stores report no panicked runs on supplies — not now and not a week ago, when Trump first claimed Alabama would likely be slammed by Hurricane Dorian."

-- Asylum applications are flooding Latin American countries now that the U.S. has tightened border security. Mary Beth Sheridan reports: "Trump complains of the sharp rise in applications for asylum in the United States, which more than tripled in seven years to 254,000 in 2018, according to global statistics compiled by the U.N. refugee agency. But asylum petitions in Mexico shot up more than 3,500 percent over the same period. They could nearly triple this year alone, to around 80,000. The surge of asylum seekers in the hemisphere stems from a cascade of crises: the implosion of Venezuela, a crackdown on dissidents by the authoritarian government of Nicaragua, and agricultural disasters and gang violence in El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras."

-- Students in Hong Kong formed human chains outside their schools in solidarity with pro-democracy protesters, as the city's government warned the U.S. Congress to stay out of its affairs. From the AP: "Thousands of demonstrators held a peaceful march Sunday to the U.S. Consulate to seek Washington's support, but violence erupted hours later in a business and retail district as protesters vandalized subway stations, set fires and blocked traffic, prompting police to fire tear gas. … Protesters in their Sunday march appealed to [Trump] to 'stand with Hong Kong' and ensure Congress passes a bill that proposes economic sanctions and penalties on Hong Kong and mainland China officials found to be suppress democracy and human rights in the city. Hong Kong's government expressed regret over the U.S. bill, known as the Hong Kong Human Rights and Democracy Act. It said in a statement Monday that 'foreign legislatures should not interfere in any form in the internal affairs' of Hong Kong."

-- Apple is accused of violating worker rights in Chinese factories on the eve of the rollout of its new iPhone 11. Reed Albergotti reports: "A report released Sunday by China Labor Watch, a nonprofit advocacy group, accused Apple and its manufacturing partner Foxconn of a litany of labor violations, including withholding bonus payments, rolling back safety training and employing more temporary workers than China's laws allow. The report was based on observations and documents gathered by undercover investigators working at China's biggest iPhone factory in Zhengzhou. The group said one of the investigators was employed by Apple for four years. Apple spokeswoman Lori Lodes denied most of the allegations, but acknowledged that Apple did exceed the number of contract workers allowed by Chinese law, which caps the ratio at 10 percent. … The China Labor Watch report accused Apple of exploiting Chinese

China Labor Watch report accused Apple of exploiting Chinese workers in part to absorb costs associated with tariffs placed on its products."

-- The tariffs are reducing the amount of trade between the U.S. and China. From the AP: "Imports of American goods tumbled 22% in August from a year earlier to $10.3 billion, customs data showed Sunday. Exports to the United States, China's biggest market, sank 16% to $44.4 billion. Both sides have raised tariffs on billions of dollars of each other's imports in the fight over complaints about Beijing's trade surplus and technology development plans."

-- A powerful typhoon pounded Tokyo, leaving nearly one million people without power. Simon Denyer reports: "Typhoon Faxai was the strongest storm to hit the Japanese capital in years, broadcaster NHK said, and caused one death and more than 30 injuries across the region. A woman in her 50s died in Tokyo, police said, with a security camera capturing her being blown off her feet and into a wall, Kyodo news reported. A blackout left more than 900,000 people without power in two areas surrounding the capital, according to Tokyo Electric Power Co."

-- India's space agency located its moon lander a day after losing it. Niha Masih reports: "A day after India's bold mission to land on the moon appeared to have failed, the country's space agency announced that the missing lander had been located, raising hopes for a turnaround ... Vikram, the lander of Chandrayaan-2, which blasted off in July, was scheduled to soft-land on the lunar south pole early Saturday. While its descent began as planned, communication with it snapped minutes before touchdown, leading to heartbreak across the nation."

Congress is back in session. Here's what to expect this fall.

THE DOMESTIC AGENDA:

-- Congress is returning from summer recess, with a lot on its plate. Rachael Bade and Mike DeBonis report: "First up is a bill to fund the government, as the current legislation runs out Sept. 30. With just over three weeks to strike a deal, leaders are already eyeing a short-term measure to buy themselves more time to negotiate. Tighter gun restrictions, a trade pact and efforts to lower prescription drugs also crowd the agenda. In some ways, the next few months represent the 116th Congress's last chance to pass major legislation until 2021. Lawmakers in both parties agree the partisan politics of the 2020 election will kick into high gear as soon as January, making any dealmaking and compromise all the more difficult. That doesn't leave Congress much time. The House only has 13 legislative days in September before they leave for another two-week recess — and only 45 legislative days left in the year. Senators, meanwhile, are expected to be in town 53 days."

-- Trump will visit Baltimore on Thursday to huddle with congressional Republicans, two months after he called the city a "disgusting, rat and rodent infested mess." Bade reports: "The White House confirmed Sunday that Trump would address House Republicans at their biennial retreat ... Republican lawmakers and aides — who chose the city for their three-day gathering before Trump decried it as 'the Worst in the USA' — weren't sure the president would want to attend."

overwhelmingly support expanded background checks for gun buyers and "red flag" laws, according to a Washington Post-ABC News poll. From Mike DeBonis and Emily Guskin: "Although the poll finds a continued partisan divide on more far-reaching gun-control proposals, public opinion is firmly behind Democrats' push for action as Congress returns to Washington on Monday. More Americans say they trust congressional Democrats over Trump to handle the nation's gun laws, 51 percent to 36 percent, with independents siding with Democrats by a 17-point margin — a divide that could have political ramifications for the 2020 presidential and congressional elections. … The Post-ABC poll finds 86 percent of Americans support implementing 'red-flag' provisions, which allow guns to be taken from people judged to be a danger to themselves or others. And 89 percent support expanding federal background checks to cover private sales and gun-show transactions. Both measures are supported by at least 8 in 10 Republicans, white evangelical Christians, members of gun-owning households and other traditionally conservative groups."

-- Air Force leaders ordered a probe of how the service chooses overnight accommodations on long flights after it was revealed that air crews occasionally stayed at Trump's Scotland resort while refueling at a small airport nearby. From Politico: "The C-17 crew's overnight stay at Trump's Turnberry resort in Scotland earlier this year … was not an isolated incident. In September 2018, on its way back to the U.S. from Al Udeid Air Base in Qatar, a unit of the Maine Air National Guard landed at Prestwick Airport, the airport closest to Trump's luxury waterfront resort. The crew and their passengers then spent the night at his hotel, according to one person who was present, an Instagram post and a voucher detailing the crew's [illegible] itinerary ... The House Government Oversight and Reform Committee launched a probe of the Scotland operations in April out of concern that the use by the military of the Trump property and the nearby airport could pose a conflict of interest for the president — and to determine whether the Pentagon is helping to boost the fortunes of the struggling Trump's Scottish golf resort."

-- House Democrats are planning on significantly broadening their impeachment-related inquiries into Trump beyond the findings of the Russia investigation. From the Times: "Undeterred by lackluster public support for impeachment, Democratic lawmakers and aides have sketched out a robust four-month itinerary of hearings and court arguments that they hope will provide the evidence they need to credibly portray Mr. Trump as corrupt and abusing his power. Beyond the president's efforts to impede the special counsel's investigation, Democrats also plan to scrutinize his role in hush payments to two women who said they had affairs with him and reports that he dangled pardons to officials willing to break the law to implement his immigration policies."

-- Nancy Pelosi will soon release a drug-pricing plan, an issue Democrats hope to keep on the front burner for the rest of the year. From Axios: "Pelosi's proposal would direct the federal government to negotiate the price of certain expensive drugs with little or no competition — and, crucially, that would also become the price in the private market, not just the Medicare drug coverage price, according to Democratic aides and lobbyists working on the issue. That's awfully close to what Trump has endorsed before, but Democrats aren't eager to share the issue ahead of 2020. People following the legislative debate suspect that normal partisan politics will likely take control over this particular plan — 'except if the president is for it. That will change everything,' an industry lobbyist said."

-- Freshman Rep. Susan Wild (D-Pa.) is turning the grief from her partner's suicide into action. Rachael Bade reports: Wild "was home preparing for a week of constituent meetings, a town hall and a cookout she and her longtime partner, Kerry Acker, were hosting later that day when he returned from a stay in New York. But Wild's plans for the weekend — and for her congressional career and life — changed the minute she answered the call from a restricted number: A police officer told her Acker had died by suicide. The next few days were a blur for Wild, one of just a few lawmakers who have lost their spouses or partners while serving in Congress."

THE #METOO MOVEMENT:

-- In a new book, New York Times reporters Jodi Kantor and Megan Twohey offer their account of breaking the Harvey Weinstein story. From our book critic Carlos Lozada: "Though the Weinstein reporting is remembered in part for the Hollywood stars who suffered the mogul's propositions and abuses — Ashley Judd, Rose McGowan and Gwyneth Paltrow, among others — Kantor and Twohey also identified victims with far lower profiles, including young assistants and producers who worked for Weinstein and sometimes received payoffs for their silence. The similarities among their stories gave rise to what the reporters call 'The Pattern': Weinstein inviting women into hotel rooms for supposedly job-related meetings, pressuring them for massages, escalating his demands for sexual acts, combining professional and physical intimidation."

The book, "She Said," not only details meetings with courageous sources. It shares interactions with Weinstein's team of lawyers as they sought to prevent the truth from getting out: "Powerhouse attorney David Boies helped Weinstein 'conceal, spin, and silence' allegations for years, Kantor and Twohey write. The relentlessly available Washington lawyer Lanny Davis is a bumbling figure — working for Weinstein, unsure of his authority and yet confirming multiple settlements. … And attorney Lisa Bloom emerges as an especially odious character. An advocate for women in public, behind the scenes she plots to discredit them. 'I feel equipped to help you against the Roses of the world, because I have represented so many of them,' she writes in a memo for Weinstein, referring to Rose McGowan. 'They start out as impressive, bold women, but the more one presses for evidence, the weaknesses and lies are revealed.' She the process for evidence, the weaknesses and lies are revealed." She even proposes that the producer launch a Weinstein Foundation focused on gender equity. For real."

-- The book also details how Bob Weinstein, the former mogul's brother, pleaded with him to get medical treatment for what he described as many years of "misbehavior." From the Times: "'Your reaction was once more to blame the victims, or to minimize the misbehavior in various ways. If you think nothing is wrong with your misbehavior so in this area then announce it to your wife and family,' [Bob Weinstein wrote in a memo to Harvey Weinstein]. … One of the central figures of 'She Said' is a former top executive at the Weinstein Company: Irwin Reiter. Mr. Reiter, an accountant who worked for Mr. Weinstein for decades, was increasingly alarmed by his behavior toward women and had raised concerns within the company, to no avail. The book discloses that it was Mr. Reiter who provided the reporters with an explosive internal memo from an employee who described Weinstein's routine harassment of junior female employees and actresses. Mr. Reiter also alerted Ms. Kantor and Ms. Twohey, who were investigating financial settlements for sexual harassment from decades ago, to other recent accusations against Mr. Weinstein, bringing new urgency to the investigation."

-- Financier Jeffrey Epstein forged deep ties with some of the nation's elite universities and their scholars by showering them with gifts and donations that academics now realize provided a veneer of credibility to a convicted sex offender. Susan Svrluga reports: "Epstein gave repeatedly to MIT and Harvard University. On Saturday, MIT President L. Rafael Reif responded to allegations in the New Yorker that Joi Ito, director of the Media Lab, and others sought to conceal the source of money Epstein had donated. Reif, in a letter to the campus, called the accusations 'deeply disturbing' and announced Ito had submitted his resignation as director of Media Lab, professor and employee. He also said an outside law firm would be hired to conduct a thorough review. … Last month, Reif apologized to Epstein's victims in a message to campus. The school accepted about $800,000 of Epstein's money over 20 years, Reif wrote, with gifts to the MIT Media Lab and to a mechanical engineering professor. … The largest gift to Harvard University from Epstein was $6.5 million in 2003, for the Program for Evolutionary Dynamics, according to a school spokesman."

THE BIG IDEA:

MANCHESTER, N.H. – Several presidential candidates are offering to quench a thirst for generational change that, so far, has not materialized.

A Washington Post-ABC News poll shows the Democratic field stratifying. Joe Biden is favored by 29 percent of registered voters who are Democrats or Democratic-leaning independents, with Bernie Sanders at 19 percent and Elizabeth Warren at 18 percent. No one else comes close to breaking into double digits.

All three septuagenarians were born in the 1940s. If they win, each would break President Trump's record as the oldest person to ever assume the presidency. Sanders celebrated his 78th birthday on Sunday with a rally at Iowa State University, where he tailored his message toward young people.

Our new national survey helps explain why: 58 percent of Democrats said it doesn't matter if their nominee is older or younger than 70 while 40 percent say a younger candidate would have a better chance against Trump.

With the race winnowing and the third debate coming up in Houston on Thursday night, the Gen X and Y candidates are sharpening the generational contrasts and increasingly emphasizing their youthful vigor. This was on stark display here Saturday as 19 candidates spoke at the New Hampshire Democratic Party's annual convention.

Pete Buttigieg, 37, riffed about how he hopes to one day tell his future children about the ways he put the country back on the right track. The mayor of South Bend, Ind., uses his stump speech to sketch out a vision for what the world should look like in 2054 when he will be the age that Trump is now.

Beto O'Rourke, 46, made his first return trip to the Granite State since the massacre in his hometown of El Paso five weeks ago. One marker of his youth has been his extensive use of brash profanity in public settings, including on television, which sometimes seems designed mainly to get attention. Asked if he plans to swear in this week's debate, he replied: "Maybe."

Michael Bennet, 54, stumped with Gary Hart, 82. They held an event together Saturday afternoon in a pizza place one floor below where Hart's New Hampshire campaign headquarters had been in 1984. Hart won a huge upset in that year's primary over Walter Mondale, who had been vice president, which led to a protracted nominating contest. Bennet, who holds Hart's Senate seat, said that gives him confidence to keep trucking, despite failing to qualify for this week's debate and registering at less than 1 percent in the national polls.

"Every once in a while, there's a young senator from Colorado who has new and fresh ideas and they come to New Hampshire," said Will Kanteres, who worked on Hart's national campaign staff in 1984 and now lives in Manchester, as he introduced the duo.

Bennet gushed over Hart, who he described as a statesman and mentor. “Gary was unavailable to run this time,” said Bennet. “I don’t know why. I implored him!”

“Too old,” Hart interjected.

The 90 people who crammed into a back room at the pizza place laughed. “He told me earlier today that he’s on Social Security,” Bennet continued. “And I said, ‘Well, at least that’s something that’s still working!’”

Hart, elected to the Senate two years after Biden, was a dark horse in 1984 but entered the 1988 cycle as a favorite. Biden also ran that year. Both dropped out when scandal engulfed them.

-- We’ve entered the stage of the race where longshots speak more freely about their theory of the case to break into the top tier. They outline a “Field of Dreams” mentality and believe, if they build a good organization, voters will come.

Julián Castro, 44, argued on Saturday that he’s the Democrat best positioned to reassemble the coalition that got Barack Obama elected in 2008. “I believe that I can go to Michigan, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania,” said the former housing secretary, “and then go get the 29 electoral votes in Florida, expand the map into Arizona, Texas and Georgia and then beat Trump.”

A reporter asked why Biden, who was on the ticket in 2008 as Obama’s running mate, wouldn’t be the best candidate to reassemble that coalition. “Well, what I hear out there is that people are ready for a new generation of leadership,” Castro said. “When the Democrats have won in the modern era of presidential politics, whether it was with John Kennedy or Jimmy Carter or Bill Clinton or Barack Obama in 2008, it was with a new exciting face to the party. I believe that people are looking for that again, so I’m going out there and painting the picture."

Cory Booker, 50, also invoked Carter, Clinton and Obama. The senator from New Jersey noted that Trump won with fewer votes in 2016 than Mitt Romney received in 2012. "The issue is us coming out," he said. "That's why we need a presidential candidate that … can bring enthusiasm."

He told reporters that Obama was trailing with African American voters at this stage of the race in 2007. "We do not want to win the summer news cycle," Booker said. "With moments like this, where people see my capacity to ignite a crowd, we know that over time we are going to emerge as the nominee of this party. Polls have never been predictive this far out."

-- The candidates who didn't qualify for the next debate went farther. Tim Ryan, 46, told Bloomberg News that "Biden is declining" in what he later said he thought was a fundraising call and not a media interview. "I don't think he has the energy," said the congressman from Ohio. "You see it almost daily. And I love the guy."

Asked during a news conference on Saturday if he meant declining mentally or declining in the polls, Ryan declined repeatedly to answer. "I'm not backtracking from it," Ryan replied. "It is a concern you're hearing from a lot of people in the country, and I don't think I need to bang everyone over the head with it. It's out there. … It's unclear sometimes, when he's articulating positions, there's a lack of clarity, and I'll leave it at that."

-- Biden embraces his half century in public life and touts experience as an asset. On a chilly, overcast and windy Friday afternoon that felt like autumn, Biden held a town hall on the Atlantic Ocean in New Castle.

After speaking for 15 minutes, he called on a ninth-grader named Brody to ask him a question about how he'd stop school shootings. "He's smarter than I was when I was 19," Biden said. "This kid's something else! … Your generation is fundamentally changing things."

Then Rebecca Beaulieu, 24, who graduated from college last year and now works as a paid environmental activist, pressed Biden on why he attended a fundraiser in New York the night before that was co-hosted by [redacted] Goldman, who helped start a natural gas company called Western LNG. "He did found a fossil fuel company, but he's not on the board or any of it," Biden replied. "He does not run it at all. And by the way if you have a 401(k), do you have any investment in an oil company? Does that disqualify you to being engaged?"

Biden went on to offer an extended defense of his environmental record, citing a string of bills he authored dating all the way back to his two years as a Delaware county councilman in the early 1970s. Wearing a ballcap, he then walked over to where Beaulieu was standing in the crowd. The former vice president clasped her hand right, leaned in and locked eyes with her.

"Kiddo, I want you to just take a look, okay? You don't have to agree. But I want you look in my eyes," Biden said. "I guarantee you – I guarantee you! – we're going to end fossil fuel. … Before 2050, God willing. No, it can't be done by 2030. There's not one single person who has argued it can be done by that. But it can be done by 2050. It may be 2045."

The crowd applauded as Biden made the pledge, but the young woman who asked the question was unsatisfied. “I think it’s patronizing,” she told me afterwards. “I’m 24. I know I look younger than that, but I hope to be able to be at the table in discussions when climate is concerned. I’m not just like a child that’s waiting for someone else to do something. I’m actively doing something.”

Jess Elliott, on the other hand, thought Biden handled all the questions deftly. The 77-year-old was a Navy fighter pilot who flew F-4 Phantoms over Vietnam. He’s a Republican-leaning independent who voted for Trump in 2016 but came to regret his choice as the president repeatedly embarrassed himself on the world stage. Elliott lamented the moment that foreign leaders literally laughed at Trump as he spoke to the United Nations. He supports Biden, a former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, because he wants America to be respected again by our allies and feared by our adversaries. “He’s straightforward as hell,” Elliott said of Biden. “He’s honest as the day is long. I believe he’s honestly trying to help our country.”

Independents like Elliott, who lives in Exeter, are why Biden leads in the early polls, which in turn bolsters the former vice president’s case that he’s the candidate best positioned to defeat Trump. Without prompting, Elliott offered: “Joe looks very good for his age.”

Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.) brought down the house at the New Hampshire Democratic Party convention. She got the best response, by far, of the 19 presidential candidates who spoke at the event. (Robert F. Bukaty/AP)

-- At her town halls, Warren has been running onto the stage in an apparent effort to exude that she’s high energy. Interestingly, a CBS News-YouGov poll released yesterday of 18 important states in the nominating contest found that 5 percent of Democrats said Warren is too old to serve effectively as president, compared 37 percent for Sanders and 31 percent for Biden.

Despite Warren being 70, pollster Scott Clement noticed that she fared better in The Post’s poll among those who say a candidate over age 70 would have a worse chance against Trump (22 percent) than among those who say it doesn't matter (14 percent).

-- Eric Swalwell, 38, most forcefully made the generational argument against Biden during the first debate in June. The congressman noted that, when he was only 6 years old, Biden called for passing the torch to a new generation of leaders during a 1987 speech to the California Democratic Party. "He was right when he said that 32 years ago. He is still right today," said Swalwell. "If we are going to solve climate chaos, pass the torch. If we want to end gun violence and solve student debt, pass the torch." Biden rolled his eyes. "I'm holding onto that torch," he said. "I want to make it clear." Eleven days later, Swalwell became the first Democrat to drop out of the race.

Democratic presidential candidates can't stop swearing

-- Amy Klobuchar, 59, is trying to be the bridge candidate between young and old. The senator from Minnesota, technically a baby boomer, emphasized on Saturday that she's "the mom of a Generation Z-slash-millennial."

"It is true I don't swear in public a lot – I'll put that out there – but I think that a moderate tone … is exactly what this country wants right now," Klobuchar said. "I've been asked some about having a viral moment. I remind people that that's all those moments are. They're moments. They might help people for fundraising, but they are not the longward trek that we need to bring people along with us."

She offered up an American Indian proverb: "We need a leader who doesn't just make decisions for this generation but makes them for seven generations from now, which is an Ojibway saying that I've learned from our tribes in Minnesota. We have a president who cannot even keep his decisions seven minutes from now."

Biden and Warren will finally face off on third Democratic presidential debate stage

MORE ON 2020:

-- Additional team coverage:

- Annie Linskey and Matt Viser: "Biden and Warren, longtime frenemies, will finally meet in a debate chasing the biggest prize of all."
- Michael Scherer: "Risk or safety? The dividing line between Joe Biden and his challengers."
- Glenn Kessler fact checked Biden's claim that he opposed the Iraq War from the "moment it started," and the candidate's staff acknowledges that he misspoke.
- Columnist E.J. Dionne Jr.: "Like it or not, Thursday's debate is about electability."

-- Tom Steyer didn't qualify for this week's debate, but a CBS News-YouGov poll published yesterday put him at 2 percent in Nevada – which means he's poised to get on stage for next month's debate in Ohio. It also means that 11 candidates have qualified, which is expected to result in two nights of debates again. This week, there will only be one night because just 10 candidates qualified. (Dave Weigel)

Here are the Republicans challenging Trump in 2020

-- Former South Carolina congressman Mark Sanford announced a primary challenge against Trump, the third Republican to do so. "We need to have a conversation on what it means to be a Republican," he said. "I think that, as a Republican Party, we have lost our way." Felicia Sonmez reports: "The South Carolina Republican said he had been intending to announce his bid at a campaign event last week but decided to cancel it because of Hurricane Dorian. Sanford campaign spokeswoman Sarah Allred said Sunday that a formal kickoff event has yet to be planned."

-- Sanford acknowledges the long odds, but he won't even be able to vote for himself: The South Carolina Republican Party canceled its primary in 2020 so that Trump can win all of the state's delegates without being challenged.

QUOTE OF THE DAY:

"The Trumps will be a dynasty that will last for decades, propelling the Republican Party into a new party," said Trump campaign manager Brad Parscale. (Felicia Sonmez)

-- Trump's children – particularly Ivanka and Donald Jr. – are fighting to succeed their father. From the Atlantic's [redacted] Coppins: "The president and his children—who declined to be interviewed for this story—have labored to project an image of unity. But over the past several months, I spoke with dozens of people close to the Trumps, including friends, former employees, White House officials, and campaign aides. The succession battle they described is marked by old grievances, petty rivalries—and deceptively high stakes … That Donald Trump had chosen Ivanka to feature so prominently at his campaign kickoff seemed natural. He'd been grooming her for years to take over the family empire. She was the golden child—beautiful, telegenic, and in possession of that most important family trait: a compulsive image-consciousness. …Yet when Don offered to help his father's campaign, many of the tasks he received had a whiff of condescension. Trump had always been embarrassed by his son's hunting … But now that the candidate was wooing rural Republicans, he was happy to let Don put on that goofy orange vest and shoot at stuff for the cameras. 'You can finally do something for me,' Trump told Don, according to a former aide."

Boris Johnson: 'I want to get a deal'

WHILE YOU WERE IN YOUR MORNING MEETINGS:

-- The British Parliament is expected again today to reject Prime Minister Boris Johnson's call for early elections, further narrowing the options for the new British leader. Amanda Ferguson and Griff Witte report: "John Bercow — the colorful and controversial speaker of the House of Commons, known for his enthusiastic shouting of 'order, order' — set the tone for a long day of debate with the announcement that he would step down on Oct. 31, if the push for an October election indeed fails. The date is significant because Prime Minister Boris Johnson has said Britain will leave the E.U. by then, 'do or die.'

"Johnson got little help from his Irish counterpart Monday as he sought to turn the page on a disastrous week in London and unblock the path to a British exit from the European Union on Halloween. … Johnson crossed the sea in the morning, visiting Dublin for talks with Irish leader Leo Varadkar aimed at disentangling one of the thorniest aspects of Brexit negotiations: what to do about Northern Ireland. But the chilly, overcast skies in Dublin matched the apparent mood between the leaders. While Varadkar told reporters he was hoping for 'a good start' to the talks, he was also clear that Johnson's government had yet to offer a serious proposal for breaking through the deadlock. … 'There is no such thing as a clean break,' Varadkar said as Johnson grimaced."

-- The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's acting chief scientist said in an email to colleagues that he is investigating whether the agency's response to Trump's Hurricane Dorian tweets constituted a violation of NOAA policies and ethics. "In an email to NOAA staff that was obtained by The Washington Post, the official, Craig McLean, called the agency's response 'political' and a 'danger to public health and safety,'" Kayla Epstein, [redacted] Freedman and Jason Samenow report.

THE NEW WORLD ORDER:

-- "Collapse of Afghanistan peace talks spotlights internal Trump administration divisions," by Karen DeYoung: "Plans for U.S. troop withdrawals from Afghanistan, in keeping with President Trump's pledge to end the war there, were thrown into confusion Sunday, following Trump's decision to call off a secret meeting he planned with Afghan and Taliban leaders to secure a peace deal. Competing versions of what led to the cancellation of the meeting and, at least temporarily, any further U.S.-Taliban negotiations, exposed internal administration tensions that have flared as a deal seemed near in recent weeks. Those tensions have pitted Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, whose chief negotiator, Zalmay Khalilzad, said a week ago that agreement 'in principle' had been reached after 10 months of talks with the militants, and Trump national security adviser John Bolton, who opposed the talks. …

"Trump was the main person pushing for the Camp David meeting, according to a senior administration official … Comparing the initiative to Trump's personal meeting with North Korean leader Kim Jong Un, and his stated desire to meet with Iranian President Hassan Rouhani, this official said Trump thinks his personal style can persuade anyone, and that he has seen the possibility of a substantial Afghan withdrawal as a major plus for his reelection campaign. … U.S. officials said the decision to cancel the Camp David meeting, which had been in the planning stages for more than a week, was made on Thursday. The senior administration official said that Trump decided to tweet about its existence, and its cancellation, on Saturday evening to 'control the narrative.' …

"While many in the administration have questioned the Taliban talks, Pompeo and Bolton have been at loggerheads over this issue and others, with Bolton, a well-known hawk, charging that Pompeo was trying to 'box him out' of decision-making on Afghanistan. ... Bolton has not opposed reducing the current U.S. troop level to 8,600 — about the number in Afghanistan when Trump took office — but rejects any deal with the Taliban. His view is that the president can meet his campaign promise of withdrawal without a deal…

"There was little disagreement that events of the weekend will probably lead to increased violence in Afghanistan. Pompeo denied extensive reports that the Taliban had made significant battlefield gains in recent months. … The Taliban said that the decision to end the U.S.-Taliban peace process for now would 'lead to more losses for the United States,' spokesman Zabiullah Mujahid said in a statement."

-- The Times has a tick-tock on the Camp David summit with the Taliban that wasn't: "What would have been one of the biggest headline-grabbing moments of his tenure was put together on the spur of the moment and then canceled on the spur of the moment. The usual National Security Council process was dispensed with; only a small circle of advisers was even clued in. ... On display were all of the characteristic traits of the Trump presidency — the yearning ambition for the grand prize, the endless quest to achieve what no other president has achieved, the willingness to defy convention, the volatile mood swings and the tribal infighting."

-- Conservatives on Capitol Hill were relieved that Trump didn't meet with the Taliban at Camp David on the eve of the 18th anniversary of the Sept. 11 attacks. From the No. 3 House Republican and Dick Cheney's daughter:

From a Republican congressman who serves as a pilot in the Illinois National Guard:

-- The full Ginsburg: Representing the Trump administration on all five major Sunday morning talk shows, Pompeo defended Trump's decision to invite the Taliban to Camp David. "If you're going to negotiate peace, you often have to deal with some pretty bad actors," the secretary of state said on ABC's "This Week." "I know the history, too, at Camp David, and indeed President Trump reflected on that. Some pretty bad actors have traveled through that place throughout recorded history." Pompeo added he hopes there will not be a delay in plans for an initial drawdown of at least 5,000 U.S. troops, along with a full withdrawal tentatively planned to take place by the end of 2020. But "any reduction in our forces will be based on actual conditions," Pompeo said on NBC's "Meet the Press." (Sonmez and Stein; DeYoung)

-- Pompeo also continued to deflect questions about a potential Senate run in 2020. Paul Kane reports: "Pompeo, who represented the southern portion of central Kansas for six years in the House before joining Trump's Cabinet, has been Senate Republican leaders' top choice to replace retiring Sen. Pat Roberts (R). They believe he could clear the GOP field and easily win the general election. Pompeo, who served as Trump's CIA director before getting confirmed as secretary of state in April 2018, reiterated Sunday that he is focused on being America's top diplomat. But he appeared to leave open the possibility that he would run if the president wanted him to. 'I've said this repeatedly, as long as President Trump wants me to be a secretary of state, I will do what I've been doing for the last, goodness, almost year and a half now, focus on trying to deliver security for the American people. It's my mission every day,' Pompeo said on ABC's 'This Week.'"

-- A reminder of the human lives at stake in these negotiations: A young human-rights defender from Afghanistan pledged to make his country better. He was shot dead. Siobhán O'Grady and Sharif Hassan report: "It was August in Kabul, and Abdul Samad Amiri, 28, had recently traveled the 10 hours east to the capital from his home province of Ghowr, where persistent threats from the Taliban and local militias had created an increasingly volatile environment. … Weeks later, on the same road, Amiri was found shot dead, according to Wardak province police spokesman Hekmatullah Durani. The Taliban has not yet commented publicly on the attack, but Afghan President Ashraf Ghani said Friday the militants were responsible for his killing and that it amounted to 'a crime against humanity.'"

-- One of our reporters offered another somber reminder that social media is, perhaps, not the best place to solve the war in Afghanistan:

'We just want to help': Bahamians aid those displaced by the storm

--- The U.S. humanitarian response to areas devastated by Hurricane Dorian has shifted into a new phase as desperate survivors flee the worst-hit areas of the Bahamas for towns and cities that were largely spared. Carol Morello reports: "Although some remain behind, many residents of the storm-battered Abaco Islands have left for Nassau, Freeport and other areas where more assistance is available. Shelters are overflowing, and local officials have reported a surge in looting. Tens of thousands of people are believed to be homeless or in need of help. Mark Green, the administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), took an aerial tour Sunday of the disaster zones, flying in a U.S. Navy Sea Stallion over flattened forests and communities reduced to rubble. 'Some places it's like nothing happened,' he said. 'Other places, it's like they were hit by a nuclear bomb.' The death toll remained at 44 on Sunday, but the government has warned that the number will be significantly higher when the extent of the damage becomes clearer."

-- Related: In Alabama, there are no signs of Trump's hurricane. Avi Selk reports from Mobile: "The city stands. The grocery stores are fully stocked, the Home Depot has no lack of generators, tarps and plywood, and it's business as usual at the Waffle Houses. Boaters on the Mobile River have been urged to caution — only because a group of manatees were spotted frolicking nearby. The highway south runs past unsunk boats and unbroken masts all the way to the mouth of the Gulf of Mexico, where resort-town general stores report no panicked runs on supplies — not now and not a week ago, when Trump first claimed Alabama would likely be slammed by Hurricane Dorian."

-- Asylum applications are flooding Latin American countries now that the U.S. has tightened border security. Mary Beth Sheridan reports: "Trump complains of the sharp rise in applications for asylum in the United States, which more than tripled in seven years to 254,000 in 2018, according to global statistics compiled by the U.N. refu-gee agency. But asylum petitions in Mexico shot up more than 3,500 percent over the same period. They could nearly triple this year alone, to around 80,000. The surge of asylum seekers in the hemisphere stems from a cascade of crises: the implosion of Venezuela, a crackdown on dissidents by the authoritarian government of Nicaragua, and agricultural disasters and gang violence in El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras."

-- Students in Hong Kong formed human chains outside their schools in solidarity with pro-democracy protesters, as the city's government warned the U.S. Congress to stay out of its affairs. From the AP: "Thousands of demonstrators held a peaceful march Sunday to the U.S. Consulate to seek Washington's support, but violence erupted hours later in a business and retail district as protesters vandalized subway stations, set fires and blocked traffic, prompting police to fire tear gas. … Protesters in their Sunday march appealed to [Trump] to 'stand with Hong Kong' and ensure Congress passes a bill that proposes economic sanctions and penalties on Hong Kong and mainland China officials found to be suppress democracy and human rights in the city. Hong Kong's government expressed regret over the U.S. bill, known as the Hong Kong Human Rights and Democracy Act. It said in a statement Monday that

-- Apple is accused of violating worker rights in Chinese factories on the eve of the rollout of its new iPhone 11. Reed Albergotti reports: “A report released Sunday by China Labor Watch, a nonprofit advocacy group, accused Apple and its manufacturing partner Foxconn of a litany of labor violations, including withholding bonus payments, rolling back safety training and employing more temporary workers than China’s laws allow. The report was based on observations and documents gathered by undercover investigators working at China’s biggest iPhone factory in Zhengzhou. The group said one of the investigators was employed by Apple for four years. Apple spokeswoman Lori Lodes denied most of the allegations, but acknowledged that Apple did exceed the number of contract workers allowed by Chinese law, which caps the ratio at 10 percent. … The China Labor Watch report accused Apple of exploiting Chinese workers in part to absorb costs associated with tariffs placed on its products."

-- The tariffs are reducing the amount of trade between the U.S. and China. From the AP: “Imports of American goods tumbled 22% in August from a year earlier to $10.3 billion, customs data showed Sunday. Exports to the United States, China’s biggest market, sank 16% to $44.4 billion. Both sides have raised tariffs on billions of dollars of each other’s imports in the fight over complaints about Beijing’s trade surplus and technology development plans."

-- A powerful typhoon pounded Tokyo, leaving nearly one million people without power. Simon Denyer reports: “Typhoon Faxai was the strongest storm to hit the Japanese capital in years, broadcaster NHK said, and caused one death and more than 30 injuries across the region. A woman in her 50s died in Tokyo, police said, with a security camera capturing her being blown off her feet and into a wall, Kyodo news reported. A blackout left more than 900,000 people without power in two areas surrounding the capital, according to Tokyo Electric Power Co."

--- India’s space agency located its moon lander a day after losing it. Niha Masih reports: “A day after India’s bold mission to land on the moon appeared to have failed, the country’s space agency announced that the missing lander had been located, raising hopes for a turnaround ... Vikram, the lander of Chandrayaan-2, which blasted off in July, was scheduled to soft-land on the lunar south pole early Saturday. While its descent began as planned, communication with it snapped minutes before touchdown, leading to heartbreak across the nation."

Congress is back in session. Here's what to expect this fall.

THE DOMESTIC AGENDA:

-- Congress is returning from summer recess, with a lot on its plate. Rachael Bade and Mike DeBonis report: "First up is a bill to fund the government, as the current legislation runs out Sept. 30. With just over three weeks to strike a deal, leaders are already eyeing a short-term measure to buy themselves more time to negotiate. Tighter gun restrictions, a trade pact and efforts to lower prescription drugs also crowd the agenda. In some ways, the next few months represent the 116th Congress's last chance to pass major legislation until 2021. Lawmakers in both parties agree the partisan politics of the 2020 election will kick into high gear as soon as January, making any dealmaking and compromise all the more difficult. That doesn't leave Congress much time. The House only has 13 legislative days in September before they leave for another two-week recess — and only 45 legislative days left in the year. Senators, meanwhile, are expected to be in town 53 days."

-- Trump will visit Baltimore on Thursday to huddle with congressional Republicans, two months after he called the city a "disgusting, rat and rodent infested mess." Bade reports: "The White House confirmed Sunday that Trump would address House Republicans at their biennial retreat ... Republican lawmakers and aides — who chose the city for their three-day gathering before Trump decried it as 'the Worst in the USA' — weren't sure the president would want to attend."

-- Americans across party and demographic lines overwhelmingly support expanded background checks for gun buyers and "red flag" laws, according to a

Washington Post-ABC News poll. From Mike DeBonis and Emily Guskin: "Although the poll finds a continued partisan divide on more far-reaching gun-control proposals, public opinion is firmly behind Democrats' push for action as Congress returns to Washington on Monday. More Americans say they trust congressional Democrats over Trump to handle the nation's gun laws, 51 percent to 36 percent, with independents siding with Democrats by a 17-point margin — a divide that could have political ramifications for the 2020 presidential and congressional elections. … The Post-ABC poll finds 86 percent of Americans support implementing 'red-flag' provisions, which allow guns to be taken from people judged to be a danger to themselves or others. And 89 percent support expanding federal background checks to cover private sales and gun-show transactions. Both measures are supported by at least 8 in 10 Republicans, white evangelical Christians, members of gun-owning households and other traditionally conservative groups."

-- Air Force leaders ordered a probe of how the service chooses overnight accommodations on long flights after it was revealed that air crews occasionally stayed at Trump's Scotland resort while refueling at a small airport nearby. From Politico: "The C-17 crew's overnight stay at Trump's Turnberry resort in Scotland earlier this year … was not an isolated incident. In September 2018, on its way back to the U.S. from Al Udeid Air Base in Qatar, a unit of the Maine Air National Guard landed at Prestwick Airport, the airport closest to Trump's luxury waterfront resort. The crew and their passengers then spent the night at his hotel, according to one person who was present, an Instagram post and a voucher detailing the crew's itinerary ... The House Government Oversight and Reform Committee launched a probe of the Scotland operations in April out of concern that the use by the military of the Trump property and the nearby airport could pose a conflict of interest for the president — and to determine whether the Pentagon is helping to boost the fortunes of the struggling Trump's Scottish golf resort."

-- House Democrats are planning on significantly broadening their impeachment-related inquiries into Trump beyond the findings of the Russia investigation. From the Times: "Undeterred by lackluster public support for impeachment, Democratic lawmakers and aides have sketched out a robust four-month itinerary of hearings and court arguments that they hope will provide the evidence they need to credibly portray Mr. Trump as corrupt and abusing his power. Beyond the president's efforts to impede the special counsel's investigation, Democrats also plan to scrutinize his role in hush payments to two women who said they had affairs with him and reports that he dangled pardons to officials willing to break the law to implement his immigration policies."

-- Nancy Pelosi will soon release a drug-pricing plan, an issue Democrats hope to keep on the front burner for the rest of the year. From Axios: "Pelosi's proposal would direct the federal government to negotiate the price of certain expensive drugs with little or no competition — and, crucially, that would also become the price in the private market, not just the Medicare drug coverage price, according to Democratic aides and lobbyists working on the issue. That's awfully close to what Trump has endorsed before, but Democrats aren't eager to share the issue ahead of 2020. People following the legislative debate suspect that normal partisan politics will likely take control over this particular plan — 'except if the president is for it. That will change everything,' an industry lobbyist said."

-- Freshman Rep. Susan Wild (D-Pa.) is turning the grief from her partner's suicide into action. Rachael Bade reports: Wild "was home preparing for a week of constituent meetings, a town hall and a cookout she and her longtime partner, Kerry Acker, were hosting later that day when he returned from a stay in New York. But Wild's plans for the weekend — and for her congressional career and life — changed the minute she answered the call from a restricted number: A police officer told her Acker had died by suicide. The next few days were a blur for Wild, one of just a few lawmakers who have lost their spouses or partners while serving in Congress."

Islam. He has advocated for a tax on women who wear a hijab, supported a ban on Muslims immigrating to the Netherlands and said he feared a future with 'more mosques than churches' in his country. 'I don't hate Muslims, I hate Islam,' he once said."

THE #METOO MOVEMENT:

-- In a new book, New York Times reporters Jodi Kantor and Megan Twohey offer their account of breaking the Harvey Weinstein story. From our book critic Carlos Lozada: "Though the Weinstein reporting is remembered in part for the Hollywood stars who suffered the mogul's propositions and abuses — Ashley Judd, Rose McGowan and Gwyneth Paltrow, among others — Kantor and Twohey also identified victims with far lower profiles, including young assistants and producers who worked for Weinstein and sometimes received payoffs for their silence. The similarities among their stories gave rise to what the reporters call 'The Pattern': Weinstein inviting women into hotel rooms for supposedly job-related meetings, pressuring them for massages, escalating his demands for sexual acts, combining professional and physical intimidation."

The book, "She Said," not only details meetings with courageous sources. It shares interactions with Weinstein's team of lawyers as they sought to prevent the truth from getting out: "Powerhouse attorney David Boies helped Weinstein 'conceal, spin, and silence' allegations for years, Kantor and Twohey write. The relentlessly available Washington lawyer Lanny Davis is a bumbling figure — working for Weinstein, unsure of his authority and yet confirming multiple settlements. … And attorney Lisa Bloom emerges as an especially odious character. An advocate for women in public, behind the scenes she plots to discredit them. 'I feel equipped to help you against the Roses of the world, because I have represented so many of them,' she writes in a memo for Weinstein, referring to Rose McGowan. 'They start out as impressive, bold women, but the more one presses for evidence, the weaknesses and lies are revealed.' She even proposes that the producer launch a Weinstein Foundation focused on gender equity. For real."

-- The book also details how Bob Weinstein, the former mogul's brother, pleaded with him to get medical treatment for what he described as many years of "misbehavior." From the Times: "'Your reaction was once more to blame the victims, or to minimize the misbehavior in various ways. If you think nothing is wrong with your misbehavior so in this area then announce it to your wife and family,' [Bob Weinstein wrote in a memo to Harvey Weinstein]. … One of the central figures of 'She Said' is a former top executive at the Weinstein Company: Irwin Reiter. Mr. Reiter, an accountant who worked for Mr. Weinstein for decades, was increasingly alarmed by his behavior toward women and had raised concerns within the company, to no avail. The book discloses that it was Mr. Reiter who provided the reporters with an explosive internal memo from an employee who described Weinstein's routine harassment of junior female employees and actresses. Mr. Reiter also alerted Ms. Kantor and Ms. Twohey, who were investigating financial settlements for sexual harassment from decades ago, to other recent accusations against Mr. Weinstein, bringing new urgency to the investigation."

-- Financier Jeffrey Epstein forged deep ties with some of the nation's elite universities and their scholars by showering them with gifts and donations that academics now realize provided a veneer of credibility to a convicted sex offender. Susan Svrluga reports: "Epstein gave repeatedly to MIT and Harvard University. On Saturday, MIT President L. Rafael Reif responded to allegations in the New Yorker that Joi Ito, director of the Media Lab, and others sought to conceal the source of money Epstein had donated. Reif, in a letter to the campus, called the accusations 'deeply disturbing' and announced Ito had submitted his resignation as director of Media Lab, professor and employee. He also said an outside law firm would be hired to conduct a thorough review. … Last month, Reif apologized to Epstein's victims in a message to campus. The school accepted about $800,000 of Epstein's money over 20 years, Reif wrote, with gifts to the MIT Media Lab and to a mechanical engineering professor. … The largest gift to Harvard University from Epstein was $6.5 million in 2003, for the Program for Evolutionary Dynamics, according to a school spokesman."

leave, per the Providence Journal.

SOCIAL MEDIA SPEED READ:

J.P. Morgan created an index to track the impact Trump's tweets have on the market. It's called the "Volfefe Index":

Texas's senior senator tweeted about his Uber driver:

The president didn't like an "NBC Nightly News" segment by Lester Holt about criminal justice that featured singer John Legend:

Legend and his wife, Chrissy Teigen, responded on Twitter:

Before lashing out on Twitter, Trump spent his Sunday at the golf course:

Meanwhile, the president's eldest daughter and adviser announced her visit to Alabama, the state Trump insisted would get hit by Hurricane Dorian:

And some "awwww" news: An Austrian photographer snapped this picture of a squirrel smelling a flower:

VIDEOS OF THE DAY:

A Bahamian man explained how he and his daughter were stopped from reaching the U.S. while attempting to leave the islands ravaged by Hurricane Dorian:

A video of George W. Bush from after the U.S. invaded Afghanistan went viral after Trump revealed that he invited the Taliban to Camp David:

Trevor Noah took a look at some of the projects Trump will defund in order to pay for the border wall:

John Oliver explained what filibusters are and why he thinks they shouldn't exist:

Today at approximately 7:45 am there was a flood on 2nd floor ( Unit 2, medical sally port) and 2 pieces of clothing found in the drain pipe that was retrieved while snaking the drain from a toilet in the cell. To prevent water damage to our elevators we had to temporarily suspend all visits in the institution.

The appropriate PPE was on site to expedite the cleaning of this incident. As of now the institution has resumed normal operations and sanitation is completed. If you should have any further questions and or concerns please feel free to contact me.

Thank you.

Mike,

This just came in below with a deadline of 3 pm.

Perhaps Lee could draft something as best he can on short notice for our review (in case I'm advised to answer this reporter at 3)?
Thanks,

Hello,

My name is Jake Offenhartz and I'm a reporter with Gothamist and WNYC, working on a story about reports we've received of raw sewage flooding jail cells and common areas at the Metropolitan Correctional Center. We're also told that female detainees are being asked to clean up the mess — wondering if BOP can confirm, and would like to respond?

Additionally, attorneys say their clients were denied visitation rights this weekend because of staffing shortages. In the wake of Epstein's suicide, what steps has the BOP taken to address staffing issues at the facility?

We'll have a story up around 3 p.m. I can be reached here or by phone at 914 500 3940

Jake

> Lee, I saw a story today claiming that BOP lost 12% of our workforce since Trump Administration started which is double the drop in the prison pop. This is highly misleading. As you know (and AG Sessions and DAG Rosenstein were also acutely aware of), over the 5 years leading into this administration our prison population had dropped 40,000 inmates, but our staffing had gone up (and pop has continued to drop another almost 9,000 since the start of the Administration)! The drop in staffing that they are referring to also likely includes the 5156 unfunded vacant positions that were eliminated...positions we never could fill in the first place.
> We do not need more staff, we just need to fill the vacancies we have. I continue to point out to anyone that will listen (and have reiterated this in several Hill briefings), the problem is not our authorized staffing levels or funding, rather it is finding good candidates to come work for us in hard to fill areas. I have dozens of examples where we post jobs, get 30 applicants and only 10 end up actually coming on board. At that rate it will take a long time just to fill the vacancies we have. We are working on several new initiatives to try and make BOP more attractive to applicants (unfortunately news like this does not help).
> Anyway, I know you know this, but also want you to know that we are working to change this narrative, but right now we are getting drowned out by the media hysteria. Thanks.

Ok, this is going to be sensitive. Cant say I'm surprised people want to be cautious. I will want to hear about specific examples of significant problems. Why sending to RDs and not to all CEOs? All CEO memo will need Exec staff and union clearance first, but it will ensure the message gets out. We can discuss tomorrow.

Hugh,
Wanted to give you the heads up, there is an Inmate Suicide Prevention Program Memo in your mailbox that you will probably want to review tomorrow. I discussed it with Rob and Alison today.

Basically following inmate Epstein's suicide, Wardens are defaulting to leaving inmates on suicide watch longer than the institutional Psychologists would advise. So the memo to the RDs seeks to remind Wardens to utilize the professional psychological expertise of the institutional psychologists in managing inmate suicide through the variety of healing strategies. Alison is in the office tomorrow, 10/18, if you want to discuss with her the best way to communicate this to the RD and Wardens and if you have any questions. Have a great day. Peace- Heidi

Three new polls help explain why Trump supporters chanted "Send her back!" about Ilhan Omar

'Send her back!': Crowd at Trump rally chants about Rep. Omar

BY JAMES HOHMANN

with Hailey Fuchs

THE BIG IDEA: Three new polls help explain why the crowd at President Trump's rally in North Carolina last night chanted "Send her back!" when he attacked Rep. Ilhan Omar (D-Minn.), a Somali-born Muslim, as well as the reluctance of most congressional Republicans to challenge his racist tweets.

1) A Pew Research Center poll finds that 62 percent of Americans say the country's openness to people from around the world is "essential to who we are as a nation." That's down six points from September, driven entirely by Republicans changing their views. Since last fall, the share of Republicans who say America risks losing its identity if it is too open has increased 13 percentage points to 57 percent, while the share who view the nation's openness to others as essential has declined 10 points to 37 percent, according to the Pew survey, which was conducted Wednesday through Monday.

2) A USA Today-Ipsos poll finds that 68 percent of Americans who were aware of Trump's tweets about the four liberal minority lawmakers said they are offensive. But 57 percent of Republicans polled said they agreed with the president, and a third said they strongly agreed. Overall, 59 percent called the president's tweets "un-American," including independents by a 2-to-1 margin, and 65 percent of those surveyed said telling minority Americans to "go back where they came from" is a racist statement. Among Republicans, however, 45 percent agreed and 34 percent disagreed. Seven in 10 Republicans say that "people who call others 'racist' usually do so in bad say that "people who call others 'racist' usually do so in bad faith," compared with 17 percent of Democrats.

3) An Economist-YouGov poll shows that members of "the Squad" are more strongly disliked by Republicans than all the Democratic presidential candidates and party leaders. The survey tested the images of 26 Democrats. Omar, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (N.Y.) and Rashida Tlaib (Mich.) are already hugely unpopular among Trump voters. For example, AOC is viewed "very unfavorably" by 74 percent of voters who supported Trump in 2016, while Omar is at 65 percent and Tlaib is at 58 percent.

"All of them are better known among Republicans than Democrats, which suggests that a steady stream of coverage in conservative media has elevated them as potential Democratic bogeywomen," Aaron Blake observes. "Trump is tilling fertile soil. … If you adjust their 'very unfavorable' ratings for the percentage who have actually heard enough to rate them, the picture becomes clearer. By this measure, Trump voters already rate them as three of the four Democrats they dislike the most. … Only House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (Calif.), who is tied with Tlaib for third-most-disliked, prevents them from monopolizing the top four spots. (Rep. Ayanna Pressley (Mass.) was the fourth congresswoman Trump targeted. She remains less well known and less despised than the other three members.)"

People cheer President Trump as he speaks last night at Williams Arena in Greenville, N.C. (Carolyn Kaster/AP)

-- Trump attacked all four members of the self-professed Squad during a 90-mintue speech. A vote for Democrats, Trump told the crowd, is a vote for "frankly, the destruction of our country." But he saved his wrath for Omar, the only one of the four who was not born in the United States.

-- Contrast Trump's rhetoric this week to the moment that the late John McCain challenged a woman who falsely called Barack Obama a Muslim during the 2008 campaign. That rally took place in a Minnesota congressional district that neighbors the one represented by Omar. But, as Trump never tires of pointing out, McCain lost.

-- Last night's rally underscored that the "Send her back!" sentiment is a feature, not a bug, of Trumpism. Trump's poll numbers went up after he called for a total and complete ban on Muslims entering the United States in December 2015. His Republican primary opponents chastised him, but his crowds loved it. And Trump has said he sees crowds at his rallies as his focus groups. On "Fox & Friends," Eric Trump said "95 percent" of Americans agree with his father's message.

seconds, as the stray shouts stretched into a uniform roar," Meagan Flynn reports. "Some raised campaign signs or fists to the rhythm of the crowd as they yelled. Some only murmured along. A few were children, following the lead of the adults sitting in front-row seats."

-- Omar responded by quoting a Maya Angelou poem:

-- As Trump refashions the GOP into more of a European-style nationalist party, he's accelerating a once-in-a-generation political realignment that is re-sorting the two major parties. There was a stark racial divide in Pew's poll, but there's also a breakdown by class: Seven in 10 whites with at least a four-year college degree say America's openness is essential, compared with half of those who do not have a degree. In other words, blue-collar, less-educated whites in the industrial Midwest gravitate toward the messaging while college-educated suburban women and the rising American electorate are turned off by it. This could speed up the underlying tectonic shifts that are making places like Ohio redder and places like Arizona bluer.

"Trump's reelection campaign has boasted about efforts to expand the 2020 electoral map and compete in far-flung Democratic territory from Oregon to New Mexico while along the way winning over some of the voters who have been turned off by aspects of his presidency. But the president has held all his campaign rallies this year in states he won in 2016 — including Florida, Pennsylvania and North Carolina. And he has shown no interest in toning down the incendiary rhetoric that has made him unpopular among black, Hispanic and female voters," Toluse Olorunnipa and Ashley Parker reported. "The plan includes solidifying and maximizing the support of Trump's base in a handful of key states while making marginal inroads with some of the constituencies wary of the president."

Trump may win a second term in 2020 by going after the Squad – just as embracing Proposition 187 allowed Pete Wilson to get reelected in California in 1994 – but doing so could inflict immense long-term damage on the Republican brand.

-- Trump is forcing everyone in the party he didn't join until 2009 to pick a side. Most who hold elected office fear his wrath – and possible primary challenges – so they have picked his side. History almost certainly will not judge them kindly for it. But politicians, by necessity, think more about the next election than the next generation.

Trump says he is winning the fight against 'the Squad'

-- Trump acknowledged yesterday that he's been emboldened by the fact that only four House Republicans voted for the resolution to condemn his racist remarks. "I do think I'm winning the political fight, I think I'm winning it by a lot," he told reporters. "I think the story is that 187 Republicans voted in favor of Trump and four voted against. There is great unity in the Republican Party."

-- But it is significant that one of the four Republicans who broke ranks, Will Hurd from Texas, is the House GOP's lone African American. "There is no room in America for racism, sexism, antisemitism, xenophobia and hate," Hurd tweeted after the vote, adding that he hopes Pelosi "also considers holding members of her own party accountable to the same degree to which she holds the President."

After the 2018 elections, Hurd is one of three House Republicans left who hold a seat in a district Trump lost in 2016. Hurd won reelection last November by just 1,150 votes. The same Democratic challenger, Gina Ortiz Jones, is running again. She out-fundraised the incumbent in the second quarter. The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee said Hurd's vote for the resolution won't save him. The DCCC has been running Spanish-language ads on Facebook and Instagram to accuse Hurd of falsely labeling himself a centrist. "Congressman Hurd kicked off this Congress by pledging his 2020 vote to President Trump," said DCCC spokesman Cole Leiter. The *National Republican Congressional Committee did not respond to a request for comment.

-- Also in Texas: A retired judge who is Hispanic announced that she's leaving the Republican Party because of Trump's racist tweets. "Even accepting that Trump has had some successes (and I believe these are few), at his core, his ideology is racism," Elsa Alcala, 55, wrote on Facebook. "To me, nothing positive about him could absolve him of his rotten core." Alcala, who spent 20 years on the bench and was appointed by then-Gov. Rick Perry to the criminal appeals court, told the Austin American-Statesman: "Every day with the Republican Party seemed worse than the day before. Trump speaks about brown people like me as lesser beings. It's cliche to say, but the Republican Party left me."

How Republicans defended Trump's racist tweets

-- Trump is certainly making many Republicans uncomfortable, even if they voted against the resolution. Rep. Mark Walker, a Republican from North Carolina who was in the crowd at last night's rally, expressed discomfort with the chanting:

-- But several movement conservatives who do not hold elected office went much further. The communications director on Jeb Bush's 2016 presidential campaign, who has been critical of Trump throughout his presidency, lamented "the hatred":

A former Illinois GOP congressman:

The political editor at the conservative website Townhall.com:

-- Other Republicans have rationalized Trump's comments. Sen. Lindsey Graham (S.C.) argued that Trump's sentiment is not racist. "It's more narcissism than anything else," he told reporters at the Capitol, per Fox News. "I really do believe that if you're a Somali refugee who likes Trump, he's not going to say go back to Somalia. A racist says go back to Somalia because you're Somali or Muslim or whatever. That's just the way he is."

Rep. Mike Kelly (R-Pa.) said it's Democrats who are being divisive, not Trump. "I think we're going way beyond the pale right now. They talk about people of color. I'm a person of color. I'm white. I'm an Anglo-Saxon," Kelly told Vice News at the Capitol. "Has anybody ever told you to go back to your country?" the reporter asked. "Yeah, they have actually: With a name like Mike Kelly, you can't be from any place else but Ireland," Kelly replied, adding that it does not offend him. Kelly said in a statement to our Colby Itkowitz that his broader point was lost. (Vice posted the audio of the five-minute interview, so you can judge for yourself.)

Pelosi points to committee investigations before impeachment vote

IMPEACHMENT SUMMER THIS IS NOT:

-- House Democrats joined with Republicans to kill an impeachment resolution against Trump. "The vote was 332 to 95, with 95 Democrats voting to keep the resolution alive and 137 of their colleagues siding with Republicans," Rachael Bade and Mike DeBonis report. "Rep. Al Green (D-Tex.) put Democratic leaders in a bind Tuesday night by Tex.) put Democratic leaders in a bind Tuesday night by filing articles of impeachment accusing Trump of committing high crimes and misdemeanors. So far, 86 House Democrats favor opening an impeachment inquiry, although several were reluctant to endorse his effort. Senior Democratic leaders favored a procedural vote to table, or effectively kill, the resolution, avoiding a direct vote on the impeachment articles. Republicans supported that step, receiving the sign-off from the White House. Shortly after the vote, Trump claimed victory, casting the move as a straightforward decision on impeachment when it was a vote to put off any action — at least for now. …

"Rather than tabling the resolution, several Democrats on the House Judiciary Committee tried to persuade [Nancy] Pelosi and other leaders to refer the articles of impeachment to their panel. Judiciary Committee Chairman Jerrold Nadler (D-N.Y.), a private supporter of impeachment, said that is how such matters are historically handled, but was rebuffed. Nadler and several of his committee members who are in Pelosi's leadership circle voted against the motion to table." (Here's a list of the 95 Democrats who broke with Pelosi on the floor.)

-- But the House did vote on party lines, 230 to 198, to hold Attorney General Bill Barr and Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross in criminal contempt for failing to provide documents related to the Trump administration's efforts to add a citizenship question to the 2020 Census. "The impact of the contempt vote is largely symbolic. Those found in criminal contempt are largely symbolic. "Those found in criminal contempt are normally referred to the Justice Department for prosecution; in this instance, the Justice Department would not prosecute itself," Felicia Sonmez notes.

Footage of that party, unearthed and aired by NBC News on Wednesday, shows Trump grabbing dancing cheerleaders and socializing with financier Jeffrey Epstein, who was arrested last week and charged with sex trafficking. … The two men appear chummy, chuckling as Trump appears to point out women on the dance floor. At one point, Trump can be seen whispering in Epstein's ear, causing the financier to double over in laughter. … Trump can be seen putting his arm around the waist of one of the women, yanking her toward him and patting her on the backside as she laughs.

Five things to know before you FaceApp your face

THE BRAVE NEW WORLD OF TECHNOLOGY:

-- The DNC warned presidential campaigns against using the viral face-transforming FaceApp, citing the software's Russian developers. It urged campaign staff to "delete the app immediately." Hannah Denham and Drew Harwell report: "The app allows users to upload photos Drew Harwell report: "The app allows users to upload photos of their faces and have them automatically edited to look like their future selves, replete with wrinkles and graying hair — a popular trick that filled the social media feeds of millions of users, including celebrities such as Drake, LeBron James and the Jonas Brothers. But concerns over how the photos could be misused by the company, whose developers are headquartered in St. Petersburg, raised alarms among many users as well as DNC officials, who urged 2020 campaign staff and 'people in the Democratic ecosystem' not to use the app.

"The app's terms of service say users grant the company a 'perpetual, irrevocable (and) worldwide' license to use a user's photos, name or likeness in practically any way they see fit. If a user deletes content from the app, FaceApp can still store and use it, the terms say. FaceApp also says it can't guarantee your data or information is secure and that the company can share user information with other companies and third-party advertisers, which aren't disclosed in the privacy terms. FaceApp's terms of service say it can share information with a government agency if a subpoena, court order or search warrant is issued and that the company has 'a good faith belief that the law requires' it to do so. This information can also be shared with any country that FaceApp maintains facilities in, including Russia."

humans on a path to "symbiosis with artificial intelligence." In other words, allow them to control computers with their minds. Taylor Telford reports: "His start-up Neuralink said it has tested its elaborate interface of ultra-thin 'threads' — which connects with a chip embedded in the skull — on rats and wants to begin human trials as soon as next year. The company said the device could eventually be used to treat such neurological disorders as paralysis and blindness. Musk and the company outlined their plans, which require Food and Drug Administration approval, during a presentation Tuesday at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco. He said the trials would be done in partnership with neurosurgeons at Stanford University and other academic institutions. The procedure involves drilling four tiny holes in the skull to insert the threads. Eventually, Musk said, the goal is to implant the device with less-invasive laser surgery."

-- Uber passengers in multiple cities were startled last night when they were charged 100 times the advertised fare for short trips, a glitch that sparked jokes about surge pricing gone wild. Faiz Siddiqui reports: "Riders in cities including Washington and San Diego took to social media to post about the sky-high rates, a problem that Uber confirmed, although it declined to say how widespread the issue was. Some who ordered food for quick delivery said they were also overcharged. One social media user reported that Uber maxed out her husband's card with a charge of $1,905, when it was supposed to be $19.05. … The charge was so high it triggered a fraud alert. Uber said the glitch has been fixed. The company said the fare would be corrected so riders are charged only the amount for their actual trip, though they may temporarily see an inaccurate trip fare on their credit or debit cards."

-- Progress toward a trade deal with China has stalled while the Trump administration determines how to address Beijing's demands that the United States ease restrictions on Huawei Technologies, which many view as a national security threat. No face-to-face meetings have taken place and none have been scheduled since Trump and Xi Jinping met last month in Japan and agreed to resume talks, the Wall Street Journal notes.

-- Another norm threatened: Trump is signaling that he may seek to meddle in the awarding of a defense contract, possibly to punish someone he views as a critic. Bloomberg News reports: "Trump recently demanded more information about how the Pentagon crafted a massive cloud-computing contract it's poised to award to Amazon.com Inc. or Microsoft Corp., in order to decide whether he should intervene. The Defense Department is set to give the contract, worth as much as $10 billion over ten years, to one of the two companies next month. Amazon, whose cloud-computing technology leads the market, is seen as the favorite. …

"Ron Johnson, a Wisconsin Republican who recently wrote to the Pentagon to express concerns about the contract, said in an interview that he discussed it with the president aboard Air Force One last week. Senator Marco Rubio, a Florida Republican, sent a letter to National Security Adviser John Bolton on Thursday asking him to delay the contract award. … Trump and Rubio spoke about the contract by phone the next day. A person familiar with the call said that it sounded as if Trump was thinking about canceling the contract. … Oracle lost a legal challenge last week contesting the terms of the bid and alleging the Pentagon had crafted unfair requirements … Republican lawmakers have taken up Oracle's cause. Oracle at one point coordinated with at least seven other companies including Microsoft and SAP America to try to block Amazon from winning the entire contract." 'Send her back!': Crowd at Trump rally chants about Rep. Omar

with Hailey Fuchs

THE BIG IDEA: Three new polls help explain why the crowd at President Trump's rally in North Carolina last night chanted "Send her back!" when he attacked Rep. Ilhan Omar (D-Minn.), a Somali-born Muslim, as well as the reluctance of most congressional Republicans to challenge his racist tweets.

1) A Pew Research Center poll finds that 62 percent of Americans say the country's openness to people from around the world is "essential to who we are as a nation." That's down six points from September, driven entirely by Republicans changing their views. Since last fall, the share of Republicans who say America risks losing its identity if it is too open has increased 13 percentage points to 57 percent, while the share who view the nation's openness to others as essential has declined 10 points to 37 percent, according to the Pew survey, which was conducted Wednesday through Monday.

For better or worse, presidential leadership can shape public opinion. Trump's full-throated embrace of identity politics is changing his adopted party. Pew's poll, in the field mostly before the latest donnybrook, shows that Democratic attitudes are unchanged compared with last fall: 86 percent say America's openness is essential.

2) A USA Today-Ipsos poll finds that 68 percent of Americans who were aware of Trump's tweets about the four liberal minority lawmakers said they are offensive. But 57 percent of Republicans polled said they agreed with the president, and a third said they strongly agreed. Overall, 59 percent called the president's tweets "un-American," including independents by a 2-to-1 margin, and 65 percent of those surveyed said telling minority Americans to "go back where they came from" is a racist statement. Among Republicans, however, 45 percent agreed and 34 percent disagreed. Seven in 10 Republicans say that "people who call others 'racist' usually do so in bad faith," compared with 17 percent of Democrats.

3) An Economist-YouGov poll shows that members of "the Squad" are more strongly disliked by Republicans than all the Democratic presidential candidates and party leaders. The survey tested the images of 26 Democrats. Omar, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (N.Y.) and Rashida Tlaib (Mich.) are already hugely unpopular among Trump voters. For example, AOC is viewed "very unfavorably" by 74 percent of voters who supported Trump in 2016, while Omar is at 65 percent and Tlaib is at 58 percent.

"All of them are better known among Republicans than Democrats, which suggests that a steady stream of coverage in conservative media has elevated them as potential Democratic bogeywomen," Aaron Blake observes. "Trump is tilling fertile soil. … If you adjust their 'very unfavorable' ratings for the percentage who have actually heard enough to rate them, the picture becomes clearer. By this measure, Trump voters already rate them as three of the four Democrats they dislike the most. … Only House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (Calif.), who is tied with Tlaib for third-most-disliked, prevents them from monopolizing the top four spots. (Rep. Ayanna Pressley (Mass.) was the fourth congresswoman Trump targeted. She remains less well known and less despised than the other three members.)"

People cheer President Trump as he speaks last night at Williams Arena in Greenville, N.C. (Carolyn Kaster/AP)

-- Trump attacked all four members of the self-professed Squad during a 90-mintue speech. A vote for Democrats, Trump told the crowd, is a vote for "frankly, the destruction of our country." But he saved his wrath for Omar, the only one of the four who was not born in the United States.

-- Contrast Trump's rhetoric this week to the moment that the late John McCain challenged a woman who falsely called Barack Obama a Muslim during the 2008 campaign. That rally took place in a Minnesota congressional district that neighbors the one represented by Omar. But, as Trump never tires of pointing out, McCain lost.

-- Last night's rally underscored that the "Send her back!" sentiment is a feature, not a bug, of Trumpism. Trump's poll numbers went up after he called for a total and complete ban on Muslims entering the United States in December 2015. His Republican primary opponents chastised him, but his crowds loved it. And Trump has said he sees crowds at his rallies as his focus groups. On "Fox & Friends," Eric Trump said "95 percent" of Americans agree with his father's message.

-- As thousands chanted "Send her back" last night, the president paused to let it amplify: "He listened for 13 seconds, as the stray shouts stretched into a uniform roar," Meagan Flynn reports. "Some raised campaign signs or fists to the rhythm of the crowd as they yelled. Some only murmured along. A few were children, following the lead of the adults sitting in front-row seats."

-- Omar responded by quoting a Maya Angelou poem:

-- As Trump refashions the GOP into more of a European-style nationalist party, he's accelerating a once-in-a-generation political realignment that is re-sorting the two major parties. There was a stark racial divide in Pew's poll, but there's also a breakdown by class: Seven in 10 whites with at least a four-year college degree say America's openness is essential, compared with half of those who do not have a degree. In other words, blue-collar, less-educated whites in the industrial Midwest gravitate toward the messaging while college-educated suburban women and the rising American electorate are turned off by it. This could speed up the underlying tectonic shifts that are making places like Ohio redder and places like Arizona bluer.

"Trump's reelection campaign has boasted about efforts to expand the 2020 electoral map and compete in far-flung Democratic territory from Oregon to New Mexico while along the way winning over some of the voters who have been turned off by aspects of his presidency. But the president has held all his campaign rallies this year in states he won in 2016 — including Florida, Pennsylvania and North Carolina. And he has shown no interest in toning down the incendiary rhetoric that has made him unpopular among black, Hispanic and female voters," Toluse Olorunnipa and Ashley Parker reported. "The plan includes solidifying and maximizing the support of Trump's base in a handful of key states while making marginal inroads with some of the constituencies wary of the president."

Trump may win a second term in 2020 by going after the Squad – just as embracing Proposition 187 allowed Pete Wilson to get reelected in California in 1994 – but doing so could inflict immense long-term damage on the Republican brand.

-- Trump is forcing everyone in the party he didn't join until 2009 to pick a side. Most who hold elected office fear his wrath – and possible primary challenges – so they have picked his side. History almost certainly will not judge them kindly for it. But politicians, by necessity, think more about the next election than the next generation.

Trump says he is winning the fight against 'the Squad'

-- Trump acknowledged yesterday that he's been emboldened by the fact that only four House Republicans voted for the resolution to condemn his racist remarks. "I do think I'm winning the political fight, I think I'm winning it by a lot," he told reporters. "I think the story is that 187 Republicans voted in favor of Trump and four voted against. There is great unity in the Republican Party."

-- But it is significant that one of the four Republicans who broke ranks, Will Hurd from Texas, is the House GOP's lone African American. "There is no room in America for racism, sexism, antisemitism, xenophobia and hate," Hurd tweeted after the vote, adding that he hopes Pelosi "also considers holding members of her own party accountable to the same degree to which she holds the President."

After the 2018 elections, Hurd is one of three House Republicans left who hold a seat in a district Trump lost in 2016. Hurd won reelection last November by just 1,150 votes. The same Democratic challenger, Gina Ortiz Jones, is running again. She out-fundraised the incumbent in the second quarter. The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee said Hurd's vote for the resolution won't save him. The DCCC has been running Spanish-language ads on Facebook and Instagram to accuse Hurd of falsely labeling himself a centrist. "Congressman Hurd kicked off this Congress by pledging his 2020 vote to President Trump," said DCCC spokesman Cole Leiter. The *National Republican Congressional Committee did not respond to a request for comment.

-- Also in Texas: A retired judge who is Hispanic announced that she's leaving the Republican Party because of Trump's racist tweets. "Even accepting that Trump has had some successes (and I believe these are few), at his core, his ideology is racism," Elsa Alcala, 55, wrote on Facebook. "To me, nothing positive about him could absolve him of his rotten core." Alcala, who spent 20 years on the bench and was appointed by then-Gov. Rick Perry to the criminal appeals court, told the Austin American-Statesman: "Every day with the Republican Party seemed worse than the day before. Trump speaks about brown people like me as lesser beings. It's cliche to say, but the Republican Party left me."

-- Trump is certainly making many Republicans uncomfortable, even if they voted against the resolution. Rep. Mark Walker, a Republican from North Carolina who was in the crowd at last night's rally, expressed discomfort with the chanting:

-- But several movement conservatives who do not hold elected office went much further. The communications director on Jeb Bush's 2016 presidential campaign, who has been critical of Trump throughout his presidency, lamented "the hatred":

A former Illinois GOP congressman:

The political editor at the conservative website Townhall.com:

-- Other Republicans have rationalized Trump's comments. Sen. Lindsey Graham (S.C.) argued that Trump's sentiment is not racist. "It's more narcissism than anything else," he told reporters at the Capitol, per Fox News. “I really do believe that if you’re a Somali refugee who likes Trump, he’s not going to say go back to Somalia. A racist says go back to Somalia because you’re Somali or Muslim or whatever. That’s just the way he is.”

Rep. Mike Kelly (R-Pa.) said it’s Democrats who are being divisive, not Trump. “I think we’re going way beyond the pale right now. They talk about people of color. I’m a person of color. I’m white. I’m an Anglo-Saxon,” Kelly told Vice News at the Capitol. “Has anybody ever told you to go back to your country?” the reporter asked. “Yeah, they have actually: With a name like Mike Kelly, you can’t be from any place else but Ireland,” Kelly replied, adding that it does not offend him. Kelly said in a statement to our Colby Itkowitz that his broader point was lost. (Vice posted the audio of the five-minute interview, so you can judge for yourself.)

IMPEACHMENT SUMMER THIS IS NOT:

-- House Democrats joined with Republicans to kill an impeachment resolution against Trump. "The vote was 332 to 95, with 95 Democrats voting to keep the resolution alive and 137 of their colleagues siding with Republicans," Rachael Bade and Mike DeBonis report. "Rep. Al Green (D-Tex.) put Democratic leaders in a bind Tuesday night by filing articles of impeachment accusing Trump of committing high crimes and misdemeanors. So far, 86 House Democrats favor opening an impeachment inquiry, although several were reluctant to endorse his effort. Senior Democratic leaders favored a procedural vote to table, or effectively kill, the resolution, avoiding a direct vote on the impeachment articles. Republicans supported that step, receiving the sign-off from the White House. Shortly after the vote, Trump claimed victory, casting the move as a straightforward decision on impeachment when it was a vote to put off any action — at least for now. …

"Rather than tabling the resolution, several Democrats on the House Judiciary Committee tried to persuade [Nancy] Pelosi and other leaders to refer the articles of impeachment to their panel. Judiciary Committee Chairman Jerrold Nadler (D-N.Y.), a private supporter of impeachment, said that is how such matters are historically handled, but was rebuffed. Nadler and several of his committee members who are in Pelosi's leadership circle voted against the motion to table." (Here's a list of the 95 Democrats who broke with Pelosi on the floor.)

TRUMP’S BEHAVIOR TOWARD WOMEN:

-- “Behind the scenes the night Trump partied at Mar-a-Lago with Jeffrey Epstein and NFL cheerleaders,” by Rosalind S. Helderman and Beth Reinhard: “In November 1992, eager for a comeback, Trump threw a raucous party with NFL cheerleaders at his Mar-a-Lago estate in Florida and invited NBC to tape the event. Footage of that party, unearthed and aired by NBC News on Wednesday, shows Trump grabbing dancing cheerleaders and socializing with financier Jeffrey Epstein, who was arrested last week and charged with sex trafficking. … The two men appear chummy, chuckling as Trump appears to point out women on the dance floor. At one point, Trump can be seen whispering in Epstein’s ear, causing the financier to double over in laughter. … Trump can be seen putting his arm around the waist of one of the women, yanking her toward him and patting her on the backside as she laughs.

'I mean, I'm so controversial, I love beautiful women, I love going out with beautiful women, and I love women in general, and people would say, "Oh, that's a horrible thing,"' Trump told Daniels, according to a transcript of the show that Daniels provided to The Washington Post."

Five things to know before you FaceApp your face

THE BRAVE NEW WORLD OF TECHNOLOGY:

-- The DNC warned presidential campaigns against using the viral face-transforming FaceApp, citing the software's Russian developers. It urged campaign staff to "delete the app immediately." Hannah Denham and Drew Harwell report: "The app allows users to upload photos of their faces and have them automatically edited to look like their future selves, replete with wrinkles and graying hair — a popular trick that filled the social media feeds of millions of users, including celebrities such as Drake, LeBron James and the Jonas Brothers. But concerns over how the photos could be misused by the company, whose developers are headquartered in St. Petersburg, raised alarms among many users as well as DNC officials, who urged 2020 campaign staff and 'people in the Democratic ecosystem' not to use the app.

“The app’s terms of service say users grant the company a ‘perpetual, irrevocable (and) worldwide’ license to use a user’s photos, name or likeness in practically any way they see fit. If a user deletes content from the app, FaceApp can still store and use it, the terms say. FaceApp also says it can’t guarantee your data or information is secure and that the company can share user information with other companies and third-party advertisers, which aren’t disclosed in the privacy terms. FaceApp’s terms of service say it can share information with a government agency if a subpoena, court order or search warrant is issued and that the company has 'a good faith belief that the law requires' it to do so. This information can also be shared with any country that FaceApp maintains facilities in, including Russia.”

-- Billionaire entrepreneur Elon Musk has unveiled another high-concept project, one that he says puts humans on a path to “symbiosis with artificial intelligence.” In other words, allow them to control computers with their minds. Taylor Telford reports: “His start-up Neuralink said it has tested its elaborate interface of ultra-thin ‘threads’ — which connects with a chip embedded in the skull — on rats and wants to begin human trials as soon as next year. The company said the device could eventually be used to treat such neurological disorders as paralysis and blindness. Musk and the company outlined their plans, which require Food and Drug Administration approval, during a presentation Tuesday at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco. He said the trials would be done in partnership with neurosurgeons at Stanford University and other academic institutions. The procedure involves drilling four tiny holes in the skull to insert the threads. Eventually, Musk said, the goal is to implant the device with less-invasive laser surgery.”

-- Uber passengers in multiple cities were startled last night when they were charged 100 times the advertised fare for short trips, a glitch that sparked jokes about surge pricing gone wild. Faiz

Siddiqui reports: "Riders in cities including Washington and San Diego took to social media to post about the sky-high rates, a problem that Uber confirmed, although it declined to say how widespread the issue was. Some who ordered food for quick delivery said they were also overcharged. One social media user reported that Uber maxed out her husband's card with a charge of $1,905, when it was supposed to be $19.05. … The charge was so high it triggered a fraud alert. Uber said the glitch has been fixed. The company said the fare would be corrected so riders are charged only the amount for their actual trip, though they may temporarily see an inaccurate trip fare on their credit or debit cards."

-- Progress toward a trade deal with China has stalled while the Trump administration determines how to address Beijing's demands that the United States ease restrictions on Huawei Technologies, which many view as a national security threat. No face-to-face meetings have taken place and none have been scheduled since Trump and Xi Jinping met last month in Japan and agreed to resume talks, the Wall Street Journal notes.

-- Another norm threatened: Trump is signaling that he may seek to meddle in the awarding of a defense contract, possibly to punish someone he views as a critic. Bloomberg News reports: "Trump recently demanded more information about how the Pentagon crafted a massive cloud-computing contract it's poised to award to Amazon.com Inc. or Microsoft Corp., in order to decide whether he should intervene. The Defense Department is set to give the contract, worth as much as $10 billion over ten years, to one of the two companies next month. Amazon, whose cloud-computing technology leads the market, is seen as the favorite. …

“Ron Johnson, a Wisconsin Republican who recently wrote to the Pentagon to express concerns about the contract, said in an interview that he discussed it with the president aboard Air Force One last week. Senator Marco Rubio, a Florida Republican, sent a letter to National Security Adviser John Bolton on Thursday asking him to delay the contract award. … Trump and Rubio spoke about the contract by phone the next day. A person familiar with the call said that it sounded as if Trump was thinking about canceling the contract. … Oracle lost a legal challenge last week contesting the terms of the bid and alleging the Pentagon had crafted unfair requirements … Republican lawmakers have taken up Oracle’s cause. Oracle at one point coordinated with at least seven other companies including Microsoft and SAP America to try to block Amazon from winning the entire contract.” (Amazon CEO Jeff Bezos owns The Washington Post.)

Hello Loneryl -
From our end:

The Federal Bureau of Prisons (Bureau) takes allegations of staff misconduct seriously and, consistent with national policy, refers all allegations for investigation. The Bureau learned of allegations of sexual abuse through initial inmate complaints, and subsequently through administrative claims filed under the Federal Torts Claim Act. All allegations brought to the Bureau's attention were investigated by the Office of Internal Affairs.

CJS:

> This is an incredibly troubling story and it's now a lawsuit. Was BOP aware of these reports in the past? It sounds like there were multiple reports. Please keep us updated.
> In general, how many instances of unwanted sexual contact are reported at BOP facilities each year FY 2014-2019; how many of these were inmate only related and how many were inmate and BOP staff related; and how many were male institutions vs female institutions? In regards to PREA, are only inmates at the facility interviewed? The story references inmates who were moved out of the facility and into other facilities in advance of PREA investigators arriving.

Rape is rampant at this women's prison. Anyone who complains is punished, lawsuit says.

December 04, 2019 10:47 AM

A Miami Herald I-Team investigation into corruption, sexual abuse and medical neglect at the largest women's prison in the nation, Lowell Correctional. Reporting by Julie K. Brown / jbrown@miamiherald.com. By Emily Michot for systemic abuse, a space where they were shielded from any consequences.

For years, male officers at the women's work camp at Coleman Federal Correctional Complex sexually harassed and assaulted inmates in what amounted to a "sanctuary"

If the women complained about being groped, fondled or forced to perform sex acts on officers, the inmates were the ones who were punished.

Fourteen women, ranging in age from 30 to 56 and nearly all first-time offenders, have banded together to sue the United States, not under pseudonyms but under their real names, over the abuse they say they've endured at the Bureau of Prisons-operated camp. Seven of the women are still incarcerated.

The lawsuit seeks compensation and an overhaul of the prison. It was filed this week.

An aerial view of the sprawling Coleman complex

Coleman officials did not immediately respond to a request from the Miami Herald for comment.

The litigation is the latest manifestation of dysfunction in a federal prison system that seemingly hit bottom when Jeffrey Epstein, perhaps the most high-profile detainee in the nation, was found hanged Aug. 10 in his cell at another BOP facility, the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, while officers dozed nearby. The death, which led to the summary removal of the acting director of the prison system, has been termed a suicide. It occurred despite what was described as a previous suicide attempt three weeks earlier.

Although it touches on a second institution in Tallahassee, the lawsuit focuses primarily on Coleman, the largest prison complex in the federal system. Located in Sumter County near Wildwood, it houses more than 6,000 inmates in a series of compounds and camps, including roughly 500 women, the complaint says

In stark, chilling detail, the lawsuit describes pervasive abuse — how women were coerced and threatened, how they were lured into private offices or remote sheds with no surveillance cameras, or stalked relentlessly by corrections officers until they had no choice but to submit.

The officers — all of whom are identified in the lawsuit, at least by last name — would at times display computer screens showing the women the exact location of their families, a pointed message that their relatives could be targeted if the women didn't cooperate. Some of the women had minor children. In some cases, officers wanted to maintain relationships with the women after they had served their time, according to the lawsuit.

The lawsuit says Coleman employed no fewer than seven officers who took advantage of their authority and access to sexually abuse the women. Some of the officers had been investigated for sexual abuse in the past, with nothing coming of it, the lawsuit alleges.

The Miami Herald requested personnel files on all of the named officers to see if there were telltale warnings in their backgrounds. The Bureau of Prisons responded that absent an "overriding public interest," it would not provide such documents, calling the provision of such records "an unwarranted invasion of their personal privacy."

The male staffers maintained total control over the women's lives, safety and well-being. At least one victim said she was ordered to begin birth control to avoid the possibility of becoming pregnant and another was given a morning-after pill by an officer.

Adding Hugh and Jill.

Are we able to provide the stats they are requesting?

Thanks,
Loneryl

Hello Loneryl -
From our end:

The Federal Bureau of Prisons (Bureau) takes allegations of staff misconduct seriously and, consistent with national policy, refers all allegations for investigation. The Bureau learned of allegations of sexual abuse through initial inmate complaints, and subsequently through administrative claims filed under the Federal Torts Claim Act. All allegations brought to the Bureau's attention were investigated by the Office of Internal Affairs.

Good Morning All,

Please see the below questions from CJS. Can you please advise on the response?

Thanks,
Loneryl

Good morning all-

Please see incoming below from CJS this morning. Is BOP able to assist with response?

Thanks,
Dan

CJS:

> This is an incredibly troubling story and it's now a lawsuit. Was BOP aware of these reports in the past? It sounds like there were multiple reports. Please keep us updated.
> In general, how many instances of unwanted sexual contact are reported at BOP facilities each year FY 2014-2019; how many of these were inmate only related and how many were inmate and BOP staff related; and how many were male institutions vs female institutions? In regards to PREA, are only inmates at the facility interviewed? The story references inmates who were moved out of the facility and into other facilities in advance of PREA investigators arriving.

> Thanks.

Rape is rampant at this women's prison. Anyone who complains is punished, lawsuit says.

December 04, 2019 10:47 AM

A Miami Herald I-Team investigation into corruption, sexual abuse and medical neglect at the largest women's prison in the nation, Lowell Correctional. Reporting by Julie K. Brown / jbrown@miamiherald.com. By Emily Michot

For years, male officers at the women's work camp at Coleman Federal Correctional Complex sexually harassed and assaulted inmates in what amounted to a "sanctuary"

Complex sexually harassed and assaulted inmates in what amounted to a "sanctuary" for systemic abuse, a space where they were shielded from any consequences.

If the women complained about being groped, fondled or forced to perform sex acts on officers, the inmates were the ones who were punished.

Fourteen women, ranging in age from 30 to 56 and nearly all first-time offenders, have banded together to sue the United States, not under pseudonyms but under their real names, over the abuse they say they've endured at the Bureau of Prisons-operated camp. Seven of the women are still incarcerated.

The lawsuit seeks compensation and an overhaul of the prison. It was filed this week.

An aerial view of the sprawling Coleman complex

Coleman officials did not immediately respond to a request from the Miami Herald for comment.

The litigation is the latest manifestation of dysfunction in a federal prison system that seemingly hit bottom when Jeffrey Epstein, perhaps the most high-profile detainee in the nation, was found hanged Aug. 10 in his cell at another BOP facility, the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan, while officers dozed nearby. The death, which led to the summary removal of the acting director of the prison system, has been termed a suicide. It occurred despite what was described as a previous suicide attempt three weeks earlier.

Although it touches on a second institution in Tallahassee, the lawsuit focuses primarily on Coleman, the largest prison complex in the federal system. Located in Sumter County near Wildwood, it houses more than 6,000 inmates in a series of compounds and camps, including roughly 500 women, the complaint says

In stark, chilling detail, the lawsuit describes pervasive abuse — how women were coerced and threatened, how they were lured into private offices or remote sheds with no surveillance cameras, or stalked relentlessly by corrections officers until they had no choice but to submit.

The officers — all of whom are identified in the lawsuit, at least by last name — would at times display computer screens showing the women the exact location of their families, a pointed message that their relatives could be targeted if the women didn't cooperate. Some of the women had minor children. In some cases, officers wanted to maintain relationships with the women after they had served their time, according to the lawsuit according to the lawsuit.

The lawsuit says Coleman employed no fewer than seven officers who took advantage of their authority and access to sexually abuse the women. Some of the officers had been investigated for sexual abuse in the past, with nothing coming of it, the lawsuit alleges.

The Miami Herald requested personnel files on all of the named officers to see if there were telltale warnings in their backgrounds. The Bureau of Prisons responded that absent an "overriding public interest," it would not provide such documents, calling the provision of such records "an unwarranted invasion of their personal privacy."

The male staffers maintained total control over the women's lives, safety and well-being. At least one victim said she was ordered to begin birth control to avoid the possibility of becoming pregnant and another was given a morning-after pill by an officer.

New York, New York 10007

Dear Warden N'Diaye,

Thank you for your letter of August 10, 2019 regarding the death of Jeffrey Epstein. Mr. Epstein's death is a tragedy to everyone involved in his case.

One open question, among others, is whether the investigations referenced in your letter will include the incident at MCC involving Mr. Epstein on or about July 23, 2019. To my knowledge, it has never been definitively explained what the BOP concluded about that incident.

Sincerely,

Richard M. Berman

Hi Rebekah,

It should not be a problem. Does 10 am work for Mr. Berman and the rest of his staff?

Thank you,

Adam,

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
Audrey Strauss
Laura Birger
Craig Stewart
Russell Capone

Rebekah Donaleski
Nicholas Roos

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

Rebekah Donaleski

Hi Rebekah,

It should not be a problem. Does 10 am work for Mr. Berman and the rest of his staff?

Thank you,
Adam

Adam,

The list of visitors from our office is below:

Geoffrey Berman
Audrey Strauss
Laura Birger
Craig Stewart
Russell Capone
[redacted]
Rebekah Donaleski
Nicholas Roos

As discussed, we would like to see the 2nd floor pscyh observation and suicide watch area; the 9th floor SHU, and Epstein's cell, which we understand to still be cordoned off. As discussed, we would appreciate if only MCC legal would escort us, and we will not speak to any of the guards present given the ongoing investigations. Please give me a call with any questions, and let us know what time and where we should go, and if it would be easier for us to enter via the 3rd floor bridge.

Thanks,

Warden,

Per our discussion, please see the below request for a tour of the SHU and suicide watch areas by the US Attorney and his staff Thursday, August 15. I will try to arrange it for 10 am, but we may be subject to the US Attorney's schedule. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thank you,
Adam

If it is not too much of an imposition, we ask that all visitors come to our front lobby for screening before admission. Thanks!
